Emmenologia In Qua Fluxus Muliebris:

The French Invention of Menopause and the Medicalisation of Women's Ageing Alison M. Downham Moore, 2022-10-06
Doctors writing about menopause in France vastly outnumbered those in other cultures throughout the entire nineteenth century. The concept of menopause was invented by French male medical students in the aftermath of the French Revolution becoming an important pedagogic topic and a common theme of doctors' professional identities in postrevolutionary biomedicine. Older women were identified as an important patient cohort for the expanding medicalisation of French society and were advised to entrust themselves to the hygienic care of doctors in managing the whole era of life from around and after the final cessation of menses. However, menopause owed much of its conceptual weft to earlier themes of women as the sicker sex of vitalist crisis of the vapours and of astrological climacteric years. This is the first comprehensive study of the origins of the medical concept of menopause, richly contextualising its role in nineteenth-century French medicine and revealing the complex threads of meaning that informed its invention. It tells a complex story of how women's ageing featured in the demographic revolution in modern science, in the denigration of folk medicine in the unique French field of hygiene and in the fixation on women in the emergence of modern psychiatry. It reveals the nineteenth-century French origins of the still current medical and alternative health approaches to women's ageing as something to be managed through gynaecological surgery, hormonal replacement, and lifestyle intervention. Drugs on Trial Andreas-Holger Maehle, 2016-08-29

Experimental pharmacology is often portrayed as a creation of the nineteenth century, the age of the sciences in medicine. This book demonstrates that the basic methodology of the field, including chemical analysis, in vitro testing, animal experimentation, and human research, was already developed in the course of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. Putting remedies on trial was stimulated by the challenge to Galenism through new chemical, mechanical, and vitalist concepts of disease by the import of exotic drugs and the flourishing trade with secret medicines. The book describes the main issues of eighteenth-century pharmacology and therapeutics and provides detailed case studies of three key areas: lithontriptics, remedies against urinary stones, opium, and Peruvian bark, quinine. It shows how pharmacological knowledge and therapeutic change were promoted in medical centres of the time, such as Edinburgh, London, Paris, Halle, and Göttingen. Yet it also reveals how, by publication of medical case histories, many otherwise little-known practitioners contributed to this scientific enterprise as well. The General Biographical Dictionary Alexander Chalmers, 1814 A catalogue of the books belonging to the Library company of Philadelphia Library company of Philadelphia, 1835 A treatise of the asthma [by J.
