Empowering Teachers And Parents School Restructuring Through The Eyes Of Anthropologists:

Empowering Teachers and Parents G Alfred Hess,1992-07-13 A much needed examination of the impact on teachers and parents of the effort to improve our schools through restructuring this book looks at professionalization and parent empowerment programs from the ground level rather than from the large scale policy level The editor active in both policy setting and monitoring implementation approaches the subject with an overarching view that weaves together a set of diverse case studies that examine some of the most notable efforts in this area of school reform The first section demonstrates the tremendous difficulties involved in attempting to reshape the culture of public school teaching noting both institutional resistance to change and the personal resistance of the professionals who are in theory being empowered through this approach The second section details the problems of launching parent empowerment opportunities in a large urban setting and a contrasting case examines the choice of enrollment option Here too these studies examine the effectiveness of these programs The conclusion reflects on the opportunities such innovations provide for researchers and assesses the importance of such research in shaping the innovations themselves through evaluations while they are in process

Race, Class, and Power in School Restructuring Pauline Lipman,1998-02-26 Winner of the 1998 American Educational Studies Association Critics Choice Titles This book challenges common assumptions about the efficacy of teacher collaboration empowerment and professional development to improve the educational experiences of low achieving African American students without engaging the political and ideological contexts in which reforms take place Written in a clear engaging style the book tells the story of two restructuring junior high schools in a single district and how teachers ideologies and race class and power contradictions in the schools school district and city shaped outcomes Although the book is a critique of restructuring powerful portraits of teachers who create culturally responsive and empowering educational experiences demonstrate the potential to reform educational practices and policies for African American students and suggest a direction for transforming schools

Rethinking Intelligence Joe L. Kincheloe, Shirley R. Steinberg, Leila Villaverde,2013-08-21 Arguing that a comprehensive theoretical overhaul of mainstream educational psychology is long overdue Rethinking Intelligence suggests criteria upon which new models can be developed The contributors reconceptualize educational psychology through a democratic vision of inclusivity that takes into account the culturally inscribed nature of research They offer a theoretical and historical critique of how intelligence is measured in ways that exclude or ignore other criteria By doing so they hope to encourage educators and researchers to imagine new forms of intelligence education and life

Reform and Resistance in Schools and Classrooms Donna E. Muncey, Patrick J. McQuillan,1996-01-01 What constitutes better schooling for today's youth In 1984 educational theorist Theodore R Sizer formulated nine Common Principles to answer this question and launched The Coalition of Essential Schools an organization of schools attempting to change their own structure curriculum pedagogy and power relations according to Sizer's Principles This important book the first comprehensive look at Coalition schools charts the course of reform at eight charter member schools Donna E Muncey and Patrick J McQuillan experts in anthropology as well as education conducted a five year ethnographic study to understand what happened in Coalition schools The authors looked at curricular and pedagogical developments how changes affected individual students teachers administrators and other school personnel and how American cultural beliefs influenced efforts to change

Funds of Knowledge Norma Gonzalez, Luis C. Moll, Cathy Amanti, 2006-04-21 The concept of funds of knowledge is based on a simple premise people are competent and have knowledge and their life experiences have given them that knowledge The claim in this book is that first hand research experiences with families allow one to document this competence and knowledge and that such engagement provides many possibilities for positive pedagogical actions Drawing from both Vygotskian and neo sociocultural perspectives in designing a methodology that views the everyday practices of language and action as constructing knowledge the funds of knowledge approach facilitates a systematic and powerful way to represent communities in terms of the resources they possess and how to harness them for classroom teaching This book accomplishes three objectives It gives readers the basic methodology and techniques followed in the contributors funds of knowledge research it extends the boundaries of what these researchers have done and it explores the applications to classroom practice that can result from teachers knowing the communities in which they work In a time when national educational discourses focus on system reform and wholesale replicability across school sites this book offers a counter perspective stating that instruction must be linked to students lives and that details of effective pedagogy should be linked to local histories and community contexts This approach should not be confused with parent participation programs although that is often a fortuitous consequence of the work described It is also not an attempt to teach parents how to do school although that could certainly be an outcome if the parents so desired Instead the funds of knowledge approach attempts to accomplish something that may be even more challenging to alter the perceptions of working class or poor communities by viewing their households primarily in terms of their strengths and resources their defining pedagogical characteristics Funds of Knowledge Theorizing Practices in Households Communities and Classrooms is a critically important volume for all teachers and teachers to be and for researchers and graduate students of language culture and education School Choice Peter W. Cookson, 1995-08-01 The school choice reform movement believes parents should have a choice of where they send their children to school In this book the author an educational sociologist discusses the practice and politics of school choice objectively and comprehensively College Deans Walter H. Gmelch, Mimi Wolverton, 2002-06-30 College Deans is based on the National Deans Survey which was sponsored by the Center for the Study of Academic Leadership and included 800 deans from all U S 4 year academic institutions The book consists of two main sections Deans Their Campuses and Colleges and Dimensions Duties and Challenges The first section describes the deanship in general the national study in particular and the background of current academic deans It then gives a profile of deans who they are and where they work The second section of the book discusses the position of dean itself This section looks at academic leadership in general and more specifically at what deans in this study believe were their primary roles and responsibilities where role ambiguity and conflict came into play and how they characterized stress and its relationship to job satisfaction In addition this section has a separate segment devoted to gender related issues and a final chapter that highlights the most pressing challenges deans see in the near future

The Walton Way, Lessons and Applications for Lifelong Learning Natise Vogt,2016-12-06 Walton teachers and their students not only extend the possibilities of the mind but also those that could serve as a demonstration school for successful implementation of the common core standards With the schools focus on problem solving and critical thinking through a project based infrastructure Walton students are among some of the best prepared students in the district to succeed in mastering the common core standards which will prepare them for continued success in college work and life CCSS State of Washington For example the second graders have their chicken project In English Language Arts ELA they are to read three stories and compare contrast They use stories about chickens e g The Little Red Hen They can compare and contrast with those stories They sell the eggs and use math money skills in making change and counting their money For students to be successful as they confront the challenges of the twenty first century a different skill set will be needed As it stands now it would appear that the students at the WRLC Walton Rural Life Center may well have a leg up when it comes to acquiring the right skills utilizing the agriculture themed approach to learning that has allowed them to become critical thinkers and problem solvers For example Walton fourth grade students were given the problem of watering the schools garden They worked in groups to design a watering system They had to measure for PVC pipe estimate lengths prices and then construct the irrigation system They also worked on area and circumference

Down from Bureaucracy Joel F. Handler,1996-04-01 Throughout the world politicians are dismantling state enterprises and heaping praise on private markets while in the United States a new rhetoric of citizen empowerment links a widespread distrust of government to decentralization and privatization Here Joel Handler asks whether this restructuring of authority really allows ordinary citizens to take more control of the things that matter in their roles as parents and children teachers and students tenants and owners producers and consumers Looking at citizens as stakeholders in the modern social welfare state created by the New Deal he traces the surprising ideological shifts of empowerment from its beginning as a cornerstone of the war on poverty in the 1960s to its central place in conservative market based voucher schemes for school reform in the 1990s Handler shows that in the past the gains from decentralization have proved to be more symbol than substance some disadvantaged members of society will find new opportunities in the changes of the 1990s but others will simply experience powerlessness under another name He carefully distinguishes empowerment by invitation in special education worker safety home health care public housing tenancy and neighborhood organizations from the empowerment by conflict exemplified by the radical decentralization of the Chicago public schools What emerges is a map of the major pitfalls and possible successes in the current journey away from a discredited regulatory state
