The World Economy through the Lens of the United Nations José Antonio Ocampo, Anis Chowdhury, Diana Alarcón, 2018-03-16 This edited volume documents the intellectual influence of the United Nations Department of Economic and Social Affairs UN DESA through its flagship publication the World Economic and Social Survey WESS on its 70th Anniversary First published in 1948 as World Economic Report WESS is the oldest continuous post World War II publication recording and analysing the performance of the global economy and social development trends It offers relevant policy recommendations and highlights how well the United Nations UN annual report has tracked global economic and social conditions and how its analyses influenced and were influenced by the prevailing development discourse

during the past seven decades It also critically reflects on its policy recommendations and their influence on actual policy making and the shaping of the world economy The World Economy through the Lens of the United Nations reflects on this report amongst others to provide valuable insights on global economic challenges and their differential impacts on different groups of countries requiring global policy coordination as well as context specific policy responses It demonstrates that UN reports have often been ahead of the curve and played a critical role in policy debate especially in the area of international policy coordination and coherence for balanced global development and offers rich and path breaking analyses of contemporary problems of growth development trade and stabilization Development Administration in the Caribbean J. Walker, 2002-05-22 A detailed and historical account of both theory and practice this book attempts to make sense of the loose and little understood field of development administration The book focuses on development administration over forty years and identifies key attributes of public bureaucracy which are associated with bureaucratic performance The associations between bureaucracy s attributes and performance are employed in explaining development differences between Jamaica and Trinidad and Tobago over the period 1960 1995 Associations are explored at the macro level through aggregate data and at the micro level through fascinating case studies of the Industrial Development Corporations IDCs associated with economic growth and the Ministry of Education associated with women s empowerment The study establishes clear patterns of associations in the empirical cases and explores the implications of these findings for the theory of development administration

Third World Cities In Global Perspective David Smith, 2019-05-20 In this innovative book David Smith ultimately links what happens on the ground in the neighbourhoods where people live to the larger political and economic forces at work putting these connections in a historical framework and using a case study approach The societies of the world s underdeveloped countries are now undergoing an urban revolutio

Globalization, Social Justice, and the Helping Professions William Roth, Katharine Briar-Lawson, 2011-04-28 This landmark book brings together the reality of globalization and the imperative for social justice for helping professionals and students Helping professions such as social work counseling and community building in non profit agencies NGOs and government and the people and needs they serve can no longer be understood outside a global framework While the very notion of helping professions entails a social justice perspective the relationship between the effects of globalization and the requirements of social justice have been missing from the literature education and practice of these fields This book provides an understanding of the economic and social dimensions of globalization how globalization increases the interdependence of nations the particular risks and opportunities it presents and how some aspects of globalization can exacerbate oppression and marginalization There are particular explorations of the challenges globalization presents in Africa and South America and a consideration of the special needs of children and families in the global context This is a necessary volume Its distinguished contributors have various perspectives on globalization but all write to inform and assist the work of those whose vocation is to help others

State Structure, Policy Formation, and Economic Development in Southeast Asia Antoinette R. Raquiza, 2013-06-17 Why do some small developing countries industrialize and others don't What factors account for different economic performance among states that are vulnerable to external shocks crony capitalism and political instability This book argues that the answer lies in the structuring of state power specifically the way different sets of governing elites political leaders and economic technocrats are embedded in political organisations and state institutions and the way these elites relate to each other in the economic development policy process Conducting a comparative historical analysis of Thailand and the Philippines the book argues that the institutional settings of governing elites influence economic outcomes In Thailand political power traditionally connects to state institutions in ways that has limited the impact of political turnovers and global downturns conducive to long term industrial activities In contrast Philippine state power derives from family networks that merge social and political power suited to fast moving short term commercial interests In focusing on this political and institutional story the author analyses the current development dilemmas of countries weighed down by historical legacies of unstable regimes dependency and social conflict and how they are likely to develop in the future
