The Virtual Campus M.F. Verdejo, Gordon Davies, 2013-04-17 The virtual campus Trends for higher education and training was the theme of the IFIP Working Conference on which this book is based It was a joint event of Working Groups 3.3 and 3.6 Research and distance Education respectively of IFIP Technical Committee 3 for Education International dissemination and promotion of cooperation are IFIP aims that we particularly wanted to address This is why we opened the event to non WG members and have established a virtual forum on the WEB that has been widely visited The programme for the 27 to 29 November 97 in Madrid included invited speakers from leading institutions in the field reviewed and selected contributions from an open call for papers on site demonstrations of large European projects and discussion sessions involving distant and present participants The event attracted experts from 23 countries About a hundred persons were involved from all over the world The spread and accessibility of information and communication technologies are rapidly changing practices in learning and research activities both in professional and academic settings The number variety and scale of experiences reported in recent publications shows a growing international involvement concerning not only small groups of researchers but also institutions fully committed in that direction

Mentoring in Education Cedric Cullingford, 2016-04-22 Mentoring has become a hot topic in a number of professional spheres in recent years but its most important and longest established location is in education However this volume is the first wide ranging academic critique of the concept and its application Offering both a critical and a practical stance the authors examine the historical and cultural aspects of mentoring and the motivations behind it They also explore the effects on the individuals involved and on the system and examine the different approaches to the idea and implementation of mentoring Drawing contributions from Europe the USA and the Middle East this work considers a wide range of empirical studies of mentoring from those countries that have invested in it including case studies and analyses of current practice The book makes a major contribution not only on account of the international perspective it provides but also through analysis of cases in order to establish the difference between the much vaunted theoretical advantages promoted by policy makers and the everyday realities and complexities that arise in a scheme entirely dependent on personal relationships

Higher Education in the Era of the Fourth Industrial Revolution Nancy W. The Digital Hand, Vol 3 James W. Cortada, 2008 In The third volume of The Digital Hand James W Cortada completes his sweeping survey of the effect of computers on American industry turning finally to the public sector and examining how computers have fundamentally changed the nature of work in government and education This book goes far beyond generalizations about the Information Age to the specifics of how industries have functioned now function and will function in the years to come Cortada combines detailed analysis with narrative history to provide a broad overview of computing and telecommunications role in the entire public sector including federal state and local governments and in K 12 and higher education Beginning in 1950 when commercial applications of digital technology began to appear Cortada examines the unique ways different public sector industries adopted new technologies showcasing the manner in which their innovative applications influenced other industries as well as the U S economy as a whole He builds on the surveys presented in the first volume of the series which examined sixteen manufacturing process transportation wholesale and retail industries and the second volume which examined over a dozen financial telecommunications media and entertainment industries With this third volume The Digital Hand trilogy is complete and forms the most comprehensive and rigorously researched history of computing in business since 1950 providing a detailed picture of what the infrastructure of the Information Age really looks like and how we got there Managers historians economists and those working in the public sector will appreciate Cortada's analysis of digital technology's many roles and future possibilities The ^ADigital Hand, Vol 3 James W. Cortada,2007-11-06 The third volume of The Digital Hand describes how computers were used in all of the American public sector industries over the past half century in order to determine what were the critical uses of computing technologies how these technologies came into these industries and how they were changed by it Cortada claims that computing profoundly changed the nature of work in these public sector industries creating the bedrock of the Information Age The New Media Theory Reader Hassan, Robert,Thomas, Julian,2006-09-01 The study of new media opens up some of the most fascinating issues in contemporary culture bringing together key readings on new media what it is where it came from how it affects our lives and how it is managed It encourages readers to pay attention to the new in new media as well as consider it as a historical phenomenon

International Handbook of Virtual Learning Environments Joel Weiss,Jason Nolan,Jeremy Hunsinger,Peter Trifonas,2007-11-24 Three issues are explored and used as organizers for The International Handbook of Virtual Learning Environments First a distinction is made between virtual learning and learning virtually Second since the focus is on learning an educational framework is developed as a means of bringing coherence to the available literature Third learning is defined broadly as a process of knowledge creation for transforming experience to reflect different facets of the curriculum of life The Handbook is divided into four sections Foundations of Virtual Learning Environments Schooling Professional Learning and Knowledge Management Out of School Learning Environments and Challenges for Virtual Learning Environments A variety of chapters representing different academic and professional fields are included These chapters cover topics ranging from philosophical perspectives historical sociological political and educational analyses case studies from practical and research settings as well as several provocative classics originally published in other settings The Social Life of Information John Seely Brown,Paul Duguid,2017-02-21 Understand the human place in a digital world Should be read by anyone interested in understanding the future The Times Literary Supplement raved about the original edition of The Social Life of Information We're now living in that future and one of the seminal books of the Internet Age is more relevant than ever The future was a place where technology was supposed to empower individuals and obliterate social organizations Pundits predicted that information technology would spell the end of almost everything from mass media to bureaucracies universities politics and governments Clearly we are not living in that future The Social Life of Information explains why John Seely Brown and Paul Duguid show us how to look beyond mere information to the social context that creates and gives meaning to it Arguing elegantly for the important role that human sociability plays even perhaps especially in the digital world The Social Life of Information gives us an optimistic look beyond the simplicities of information and individuals It shows how a better understanding of the contribution that communities organizations and institutions make to learning working and innovating can lead to the richest possible use of technology in our work and everyday lives With a new introduction by David Weinberger and reflections by the authors on developments since the book s first publication this new edition is essential reading for anyone seeking to understand the human place in a digital world Beyond the Online Course Anthony A. Pina,Jason B. Huett,2016-05-01 Beyond the Online Course Leadership Perspectives on e Learning addresses a need for the growing body of professionals who are called upon to lead the online distance learning efforts at their various organizations It will also be of interest to those wishing to prepare for leadership positions or who are engaged in research and study of issues beyond the online course The book brings together scholarly and practice based writings from the pages of the Quarterly Review of Distance Education and Distance Learning for Educators Trainers and Leaders

Digital Library Use Ann Peterson-Kemp,Nancy A. Van House,Barbara P. Battenfield,2003-10-10 Viewing digital libraries as sociotechnical systems networks of people and technology interacting with society The contributors to this volume view digital libraries DLs from a social as well as technological perspective They see DLs as sociotechnical systems networks of technology information artifacts and people and practices interacting with the larger world of work and society As Bruce Schatz observes in his foreword for a digital library to be useful the users the documents and the information system must be in harmony The contributors begin by asking how we evaluate DLs how we can understand them in order to build better DLs but they move beyond these basic concerns to explore how DLs make a difference in people s lives and their social worlds and what studying DLs might tell us about information knowledge and social and cognitive processes The chapters using both empirical and analytical methods examine the social impact of DLs and also the web of social and material relations in which DLs are embedded these far ranging social worlds include such disparate groups as community activists environmental researchers middle school children and computer system designers Topics Documents and society the real boundaries of a library without walls the ecologies of digital libraries usability and evaluation information and institutional change transparency as a product of the convergence of social practices and information artifacts and collaborative knowledge construction in digital libraries Educause Leadership Strategies, Partnership in the Learning
