Transition Economies after 2008 Martin Myant, Jan Drahoukoupil, 2014-04-07 The economic crisis of 2008 starting from the crisis in banking in the USA in 2008 affected economic and political development in varied ways around the world This edited volume covers the impact and policy responses in Eastern Europe and Russia Taken as a whole the economies of the former state socialist countries frequently still referred to for convenience as transition economies were hit hard by the crisis suffering falls in GDP in 2009 that were deeper than the average around the world However there was considerable variety in the effects on individual countries with a few continuing to grow while some others suffered quite exceptional falls in output Policy responses were also quite diverse and do not obviously fit with the nature and severity of economic factors The more general impacts on political life were also varied In many cases very much the same governments continued in power while in others there were significant changes and signs of a growing instability in party and political structures The articles in this book explore these differences between countries and to set them in a wider international context This book was published as a special issue of Europe Asia Studies The Oxford Handbook on The World Trade Organization Amrita Narlikar, Martin Daunton, Robert M. Stern, 2012-05-31 This handbook provides a holistic understanding of what the World Trade Organization does how it goes about fulfilling its tasks its achievements and problems and how it might contend with some critical challenges ITF Round Tables Competitive Interaction between Airports, Airlines and High-Speed Rail International Transport Forum, 2009-11-04 This round table proceedings examines whether and how airports should be regulated to contain market power It determines which approaches are likely to work best and also assesses strategies for managing greenhouse gas emissions including the alternative of high speed rail Medium-Sized Cities in the Age of Globalisation Inès Hassen-Dakhli, 2023-07-10 Medium Sized Cities in the Age of Globalisation provides a brand new perspective on academic discussions of globalisation through exploring urban development outside of select global cities including Paris Tokyo and London and instead focuses on medium sized cities in the context of a globalising world Combining the author's expertise with extensive research this book fills a gap in the scholarly debate on globalisation and urban development with chapters of the book giving detailed insight on urban governance and economy local identity and urban representation Through a range of visual sources including maps tables and graphs the book is applicable and accessible and offers a specialised analysis of medium sized cities through assessing urban regeneration policies as well as promotional activities and their role in promoting positive change in an era of great inter urban competition This book contains valuable historical insights and is excellent specialised material for scholars and postgraduate students in the disciplines of Urban History Urban Studies and Geography as well as being a significant source for professionals working in urban planning and place promotion

Environment and Industry in Developing Countries Ralph Andrew Luken, Frank Van Rompaey,2007-01-01 This impressive study compares the adoption of environmentally sound technology in industrial sectors in eight developing countries In combining a variety of quantitative and qualitative methodologies on rich empirical data the authors open the technological change black box and are able to formulate clear conclusions on the drivers and barriers for technological change A major contribution to better understanding and governing environmentally sound technological change

Arthur P J Mol Wageningen University The Netherlands All theory is gray but the golden tree of life springs ever green says Goethe This book is very green that is empirical about a green topic the adoption of environmentally sound technologies in developing countries using triangulation for assessing the factors behind such choices A very nice study on an important topic

Ren Kemp UNU MERIT Maastricht The Netherlands Industries located in developing countries have made major improvements in environmental performance since the Rio Earth Summit of 1992 More specifically their record in reducing energy use and water pollutant intensities has been better than developed countries This significant new book investigates what motivates industries in developing countries to adopt environmentally sound technology EST a subject about which very little is actually known The authors present the findings of a United Nations study of the factors that determined EST adoption by 105 manufacturing plants in four different sectors within eight developing countries They explore both factors internal to the plants as well as external factors including governments markets and civil society

Environment and Industry in Developing Countries will be of great interest to development assistance agencies supporting programmes for industrial environmental management in developing countries and also to graduate school programmes in economic development technology management as well as in international business

The Role of Innovation and Entrepreneurship in Economic Growth Michael J Andrews,Aaron Chatterji,Josh Lerner,Scott Stern,2022-03-17 This volume presents studies from experts in twelve industries providing insights into the future role of innovation and entrepreneurship in driving economic growth across sectors We live in an era in which innovation and entrepreneurship seem ubiquitous particularly in regions like Silicon Valley Boston and the Research Triangle Park But many metrics of economic growth such as productivity growth and business dynamism have been at best modest in recent years The resolution of this apparent paradox is dramatic heterogeneity across sectors with some industries seeing robust innovation and entrepreneurship and others seeing stagnation By construction the impact of innovation and entrepreneurship on overall economic performance is the cumulative impact of their effects on individual sectors. Understanding the potential for growth in the aggregate economy depends therefore on understanding the sector by sector potential for growth. This insight motivates the twelve studies of different sectors that are presented in this volume. Each study identifies specific productivity improvements enabled by innovation and entrepreneurship, for example as a result of new production technologies, increased competition, or new organizational forms. These twelve studies, along with three synthetic chapters, provide new insights on the sectoral patterns and concentration of the contributions of innovation and entrepreneurship to economic growth.
