valuable way of presenting information within the book and purposely sought It is hoped that exposure to individual chapters within the book will encourage readers to consider issues and problems from perspectives other than the ones with which they are familiar and perhaps comfortable The reader is then responsible for the consideration adoption or challenge to the content of any chapter During the process of exploration of content reference should always be made to its potential place within clinical practice and its influence upon the delivery of patient and family care Although it is acknowledged that each A and E department is different and that the environment and local resources affect the translation of theory into practice questioning and subsequent challenge of the environment work issues and ideas should help the reader to widen the debate about nursing in A and E and its anticipated growth into the next century The intended outcome of such analysis by the reader may be to challenge practice Alternatively information presented within the book may support or enhance work currently being undertaken within a number of A and E departments With reference to the format the book is not intended to be read from cover to cover Instead the reader will find the book a valuable source of information that can be dipped into when required a book where the sampling of arguments put forward by various contributors can be considered

Geriatric Emergency Medicine Joseph H. Kahn, Brendan G. Magauran, Jr, Jonathan S. Olshaker, 2014-01-16

As the global geriatric population continues to grow an increasing proportion of people reporting to emergency departments are elderly The work up of these patients uses more time and resources than that of younger patients and is complicated by the fact that acute disease often presents more subtly without the outward manifestations typically seen in younger patients This volume focuses on the unique pathophysiology of the elderly presenting guidelines for resuscitation evaluation and management The first section discusses general principles including demographics pharmacology and pain management The following sections cover high risk chief presenting complaints and review geriatric emergencies Finally topics of particular relevance in the geriatric population are discussed including functional assessment end of life care financial considerations and abuse This book provides a comprehensive practical framework for community and academic emergency medicine practitioners as well as emergency department administrators striving to improve delivery of care to this vulnerable growing population
