India, Citizenship, and Refugee Crisis Dipak Basu, Victoria W. Miroshnik, 2024-09-12 India Citizenship and Refugee Crisis Political History of Hatred and Sorrow examines the effects of the Partition of India in 1947 The partition as suggested by the British to satisfy the Muslims who formed the bulk of the British Army during the 2nd world war could not stop the communal riots but instead led to their intensification The effects were tremendous flows of refugees Muslims from India to Pakistan and a few non Muslims from Pakistan to India That refugee problem was solved in Pakistan as the flow was limited due to the protection of the Muslims granted by India but it is still a problem in India due to inability of the Indian government to provide enough security and facility to the refugees This book analyzes the diverse issues surrounding this political history from economic and social points of view Nexus Between Innovations,

The migrated skill worker increases the knowledge accumulation and spillover which leads to increase the productivity of firm institutions and region. Human capital migration is essential for knowledge diffusion because it enables the transfer of tacit information between businesses or institutions enhancing productivity. In this context of externalities generation, skilled labor mobility is an important mechanism for the interregional transfer of technological knowledge diffusion.

The Making of India's Foreign Policy Jayantnuja Bandyopadhyaya, 2003. Journal of the United Service Institution of India United Service Institution of India, 2002. Geo-economics In South Asian Environment Rakesh Kumar, Harjit Singh, 2025-04-02.

Drawing on empirical research, this book offers a rigorous insight into a variety of issues related to evolving geopolitics, bilateral regional sub-regional trade agreements as well as the urgent need for the revival of geo-economics for mutual gains. Acknowledging the evolving regional geopolitics, the book also attempts to put forward the potential challenges and opportunities in regional trade and economic cooperation in South Asia in post-pandemic period. It also explores how social forces like shared cultural, religious, linguistic and historical linkages have the potential to act as a bridge to fill the gap in trade and economic cooperation. The rich collections of chapters not only enrich the understanding of the reasons behind the low level of regional trade and economic cooperation in South Asia but also offer new insight into the facts to adopt and apply progressive regional trade policy in the fast-changing business environment and evolving new geopolitics in the region in the post-pandemic era.

This book analyzes the paradox that despite being a national security state, Pakistan has become even more insecure in the post Cold War era. It provides an in-depth analysis of Pakistan's foreign and security policies and their implications for the overall state and society. The book identifies the immediate security challenges to Pakistan and charts the distinctive evolution of Pakistan's national security state in which the military elite became the dominant actor in the political sphere of government during and after the Cold War period. By examining the national security state, militarization, democracy, and security proxy wars and the hyper military industrial complex, the author illustrates how the vanguard role of the military created considerable structural sociopolitical, economic, and security problems in Pakistan. Furthermore, the author argues that the mismatch between Pakistan's national security stance and the transformed security environment has been facilitated and sustained by the embedded interests of the country's military industrial complex. A critical evaluation of the role of the military in the political affairs of the government and how it has created structural problems for Pakistan, this book will be of interest to academics in the field of South Asian Politics and Security, South Asian Foreign and Security Policy, International Relations, Asian Security, and Cold War Studies.
