A. Bradshaw,2019-06-18 At times sad and at times heartwarming Helps us to understand not only elephants but all animals including ourselves Peter Singer author of Animal Liberation Drawing on accounts from India to Africa and California to Tennessee and on research in neuroscience psychology and animal behavior G A Bradshaw explores the minds emotions and lives of elephants Wars starvation mass culls poaching and habitat loss have reduced elephant numbers from more than ten million to a few hundred thousand leaving orphans bereft of the elders who would normally mentor them As a consequence traumatized elephants have become aggressive against people other animals and even one another their behavior is comparable to that of humans who have experienced genocide other types of violence and social collapse By exploring the elephant mind and experience in the wild and in captivity Bradshaw bears witness to the breakdown of ancient elephant cultures But she reminds us all is not lost People are working to save elephants by rescuing orphaned infants and rehabilitating adult zoo and circus elephants using the same principles psychologists apply in treating humans who have survived trauma Bradshaw urges us to support these and other models of elephant recovery and to solve pressing social and environmental crises affecting all animals humans included This book opens the door into the soul of the elephant It will really make you think about our relationship with other animals Temple Grandin author of Animals in Translation Emerging Voices for Animals in Tourism Jes Hooper, Carol Kline, 2024-02-14 While the study of animal human interactions within the context of tourism has been explored in a greater number and diversity of ways within the last decade the discourse remains divided between traditional tourism academia and outside disciplines looking in Tourism academia has borrowed philosophical ethical gender studies sociological ecological conservation and economic lenses to explore animals in tourism however collaboration with authors external to tourism studies remains few This edited volume strengthens the bridge between tourism academia and other disciplines by highlighting the fresh perspectives emerging methodologies and innovative interdisciplinary conventions at the forefront of animals in tourism research whilst critically working towards more ethical human animal interactions within the tourism and leisure space Split into four parts emerging motivations emerging cultures emerging narratives and emerging reflections this unique text will be widely applicable to scholars working towards equitable human animal interactions within tourism
