Emerging Visions of the Aesthetic Process Gerald C. Cupchik, Janos László, 1992-09-25 Emerging Visions of the Aesthetic Process explores the processes underlying aesthetics and play from the perspectives of psychologists philosophers and semiologists It reveals the different ways in which scholars think about the following questions 1 What is the origin of the creative process 2 How do biological social and cognitive processes shape the activities of artists and the responses of viewers 3 How does literary activity draw on our experiences of everyday life and how is it tied to other kinds of media 4 How does play affect the process of growth from childhood to adulthood The contributors consider artistic literary and play activity from its most biological roots through individual cognitive and emotional processing to its expression at the social level Emerging Visions of the Aesthetic Process offers a stimulating basis for the discussion of aesthetic processes and will serve as an integrative comprehensive treatise on the topic for researchers and students Behavioral and

Toward an Aesthetics of Blindness David Feeney,2007 Blindness has always fascinated those who can see Although modern imaginative portrayals of the sightless experience are increasingly positive the affirmative elements of these renderings are inevitably tempered and problematized by the visual predilections of the artists undertaking them This book explores a variety of the dis continuities between depictions of the sightless experience of beauty by sighted artists and the lived aesthetic experiences of blind people It does so by pressing a radical interdisciplinary reinterpretation of celebrated dramatic portrayals of blindness into service as a tool with which to probe the boundaries of the capacities of the sighted imagination while exploring the sensory detriment of our visually fixated notions of beauty Works by J M Synge W B Yeats and Brian Friel are explored as a means of crafting a workable and innovative medium of theoretical and experiential exchange between the disciplines of literature aesthetics and disability studies In addition to appraising previously unexamined aspects of the work of three of Ireland's most celebrated modern dramatists this book considers the consequences for blind people of the exclusionary and prohibitive elements of traditional aesthetic theory and art education The insights yielded will be of value to those with an interest in modern literature differential aesthetics visual culture perception and the experience of blindness

Evolutionary and Neurocognitive Approaches to Aesthetics, Creativity and the Arts Colin Martindale, Paul Locher, Vladimir Petrov, Arnold Berleant, 2019-06-04 In this book well known scholars describe new and exciting approaches to aesthetics creativity and psychology of the arts approaching these topics from a point of view that is biological or related to biology and answering new questions with new methods and theories All known societies produce and enjoy arts such as literature music and visual decoration or depiction Judging from prehistoric archaeological evidence this arose very early in human development Furthermore Darwin was explicit in attributing aesthetic sensitivity to lower animals These considerations lead us to wonder whether the arts might not be evolutionarily based Although such an evolutionary basis is not obvious on the face of it the idea has recently elicited considerable attention The book begins with a consideration of ten theories on the evolutionary function of specific arts such as music and literature The theory of evolution was first drawn up in biology but evolution is not confined to biology genuinely evolutionary theories of sociocultural change can be formulated That they need to be formulated is shown in several chapters that discuss regular trends in literature and scientific writings Psychologists have recently rediscovered the obvious fact that thought and perception occur in the brain so cognitive science moves ever closer to neuroscience Several chapters give overviews of neurocognitive and neural network approaches to creativity and aesthetic appreciation The book concludes with two exciting describing brain scan research on what happens in the brain during creativity and presenting a close examination of the relationship between genetically transmitted mental disorder and creativity

Art and Identity Tone Roald, Johannes Lang, 2013 Art has the capacity to shape and alter our identities It can influence who and what we are Those who have had aesthetic experiences know this intimately and yet the study of art's impact on the mind struggles to be recognized as a centrally important field within the discipline of psychology The main thesis of Art and Identity is that aesthetic experience represents a prototype for meaningful experience warranting intense philosophical and psychological investigation Currently psychology remains too closed off from the rich reflection of philosophical aesthetics while philosophy continues to be sceptical of the psychological reduction of art to its potential for Subjective experience At the same time philosophical aesthetics cannot escape making certain assumptions about the psyche and benefits from entering into a dialogue with psychology Art and Identity brings together philosophical and psychological perspectives on aesthetics in order to explore how art creates minds

Aesthetic Science Arthur P. Shimamura, Stephen E. Palmer, 2011-09-08 What do we do when we view a work of art What does it mean to have an aesthetic experience Are such experiences purely in the eye and brain of the beholder Such questions have entertained philosophers for millennia and psychologists for over a century More recently with the advent of functional neuroimaging methods a handful of ambitious brain scientists have begun to explore the neural correlates of such experiences This book offers an introduction to the way art is perceived interpreted and felt and approaches these mindful events from a multidisciplinary perspective How Art Works Ellen Winner,2019 How Art Works explores puzzles that have preoccupied philosophers as well as the general public Can art be defined How do we decide what is good art Why do we gravitate to sadness in art Why do we devalue a perfect fake Could my kid have done that Does reading fiction enhance empathy Drawing on careful observations probing interviews and clever experiments Ellen Winner reveals surprising answers to these and other artistic mysteries We may come away with a new understanding of how art works on us Jacket Neuropsychology of Art Dahlia W. Zaidel,2013-04-15 The significance of art in human existence has long been a source of puzzlement fascination and mystery In Neuropsychology of Art Dahlia W Zaidel explores the brain regions and neuronal systems that support artistic creativity talent and appreciation Both the visual and musical arts are discussed against a neurological background Evidence from the latest relevant brain research is presented and critically examined in an attempt to clarify the brain art relationship language processing and visuo spatial perception The consequences of perceptual problems in famous artists along with data from autistic savants and established artists with brain damage as a result of unilateral stroke dementia or other neurological conditions are brought into consideration and the effects of damage to specific regions of the brain explored A major compilation of rare cases of artists with brain damage is provided and the cognitive abilities required for the neuropsychology of art reviewed This book draws on interdisciplinary principles from the biology of art brain evolution anthropology and the cinema through to the question of beauty language perception and hemispheric specialization It will be of interest to advanced students in neuro psychology neuroscience and neurology to clinicians and all researchers and scholars interested in the workings of the human brain Toward A Psychology of Persons William E. Smythe,2013-05-13 This closely integrated collection of essays constitutes a wide ranging and comprehensive attempt to understand persons within psychology a long lost enterprise The volume was inspired by the observation that contemporary psychology has become increasingly depersonalized in its conceptions and its methodology and has thereby lost touch with its traditional subject matter of human individuality and the nature of persons This development now threatens the integrity of psychology as a discipline Using both a critical and constructive approach the various contributors share two common objectives to explore the roots of depersonalization in modern psychology through systematic criticism of contemporary functionalist and neo functionalist approaches to articulate some alternative holistic interpretive and historical approaches to the psychology of persons Despite these common objectives the chapters reflect a wide variety of theoretical perspectives and approaches including cognitive science and neuroscience discursive psychology hermeneutics social constructionism semiotics rhetorical analysis and psychological aesthetics These essays do not converge on a unified psychology of persons but they do serve to reopen a form of discourse that has long been absent from mainstream psychology This volume emerged from the deliberations of the Western Canadian Theoretical Psychologists WCTP a group of scholars primarily from Western Canadian universities with shared interests in the history and theory of psychology From its founding in 1989 to the present the WCTP has been actively engaged in promoting and contributing to the development of theoretical psychology Over the past half dozen years scholars have greatly benefitted from the close collaboration and collegial support that participation in the WCTP makes possible The annual meetings provide an opportunity for them to catch up on each other's work and also to pool their expertise to work on topics of shared interest

Doicaru, 2017-11-15 Narrative Absorption brings together research from the social sciences and Humanities to solve a number of mysteries Most of us will have had those moments of being totally absorbed in a book a movie or computer game Typically we do not have any idea about how we ended up in such a state Nor do we fully realize how we might have changed as we return for the fictional worlds we have visited The feeling of being absorbed is one of the most illusive and transient feelings but also one that motivates audiences to spend considerable amounts of time in narrative worlds and one that is central to our understanding of the effects of narratives on beliefs and behavior Key specialists inform the reader of this book about the nature of the peculiar state of consciousness during episodes of absorption the perception of absorption in history the role of absorption in meaningful experiences with narratives the relation with related phenomena such as suspense and identification issues of measurement and the practical implications for instance in education entertainment Various fields have worked separately on topics of absorption albeit using different terminology and methods but having reached a high level of development and complexity in understanding absorption Now is the time to bring them together This volume will be a point of reference for years to come
