Callaghy, Ronald Kassimir, Robert Latham, 2001-12-20 As the idea of globalization emerges as a key concept in social sciences in the twenty first century understanding how external forces and phenomena shape the politics of nation states and communities is imperative This 2001 volume calls attention to transboundary formations intersections of cross border national and local forces that produce destroy or transform local order and political authority significantly impacting on ordinary people's lives It analyzes the intervention of external forces in political life both deepening and broadening the concept of international intervention and the complex contexts within which it unfolds While transboundary formations can emerge anywhere they have a particular salience in sub Saharan Africa where the limits to state power make them especially pervasive and consequential Including conceptual contributions and theoretically informed case studies the volume considers global local connections taking a fresh perspective on contemporary Africa's political constraints and possibilities with important implications for other parts of the world Monthly Labor Review United States. Bureau of Labor Statistics, 1976 Publishes in depth articles on labor subjects current labor statistics information about current labor contracts and book reviews Critical Issues in South African Education Charl C. Wolhuter, 2020-12-31 The main thesis of this book is that given that South African education faces major challenges the BRICS Brazil Russia India China and South Africa constellation of states offers thus far overlooked a valuable tertium comparationis a source of international comparative perspectives to inform the domestic scholarly discourse on education This book first investigates the national contexts and development of education in the BRICS countries arguing that this grouping represents a valuable but yet overlooked field for illuminating South African education issues with international perspectives The book consists of chapters arguing for and illustrating this thesis from a variety of angles Common to all chapters is that authors used the comparative method in education that is comparing the national education system in their education societal context interrelationships of the BRICS countries The chapters focus on a number of critical issues in South African education including the language of learning and teaching issue the alignment of the world of education with the world of work early childhood education and the development of world class universities Regarding the last for example China has been the terrain of the most intensive national projects of establishing world class universities with Project 985 Project 211 and the Double First Class University project The chapters demonstrate what South Africa in approaching her education issues can learn from the experience of the BRICS countries

Economic Planning and Social Justice in Developing Countries Ozay Mehmet, 2014-05-12 First published in 1978 this book was written at a time when belief was high in Western guided economic development of the emerging countries The success of Marshall Plan in war torn Europe generated a US led optimism that with generous inflows of aid and technical assistance the Third World could be won over in the Cold War The author's direct experience as a young academic economist in Cyprus Malaysia Uganda and Liberia led him to question this general optimism the reality on the ground in the developing world did not seem to match Western optimism Theories and blueprints made in the West did not fit the requirements of developing countries Higher production and better income distribution were inseparable twin objectives of developing nations That meant production of a higher national output must at the same time promote social justice Investment must create adequate jobs so that new entrants into rapidly expanding labor force could be gainfully employed Yet the dominant Western theories of development at the time in particular the Trickle Down Theory of Growth prescribed Growth First Distribution Later strategy Similarly Import Substitution Industrialization theories were emphasized at the expense of export led growth Dualistic Growth theories preached urban biased anti rural development This book was written as a rebuttal of such faulty theorizing and misguided professional technical assistance and the book's message is no less valid today than in the 1970s

Industrialization in West Africa J O C Onyemelukwe, 2024-05-01 First published in 1984 Industrialization in West Africa is an authoritative text on the industrial development efforts spatial characteristics and related problems of countries comprising the West African region The book commences with a detailed description of the political and economic background against which the slow and unsteady pace of industrialization in each country can be appreciated The analysis outlines the resource potential and historical evolution and structural characteristics of modern manufacturing in the region The final section assesses the spatial characteristics of West African industrialization the major problems inhibiting industrial development and frustrating efforts towards economic independence by each country In conclusion the author considers remedial policy options open to West African countries both individually and in a common market framework This book is a valuable source material for all students of social science geography economics and regional planning

Unemployment in Africa Joe U. Umo,2024-07-17 Escaping Poverty and Unemployment in Africa A Flagship Strategy calls out unemployment as a major cause of poverty and sees both of them as twins representing two sides of the same bad coin After several years of failures in addressing the twin crises with stand alone policies and programs in Nigeria and other African countries the book proposes an innovative strategy aimed at addressing mass unemployment and mass poverty simultaneously Inspired by the author s field experience as one of the key actors in the successful implementation of the UNDP ILO sponsored Jobs for Africa JFA program in over ten African countries between 1998 and 2001 the book presents an alternative framework from the failed extant approaches for tackling the stubborn crises of unemployment and poverty in the continent The proposed Flagship Strategy is a cocktail of three key policy elements namely 1 putting in place a maximum employment driven macroeconomic economic stability 2 mobilizing and empowering ready to engage transformational entrepreneurs for leading investment projects programs to ensure success and sustainability and 3 undertaking massive investment for poverty reducing employment IPRE projects in all the key sectors of the economy Given Nigeria s exceptionalism in Africa s poverty profile the application of the Flagship Strategy has been illustrated for over eight key sectors of this nation s economy This presents a model for possible replication across other African countries The empirical validation in the application of the three elements of the Flagship Strategy along with the successful experience of emerging industrializing countries of South Korea Singapore and China etc in achieving massive reductions in poverty and unemployment using the elements of the strategy commends its application to African and other developing countries facing the twin challenges The book is intended to serve generally as an informative read for all who are interested in escaping poverty and unemployment either by themselves or for the people they care about It has also in particular offered fresh strategic insights to scholars and students of development working on African poverty and unemployment challenges It can furthermore easily serve as a policy blueprint manual for policymakers and or politicians with genuine interests in finding quick and sustainable solutions to Africa's daunting and existential poverty and unemployment challenges Female and Male in West Africa Christine Oppong, 2023-03-31 In the 1970s and early 1980s there was a lack of contemporary readily available studies of the informal relationships between the sexes their day to day activities and expectations and how these were altering especially in contexts in which there were radical demographic political and economic changes taking place Originally published in 1983 this volume documents the complexities and subtleties of the modes of interaction between women and men in one region of Africa It seeks to provide insights and understanding of changing social contexts and relationships based upon ethnographic field work carried out in the previous decade There are five sections The first is comparative presenting and analysing statistical data from the countries of the region including demographic profiles of fertility migration mortality as well as census and survey evidence on work patterns and education It provides the broad framework within which the individual case studies are located The theme of the first set of case studies is the traditional separation and interconnectedness apparent in the worlds of women and men in several culture areas in the spheres of arts and crafts music political roles language symbolism ritual domestic organization and resources and sexuality The second set focuses on the theme of domestic cooperation and conflict in production and consumption in particular the conflicting claims and expectations of men and women as spouses and kin The third set of essays is concerned with the relative resources and opportunities of females and males in schools and employment contexts in sexual encounters and in national community and domestic decision making processes The subjects of the final section include individualism autonomy and dependence of the members of one sex upon the other The increased individualism resulting from migration and the scattering of kin and the breakdown of cooperative work patterns between spouses and relatives is seen as leading to instances of both increased dependence on the one hand especially of women on men and increased opportunities for economic autonomy on the other The case studies span a wide range of socio economic conditions including studies of farmers traders fishermen and fishmongers factory and office workers the relatively rich and the relatively poor from many different ethnic groups and six countries The book was expected to be of interest to a wide range of readers in social science disciplines as well as to planners and administrators It should still prove to be particularly relevant to the needs of university students in the fields of women's studies African studies Black studies sex roles family relations sociology and anthropology Shadows of War Carolyn Nordstrom, 2004-05-17 In this provocative and compelling examination of the deep politics of war Carolyn Nordstrom takes us from the immediacy of war zone survival through the offices of power brokers to vast extra legal networks that fuel war and international profiteering She captures the human face of the front lines revealing both the visible and the hidden realities of war in the twenty first century Shadows of War is grounded in ethnographic research carried out at the epicenters of political violence on several continents Its pages are populated not only with the perpetrators and victims of war but also with the scoundrels silent heroes and average families who live their lives in the midst of explosive violence War reconfigures our most basic notions of humanity Nordstrom demonstrates This book of crucial importance at the present moment shows that war is enmeshed in struggles over the very foundations of the sovereign state the crafting of economic empires both legal and illegal and innovative searches for peace Nordstrom describes the multi trillion dollar international financial networks that support warfare She traces the entangled routes by which illegal drugs precious gems weapons basic food supplies and pharmaceuticals are moved by an international cast of businesspeople profiteers and black market operators Shadows of War demonstrates how the experiences of both the architects of war and of ordinary people are deleted from media accounts and replaced with stories about soldiers weapons and territory For the first time this book retrieves from the shadows the faces of those whose stories seldom reach the light of international recognition
