Ellis,2021-04-01 An undetected thief lurks in America s classrooms funding for public education Dynamic instruction robust learning and student futures are stolen when funding for public education is inadequate and inequitable The devastating impact of this thievery is examined throughout this book Student engagement with the potential and promise of traditional public education is stolen by funding formulas crafted by state legislatures Theft in the classroom results when these funding schemes misdirect and disconnect the resources required to educate all US students Called upon to deal with an ever changing cascade of mandates standards legislation and counterproductive testing marathons but provided with funding so inadequate that instruction is often little better than anemic test prep public educators in pursuit of the common good are robbed by insufficient funding Although funding for public education is a topic unlikely to command frequent public discussion no topic is more consequential for achievement adequacy and social justice in the learning lives and futures of America s children and young people Emerging Approaches to Educational Research Tara Fenwick,Richard

Edwards,Peter Sawchuk,2015-04-08 The last fifteen years have seen much conceptual and methodological innovation in research on education and learning across the lifecourse bringing both fresh insights and new dilemmas This innovation was initially fuelled by the growing influence of conceptual framings often named as either post structural or postmodern The works of Foucault Derrida and Lyotard have variously found their way into the canons of educational research and in more recent years the influence of the work of Deleuze and Guattari has also grown This work has proved controversial both in the challenges it has raised for the purposes and practices of education and training but also over the assumptions underpinning such work As part of and also in response to the influence of post structuralism and postmodernism in the social sciences there have emerged and developed a further range of conceptual and methodological framings which are more relational system and practice focussed Several of these framings work with a non linear understanding of causality and embrace unpredictability in the world and undecidability in our understanding of it They also challenge any notion of a strong boundary between the social and natural sciences This book explores the most significant four of these framings how they are being taken up in research in education and learning across the lifecourse as well as their possibilities and limitations complexity science cultural historical activity theory CHAT actor network theory ANT spatiality theories Illustrated has been described as our first language beginning with our mother's heartbeat. Early rhythms echo and elaborate as themes threading through the narratives of our emotional lives. Given the ways we can access and share music today, we find ourselves increasingly maneuvering through musical landscapes and constructing our identities around music. Ready illustrates how music provides alternative access to patients undergoing severe mental health issues by interweaving the psychoanalytic theories of Wilfred Bion, Daniel Stern, and others with those of ethnomusicologists, psychobiologists, and neurobiologists who believe our early urges toward music are attempts to socially bond. Theory comes to life through vivid case studies and excerpts from individual sessions and psychodynamic therapy groups. Ready also demonstrates how music can be a particularly effective communication tool with cross-cultural and young adult patients. Building music into treatment can transform the therapeutic process, making music a powerful ally to both patients and clinicians.
