modern Spanish cinema was under strict censorship forced to conform to the ideological demands of the Nationalist regime In 1950 the New Spanish Cinema was born as a protest over General Francisco Franco's policies a new series of directors and films began to move away from the conformist line to offer a bold brand of Spanish realism In the 1950s and early 1960s filmmakers such as Juan Antonio Bardem Luis García Berlanga and Luis Buñuel expressed a liberal image of Spain to the world in such films as Muerte de un ciclista Death of a Cyclist Bienvenido Seor Marshall Welcome Mr Marshall and Viridiana The emergence of new directors continued into the sixties and seventies with Carlos Saura José Luis Borau Víctor Erice and others After Franco's death in 1975 censorship was abolished and films openly explored such formerly taboo subjects as sexuality drugs the church the army and the Civil War The Spanish cinema was no longer escapist and entertaining but at long last mirrored the society it depicted While established directors like Saura Bardem and Berlanga continued to produce distinguished work the new wave of Spanish cinema included brilliant films by the likes of Montxo Armendáriz Tasio

The Encyclopedia of Contemporary Spanish Films Salvador Jiménez Murguía, Alex Pinar, 2018-05-18 Under the Franco regime (1939–1976), films produced in Spain were of poor quality, promoted the regime's agenda or were heavily censored. After the dictator's death, the Spanish film industry transitioned into a new era, one in which artists were able to more freely express themselves and tackle subjects that had been previously stifled. Today, films produced in Spain are among the most highly regarded in world cinema. The Encyclopedia of Contemporary Spanish Films features nearly 300 entries, written by a host of international scholars and film critics. Beginning with movies released after Franco's death, this volume documents four decades of films, directors, actresses, and actors of Spanish cinema. Offering a comprehensive survey of films, the entries address such topics as art, culture, society, and politics. Each includes comprehensive production details and provides brief suggestions for further reading. Through its examination of the films of the post-Franco period, this volume offers readers valuable insights into Spanish history, politics, and culture. An indispensable guide to one of the great world cinemas, The Encyclopedia of Contemporary Spanish Films will be of interest to students, academics, and the general public alike.
