Handbook of Africa and Economics Célestin Monga,Justin Yifu Lin,2015-07-02 For a long time economic research on Africa was not seen as a profitable venture intellectually or professionally few researchers in top ranked institutions around the world chose to become experts in the field This was understandable the reputation of Africa centered economic research was not enhanced by the well known limitations of economic data across the continent Moreover development economics

itself was not always fashionable and the broader discipline of economics has had its ups and downs and has been undergoing a major identity crisis because it failed to predict the Great Recession Times have changed many leading researchers including a few Nobel laureates have taken the subject of Africa and economics seriously enough to devote their expertise and creativity to it They have been amply rewarded the richness complexities and subtleties of African societies civilizations rationalities and ways of living have helped renew the humanities and the social sciences and economics in particular to the point that the continent has become the next major intellectual frontier to researchers from around the world In collecting some of the most authoritative statements about the science of economics and its concepts in the African context this handbook the first of two volumes opens up the diverse acuity of commentary on exciting topics and in the process challenges and stimulates the quest for knowledge Wide ranging in its scope themes language and approaches this volume explores examines and assesses economic thinking on Africa and Africa's contribution to the discipline The editors bring a set of powerful resources to this endeavor most notably a team of internationally renowned economists whose diverse viewpoints are complemented by the perspectives of philosophers political scientists and anthropologists

Economics: An Introduction to Traditional and Progressive Views Howard J. Sherman, E. K. Hunt, Reynold F. Nesiba, Phillip O'Hara, Barbara A. Wiens-Tuers, 2015-01-28 This classic text offers a broader intellectual foundation than traditional principles textbooks It introduces students to both traditional economic views and their progressive critique Revised expanded and updated for this new edition the text puts the study of microeconomics macroeconomics and globalization in their historical context While covering the same topics as a traditional text it also offers a richer discussion of economic history and the history of economic thought including the ideas of Karl Marx Thorstein Veblen and John Maynard Keynes This allows students to see economics as a way of understanding the world as a lens for social analysis rather than as immutable truth or ideal to which the world should be molded This completely revised edition incorporates new chapters on microeconomics and macroeconomics as well as more graphs to enhance the theoretical presentations Unlike the previous editions it includes many pedagogical tools to encourage student participation and learning Each of the 56 chapters opens with Learning Objectives and key terms appear in boldface within the text and are listed at the end of each chapter Other end of chapter material includes Summary of Major Points Analytical Questions and References An online Instructor's Manual is available to professors who adopt the text

Blank, 2014-12-18 This book answers the questions What is happening to American agriculture and why Steven C Blank uses portfolio theory to analyze both macro and microeconomic data that paints a clear picture of the trends in agriculture and explains why these trends are consistent with market evolution and global economic development He clarifies agriculture's specific role in economic development with a focus on the current and future globalizing commodity markets The book features empirical research that demonstrates the link between farm level investment decisions and regional and national economic trends It shows how the dynamic environment of industrialization and globalization of agriculture is part of a continuing development that is driven by technological innovation This all points to a future with a very different agricultural production sector and some extremely important policy choices that will face the entire country Greening the Academy Samuel Fassbinder, Anthony Nocella, Richard Kahn, 2012-12-30 This is the academic Age of the Neoliberal Arts Campuses as places characterized by democratic debate and controversy wide ranges of opinion typical of vibrant public spheres and service to the larger society are everywhere being creatively destroyed in order to accord with market and military models befitting the academic industrial complex While it has become increasingly clear that facilitating the sustainability movement is the great 21st century educational challenge at hand this book asserts that it is both a dangerous and criminal development today that sustainability in higher education has come to be defined by the complex friendly green campus initiatives of science technology engineering and management programs By contrast Greening the Academy Ecopedagogy Through the Liberal Arts takes the standpoints of those working for environmental and ecological justice in order to critique the unsustainable disciplinary limitations within the humanities and social sciences as well as provide tactical reconstructive openings toward an empowered liberal arts for sustainability Greening the Academy thus hopes to speak back with a collective demand that sustainability education be defined as a critical and moral vocation comprised of the diverse types of humanistic study that will benefit the well being of our emerging planetary community and its numerous common locales Turning points in economic development

Rudolf Biani,2018-11-05 No detailed description available for Turning points in economic development DEVELOPMENT ECONOMICS : A CRITICAL PERSPECTIVE APARAJITA MUKHERJEE,SAUMYA CHAKRABARTI,2016-05-16 Development economics is a branch of study that focuses on improving the economies of developing countries examining both macroeconomic and microeconomic factors relating to the structure of a developing economy The main objective of the book is to present major issues of development economies It takes up an analysis of the limitations of accumulation centric growth process and introduces the readers to alternative development paradigms along with their critics Organised into fourteen chapters the initial chapters discuss historical background of less developed economies post colonial development patterns in the context of establishment of the World Bank the IMF and the GATT economic models like classical development ideas Marxian model the Marginalist economies Alfred Marshall and the neoclassical school and ideas of Keynes The book skillfully explains some of the development macro models based on industry agriculture interactions structure of agriculture population and role of market and state in economic development The later chapters delve on capability approaches to development and thematic deficiency of traditional development economics and relation between inequality poverty and development In this context the book takes up the analysis of the concept of Development Management and its application to less developed economies Handbook of Labor Economics Orley Ashenfelter,David Card,1999-11-18 Modern labor economics has continued to grow and develop since the first volumes of this Handbook were published The subject matter of labor economics continues to have at its core an attempt to systematically find empirical analyses that are consistent with a systematic and parsimonious theoretical understanding of the diverse phenomenon that make up the labor market As before many of these analyses are provocative and controversial because they are so directly relevant to both public policy and private decision making In many ways the modern development in the field of labor economics continues to set the standards for the best work in applied economics This volume of the Handbook has a notable representation of authors and topics of importance from throughout the world

Rural-urban Migration in Developing Countries Somik V. Lall, Harris Selod, 2006 The migration of labor from rural to urban areas is an important part of the urbanization process in developing countries Even though it has been the focus of abundant research over the past five decades some key policy questions have not found clear answers yet To what extent is internal migration a desirable phenomenon and under what circumstances Should governments intervene and if so with what types of interventions What should be their policy objectives To shed light on these important issues the authors survey the existing theoretical models and their conflicting policy implications and discuss the policies that may be justified based on recent relevant empirical studies A key limitation is that much of the empirical literature does not provide structural tests of the theoretical models but only provides partial findings that can support or invalidate intuitions and in that sense support or invalidate the policy implications of the models The authors broad assessment of the literature is that migration can be beneficial or at least be turned into a beneficial phenomenon so that in general migration restrictions are not desirable They also identify some data issues and research topics which merit further investigation World Bank web site Political Economy of Development in Turkey Emre Özçelik, Yonca Özdemir, 2022-03-10 Adopting a political economy perspective this book is an original collection of research chapters that focus on Turkey's economic development experience from the nineteenth century to the present It provides a systematic and chronological examination of Turkey's major historical dynamics in the economic and socio political spheres The chapters are organized according to the consecutive phases of Turkey's political economic development Each chapter not only reflects on the country specific aspects of those development phases but also clarifies the dependence of domestic policy orientations on the dynamics of the world economy As such the book provides a historically conscious political economic account of Turkey's dependent development experience The book serves as a quality reference on the political economy of modern Turkey bringing together fourteen prominent experts as contributing authors who have devoted their intellectual lives to the understanding and explanation of political economic dynamics in both Turkey and the world All contributors write on a historical period of the Turkish economy in which they are most specialized This aspect of the book is a momentous advantage in the field of Turkey's political economy enabling the highest degree of academic expertise to concentrate in each chapter Structural Changes in Indian Economy Anil K. Yadav, 1999 The book deals with structural changes relating to the Indian Economy through an over time view in an intercountry perspective We have examined in this study the structural changes and growth performance of the Indian Economy and contrasted it with the happenings across a set of countries at different levels of development The Indian Economy is first examined in isolation and then an inter country analysis is carried out where some of the features depicted by the Indian Economy are further tested The structural changes in the Indian Economy are examined on the basis of twenty two structural variables as were identified by Syrquin and Chenesy 1989 We also examine Economy and also for a set of countries at different levels of development
