Programming Andrew Black, 2005-08-25 The 19th Annual Meeting of the European Conference on Object Oriented Programming ECOOP 2005 took place during the last week of July in Glasgow Scotland UK This volume includes the refereed technical papers presented at the conference and two invited papers It is traditional to preface a volume of proceedings such as this with a note that emphasizes the importance of the conference in its respective field Although such self evaluations should always be taken with a large grain of salt ECOOP is undisputedly the preminent conference on object orientation outside of the United States In its turn object orientation is today's principal technology not only for programming but also for design analysis and specification of software systems. As a consequence ECOOP has expanded far beyond its roots in programming to encompass all of these areas of research which is why ECOOP has remained such an interesting conference. But ECOOP is more than an interesting conference. It is the nucleus of a technical and academic community, a community whose goals are the creation and dissemination of new knowledge. Chance meetings at ECOOP have helped to spawn collaborations that span the boundaries of our many subdisciplines, bring together researchers and practitioners, cross cultures and reach from one side of the world to the other. The ubiquity of fast electronic communication has made maintaining these collaborations easier than we would have believed possible only a dozen years ago. But the role of conferences like ECOOP in establishing collaborations has not diminished.

Elisa Bertino, 2000-05-31 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 14th European Conference on Object Oriented programming ECOOP 2000 held in Sophia Antipolis and Cannes France in June 2000. The book also contains a CD ROM providing digitized versions of all previous ECOOP conference proceedings and related indices. The 20 revised full papers presented in the book together with 3 invited papers were carefully reviewed and selected from a total of 109 submissions. The book is divided into topical sections on UML type theory, object relations, cooperation and distribution, Java run time optimization and tools.

ECOOP 2004 - Object-Oriented Programming Martin Odersky, 2004-11-24 ECOOP is the premier forum in Europe for bringing together practitioners, researchers and students to share their ideas and experiences in a broad range of disciplines woven with the common thread of object technology. It is a collage of events including outstanding invited speakers, carefully refereed technical papers, practitioner reports reflecting real world experience, panels, topic focused workshops, demonstrations and an interactive posters session. The 18th ECOOP 2004 conference held during June 14-18 2004 in Oslo Norway represented another year of continued success in object oriented programming both as a topic of academic study and as a vehicle for industrial software development. Object oriented technology has come of age; it is now the commonly established method for most software projects. However, an expanding field of applications and new technological challenges provide a strong demand for research in foundations, design and programming methods as well as implementation techniques. There is also an increasing interest in the integration of object orientation with other software development techniques. We anticipate therefore that object oriented programming will be a fruitful subject of research for many years to come. This year the program committee received 132 submissions of which 25 were accepted for publication after a thorough reviewing process. Every paper received at least 4 reviews. Papers were evaluated based on relevance, significance, clarity, originality and correctness. The topics covered include programming concepts, program analysis, software engineering aspects and components, middleware, verification systems and implementation techniques. These were complemented by two invited talks from Matthias Felleisen and Tom Henzinger. Their titles and abstracts are also included in these proceedings.

Nierstrasz,2003-05-16 It is now more than twenty five years since object oriented programming was invented actually more than thirty years since work on Simula started but by all accounts it would appear as if object oriented technology has only been discovered in the past ten years. When the first European Conference on Object Oriented Programming was held in Paris in 1987 I think it was generally assumed that Object Oriented Programming like Structured Programming would quickly enter the vernacular and that a conference on the subject would rapidly become superfluous. On the contrary the range and impact of object oriented approaches and methods continues to expand and in spite of the inevitable oversell and hype object oriented technology has reached a level of scientific maturity that few could have foreseen ten years ago. Object oriented technology also cuts across scientific cultural boundaries like perhaps no other field of computer science as object oriented concepts can be applied to virtually all the other areas and affect virtually all aspects of the software life cycle. So in retrospect emphasizing just Programming in the name of the conference was perhaps somewhat short sighted but at least the acronym is pronounceable and easy to remember. This year's ECOOP attracted 146 submissions from around the world making the selection process even tougher than usual. The selected papers range in topic from programming language and database issues to analysis and design and reuse and from experience reports to theoretical contributions.
