Economic Policy Towards The Environment:

Reframing Economic Policy towards Sustainability Peter McManners, 2016-11-03 In a globalized world economy delivering the aspirations of sustainability is proving to be difficult Progress is held back by competing objectives within a complex interplay of factors Finding solutions to the wicked problem of sustainability seems to be beyond the reach of policy makers Even if the political will can be found to deal with the prime challenges of the twenty first century ranging from climate change and resource depletion to persistent poverty and increasing inequity what is to be done in terms of real world policy is far from clear Do we need more globalization or has economic globalization gone too far in growing a global economy which will strip the planet bare This book reports twin track research which interweaves the intellectual argument over the future of the world economy intertwined with empirical research into the challenge of sustainability in aviation Discussing the prime challenges of this century through the lens of the intractable policy stalemate in aviation this book leads the reader to the identification of a new way forward Whether the political will is forthcoming will continue to be subject to debate but we now have a clear exposition of how to address the problem The new paradigm presented in this book opens the way to considering radical transformations to make real progress with the sustainability agenda

Economic Policy in the Age of Globalisation Nicola Acocella, 2005-02-17 In the age of globalisation both domestic and foreign economic policies play an important role in determining firms strategies Understanding such policies is an essential part of the cultural background of managers at all levels of a firm At the same time firms choices have a greater impact on economic policymaking in a global economy as the range of alternatives open to them expands In this textbook Professor Acocella analyses both sides of this relationship Special emphasis is placed on current issues in policymaking on the basis of social choice principles and the normative and positive theory of economic policy and issues

United States. Congress. Joint Economic Committee. Subcommittee on Foreign Economic Policy,1970 Climate Change as Environmental and Economic Hazard Boris Porfiriev,2009-12 The current policy for climate change prioritises mitigation over adaptation The collected papers of Climate Change as Environmental and Economic Hazard argue that although efforts to reduce greenhouse gas emissions are still vital the new policy paradigm should shift the priority to adaptation with a special focus on disaster risk reduction It should also consider climate change not purely as a hazard and a challenge but as a window of opportunity to shift to a new sustainable development policy model which stresses the particular importance of communities resilience The papers in this volume explore the key issues linked to this shift including Increasing research into the Earth Sciences climate reconstruction and forecasting in order to decrease the degree of uncertainty about the origin development and implications of climate change The introduction of more binding and comprehensive regulation of both greenhouse gas emissions and adaptation measures like that in the United Kingdom Matching climate policy with that for disasters and mainstreaming it into overall development strategies The volume is a valuable addition to previous climate change research and considers a new policy approach to this new global challenge
