Aristotle and Xunzi on Shame, Moral Education, and the Good Life Jingyi Jenny Zhao, 2024 Despite recent developments in the history of emotions and in comparative studies sustained cross cultural comparative studies of the emotions remain few and far between Jingyi Jenny Zhao has produced the first major work that takes two philosophers from the ancient Greek and early Chinese traditions to stimulate discussion of an interdisciplinary nature on the rich and complex topic of the emotions in particular of shame It features comparative analysis of Greek and Chinese texts while bringing the ancient materials to bear on modern controversies such as the role of shame in moral education and social cohesion Although unlike in their social historical and intellectual backgrounds Aristotle and Xunzi bear striking similarities in several respects they both conceptualize humans as essentially members of communities as having a unique set of characteristics that set them apart from other living things and as beings in need of moral training to fulfil their potential and become integrated into a well ordered society The two philosophers discourses on shame reveal important insights into their ideals of human nature moral education and the good life This book tackles directly the methodological problems that are relevant to anyone interested in cross cultural comparisons and organizes discussions of the ancient sources to facilitate a thorough integration of perspectives from the cultural traditions concerned This approach provides sufficient focus to allow for detailed textual analysis while giving scope for making constant connections to the broader comparative questions at issue

The End of Morality Richard Garner, Richard Joyce, 2018-12-18 According to the moral error theorist all moral judgments are mistaken The world just doesn't contain the properties and relations necessary for these judgments to be true But what should we actually do if we decided that we are in this radical and unsettling predicament that morality is just a widespread and heartfelt illusion One suggestion is to eliminate all talk and thought of morality abolitionism Another is to carry on believing it anyway conservatism And yet another is to treat morality as a kind of convenient fiction fictionalism We tend to think of moral thinking as valuable and useful e.g. for motivating cooperative behavior but we can also recognize that it can be harmful e.g. hindering compromise and even disastrous e.g. inspiring support for militaristic propaganda Would we be better off or worse off if we stopped basing decisions on moral considerations This is a collection of twelve brand new chapters focused on a critical examination of the options available to the moral error theorist After a general introduction outlining the topic explaining key terminology and offering suggestions for further reading the chapters address questions like Is it true that the more that people are motivated by moral concerns the more likely it is that society will be elitist authoritarian and dishonest Is an appeal to moral values a useful tool for helping resolve conflicts or does it actually exacerbate conflicts Would it even be possible to abolish morality from our thinking If we were to accept a moral error theory would it be feasible to carry on believing in morality in everyday contexts Might moral discourse be usefully modeled on familiar metaphorical language where we can convey useful and important truths by uttering falsehoods Does moral thinking support or undermine a commitment to feminist goals What role do moral judgments play in addressing important decisions affecting climate change The End of Morality Taking Moral Abolitionism Seriously is the first book to thoroughly address these and other questions systematically investigating the harms and benefits of moral thought and considering what the world might be like without morality Exploring Text and Emotions Patrizia Lombardo,Lars Sætre,Julien

Zanetta,2014-02-21 Exploring Text and Emotions investigates the functions values and effects of emotions in literature and the arts fostering the affective turn in textual theory and analysis Fifteen essays on various art works analyse how modern fiction drama theatre poetry and film as well as Greek tragedy succeed in both expressing and suggesting a vast and nuanced array of emotions while provoking affective responses in readers and spectators The volume focuses on the exemplary way in which literature and the arts act upon our minds and have a strong impact on our understanding of aesthetic political and moral values challenging shaping and transforming culture The volume also intends to show how seminal writers and works have anticipated contemporary theories of emotions and can contribute to their growth Linking formal aesthetic and cultural studies approaches and combining the latest developments in the affective sciences with the close reading of texts the volume puts forward a new direction for the study of literature arts media and culture Reality, Religion, and Passion

Jessica Frazier,2009-01-01 Radical doubt about the truths that govern life has posed a problem for thinkers in many different cultures and periods This study uncovers the solutions offered by a postmodern Western thinker Hans Georg Gadamer and an early modern Indian thinker Rupa Gosvami each of whom offers a renewed postskeptical vision of a revitalized life that is firmly rooted in the transcendental truths of reality Rereading the Stone Anthony C. Yu,2018-06-05 The eighteenth century Honglougong known in English as Dream of the Red Chamber or The Story of the Stone is generally considered to be the greatest of Chinese novels one that masterfully blends realism and romance psychological motivation and fate daily life and mythical occurrences as it narrates the decline of a powerful Chinese family In this path breaking study Anthony Yu goes beyond the customary view of Honglougong as a vivid reflection of late imperial Chinese culture by examining the novel as a story about fictive representation Through a maze of literary devices the novel challenges the authority of history as well as referential biases in reading At the heart of Honglougong Yu argues is the narration of desire Desire appears in this tale as the defining trait and problem of human beings and at the same time shapes the novel's literary invention and effect According to Yu this focalizing treatment of desire may well be Honglougong's most distinctive accomplishment Through close readings of selected episodes Yu analyzes principal motifs of the narrative such as dream mirror literature religious enlightenment and rhetorical reflexivity in relation to fictive representation He contextualizes his discussions with a comprehensive genealogy of qing desire disposition sentiment feeling a concept of fundamental importance in historical

Chinese culture and shows how the text ingeniously exploits its multiple meanings Spanning a wide range of comparative literary sources Yu creates a new conceptual framework in which to reevaluate this masterpiece Handbook of Emotions Lisa Feldman Barrett, Michael Lewis, Jeannette M. fascinated by music and emotion Rethinking Philosophers' Responsibility Lydia Amir, 2017-11-06 Calling on philosophers as the custodians of rationality to reconsider their responsibility toward their communities and the state of civilization at large this book considers philosophy to be a practical discipline Largely foreign to philosophers and non philosophers alike this conception of philosophy discloses the relevance of its unique contributions to contemporary society The book offers a compelling and accessible analysis of philosophy also in relation to religion psychology the New Age Movement and globalization and exemplifies through a wide range of current problems how philosophers can fulfil their responsibility Its argument that responsibility lies where one is capable of doing what is needed and even more so when no one else can do it targets philosophers However its innovative study of contemporary philosophy coupled with its original contributions to the problems at hand will engage academics and students from other disciplines as well as a general readership Emotions in Crosslinguistic Perspective Jean Harkins, Anna Wierzbicka, 2010-12-14 This volume aims to enrich the current interdisciplinary theoretical discussion of human emotions by presenting studies based on extensive linguistic data from a wide range of languages of the world Each language specific study gives detailed semantic descriptions of the meanings of culturally salient emotion words and expressions offering fascinating insights into people's emotional lives in diverse cultures including Amharic Chinese German Japanese Lao Malay Mbula Polish and Russian The book is unique in its emphasis on empirical language data analyzed in a framework free of ethnocentrism and not dependent upon English emotion terms but relying instead on independently established conceptual universals Students of languages and cultures psychology and cognition will find this volume a rich resource of description and analysis of emotional meanings in cultural context Love and Emotions in Traditional Chinese Literature Halvor Eifring, 2021-09-13 Do all cultures and historical periods have a concept corresponding to the English word emotion This collection of essays is concerned with the closest candidate within the Chinese language namely the term qing What is the meaning of this term in different periods and genres What are the types of discourse in which it is typically found This volume contains two essays on the notion of qing in classical sources two on Chan Buddhist usage and two on fiction and drama from the Ming and Qing dynasties An introductory essay discusses the complex historical development of the term Together the essays may be read as a first step towards a conceptual history of one of the key terms in traditional Chinese culture Confucian Pragmatism as the Art of Contextualizing Personal Experience and World Haiming Wen, 2009-04-16 This engaging work of comparative philosophy brings together American pragmatism and Chinese philosophy in a way that generates new interpretations of Chinese philosophy and a fresh perspective on issues in process philosophy Through an analysis of key terms Haiming Wen argues that Chinese philosophical terminology is not simply a retrospective language that through a process of stipulation promises us knowledge of an existing world but is also an open prospective vocabulary that through productive associations allows philosophers to realize a desired world Relying on this productive power of Chinese terminology Wen introduces a new term Confucian pragmatism Wen convincingly shows that although there is much that distinguishes American pragmatism from Confucian philosophy there is enough conceptual overlap to make Confucian pragmatism a viable and exciting field of study

Zhuangzi's Critique of the Confucians Kim-chong Chong, 2016-10-24 The Daoist Zhuangzi has often been read as a mystical philosopher But there is another tradition beginning with the Han dynasty historian Sima Qian which sees him as a critic of the Confucians Kim chong Chong analyzes the Inner Chapters of the Zhuangzi demonstrating how Zhuangzi criticized the pre Qin Confucians through metaphorical inversion and parody This is indicated by the subtitle Blinded by the Human which is an inversion of the Confucian philosopher Xunzi s remark that Zhuangzi was blinded by heaven and did not know the human Chong compares Zhuangzi s Daoist thought to Confucianism as exemplified by Confucius Mencius and Xunzi By analyzing and comparing the different implications of concepts such as heaven heart mind and transformation Chong shows how Zhuangzi can be said to provide the resources for a more pluralistic and liberal philosophy than the Confucians
