Emmas War Love Betrayal Death In The:

Emma's War Deborah Scroggins, 2003 Glamorous aid worker Emma McCune conformed to none of the stereotypes although driven and committed to her work she was at least partially attracted to Africa because it enabled her to live in a style she could not achieve in Britain and she was famous in East Africa for wearing mini skirts and for her affairs with African men Initially much admired if also suspect for her social flair she appalled the aid community with her marriage to a local warlord who was deeply enmeshed in both rebellion and murder She had fallen in love and a rebel to the end she insisted on following her feelings even if it left her rejected by her fellow worker and in an ambiguous position was she on the side of the refugees or the warmongers

The Child Soldiers of Africa's Red Army Carol Berger, 2021-12-23 This book examines the role of social process and routinised violence in the use of underaged soldiers in the country now known as South Sudan during the twenty one year civil war between Sudan's northern and southern regions Drawing on accounts of South Sudanese who as children and teenagers were part of the Red Army the youth wing of the Sudan People's Liberation Army SPLA the book sheds light on the organised nature of the exploitation of children and youth by senior adult figures within the movement The book also includes interviews with several of the original Red Army commanders all of whom went on to hold senior positions within the military and government of South Sudan The author chronicles the cultural transformation experienced by members of the Red Army and considers whether an analysis of the processes involved in what was then Africa's longest civil war can aid our understanding of South Sudan's more recent descent into ethnicised conflict As such it will appeal to scholars of sociology anthropology and political science with interests in ethnography conflict and the military exploitation of children

The Root Causes of Sudan's Civil Wars Douglas Hamilton Johnson, 2011 Sudan's post independence history has been dominated by political and civil strife Most commentators have attributed the country's recurring civil war either to an age old racial divide between Arabs and Africans or to recent colonially constructed inequalities This book attempts a more complex analysis briefly examining the historical political economic and social factors which have contributed to periodic outbreaks of violence between the state and its peripheries In tracing historical continuities it outlines the essential differences between the modern Sudan's first civil war in the 1960s and the current war It also looks at the series of minor civil wars generated by and contained within the major conflict as well as the regional and international factors including humanitarian aid which have exacerbated civil violence This introduction is aimed at students of North East Africa and of conflict and ethnicity It should be useful for people in aid and international organizations who need a straightforward analytical survey which will help them assess the prospects for a lasting peace in Sudan Douglas H Johnson is an independent scholar and former international expert on the Abyei Boundaries Commission

Making a Killing Madelaine Drohan, 2010-08-06 A dramatic and compelling journey into the dark heart of globalization What happens when multinational corporations decide that the use of armed force is just business by other means In Making a Killing Madelaine Drohan looks at the shocking number of companies that have linked up with mercenaries warlords armies and private militias in order to make a profit In a world where multinationals often rival national governments in size and clout the implications of such partnerships are ominous What leads respectable corporations down the path to violence Drohan answers this question by examining the actions of several companies operating in Africa such as Ranger Oil West Africa which used the mercenary group Executive Outcomes to take on rebels in Angola s long running civil war and Talisman Energy whose security was provided by Sudanese army units conducting a scorched earth policy in the oil fields Drohan traces the modern roots of corporate armed force beginning with Cecil Rhodes British South Africa Company which at the turn of the century built its own army Also included is the stranger than fiction tale of ex MI5 spymaster Sir Percy Sillitoe who was hired by the De Beers diamond king to prevent the Soviet Union from acquiring smuggled diamonds in order to develop the hydrogen bomb These accounts read like adventure stories in the tradition of Rudyard Kipling and Ian Fleming but they are essential reading for anyone interested in the effects of unfettered multinational influence Making a Killing provides a road map for corporations policy makers and investors struggling to come to terms with their roles in today s increasingly globalized world The Literary Review ,2003

War and Survival in Sudan's Frontierlands Wendy James,2007-10-04 This book completes a trilogy by the anthropologist Wendy James It is a case study of how the Uduk speaking people originally from the Blue Nile region between the north and the south of Sudan have been caught up in and displaced by a generation of civil war Some have responded by defending their nation others by joining the armed resistance of the Sudan People s Liberation Army and yet others eventually finding security as international refugees in Ethiopia and even further afield in countries such as the USA Sudan s peace agreement of 2005 leaves much uncertainty for the future of the whole country as conflict still rages in Darfur The Uduk case shows how people who once lived together now try to maintain links across borders and even continents through modern communications and where possible recreate their traditional forms of story telling music and song Mass Starvation Alex de Waal,2017-12-08 The world almost conquered famine Until the 1980s this scourge killed ten million people every decade but by early 2000s mass starvation had all but disappeared Today famines are resurgent driven by war blockade hostility to humanitarian principles and a volatile global economy In Mass Starvation world renowned expert on humanitarian crisis and response Alex de Waal provides an authoritative history of modern famines their causes dimensions and why they ended He analyses starvation as a crime and breaks new ground in examining forced starvation as an instrument of genocide and war Refuting the enduring but erroneous view that attributes famine to overpopulation and natural disaster he shows how political decision or political failing is an essential element in every famine while the spread of democracy and human rights and the ending of wars were major factors in the near ending of this devastating phenomenon Hard hitting and deeply informed Mass Starvation explains why man made famine and the political decisions that could end it for good must once again become a top priority for the international community The New Kings of Crude Luke Patey, 2014-10-15 A first look at how the world's rising powers began international oil empires amidst one of Africa's longest and deadliest civil war An Introduction to Humanitarian Action Katrin Radtke, Kristina Roepstorff, 2025-03-18 This important new textbook provides a concise and practice-oriented introduction to the workings of the humanitarian sector and the key contemporary debates surrounding it. The number of people around the world in need of humanitarian action and protection is at its highest figure in decades yet at the same time the humanitarian system is facing numerous problems and undergoing fundamental reforms. This book invites us to tackle these challenges head-on, addressing the increasing complexity of humanitarian crises and the implications for humanitarian principles and standards as well as the management of humanitarian projects. Expansive in scope, the book covers the sector's historical foundations and the need to decolonise. The main types of crises and sectors of humanitarian response, state and non-state actors and institutions, the key rules, norms and project management approaches, key trends and challenges including access, innovation and anticipation. The book also covers important debates on localisation, inclusive programming and the decolonisation of the humanitarian system. Interactive by design, readers will be able to test their learning out with quizzes, multimedia resources and interactive exercises. This exciting new textbook will be an important read for students looking for a comprehensive introduction as well as for practitioners wanting to stimulate critical thinking and enhance their practical skills The Lawyer, 2005 A Poisonous Thorn in Our Hearts James Copnall, 2014 A lively and comprehensive guide to the fraught shared destinies of Sudan and South Sudan in the years after separation Civil Wars and Revolution in the Sudan Robert O. Collins, 2005 This is a collection of twenty essays written over forty years between 1962 and 2004 on the Sudan, southern Sudan and Darfur. Four decades of civil war has cost more than two million dead and another six million refugees and Internally Displaced Persons. Now, after a decade of ambivalent and frustrating negotiations, a peace agreement between the Sudan People's Liberation Movement and the Government of the Sudan has finally been signed on 9 January 2005, leaving in its wake a devastated southern Sudan, its infrastructure completely destroyed, its fragile economy in ruins and its people exhausted after nearly half a century of fierce fighting. Although these twenty essays include such topics as nation building, the dynamics of racial, ethnic, cultural and religious identity, the politics of oil and the legacy of slavery, most of them are concerned with conflict in the Sudan, its participants and the reasons why it began and has continued for so long. These essays are presented here in chronological order; the aggregate becomes a unique history of the Sudan's terrible civil war that cannot be found elsewhere; the independent Sudan is woven into the text of each, revealing new insights into the history of these tumultuous decades Kakuma Refugee Camp Bram J. Jansen, 2018-06-15 Kenya's Kakuma refugee camp is one of the world's largest, home to over 100,000 people drawn from across east and central Africa. Though notionally still a temporary camp, it has become a permanent urban space in all but name, with businesses, schools, a hospital and its own court system. Such places, Bram J. Jansen argues, should be recognised as accidental cities, a unique form of urbanization that has so far been overlooked by scholars Based on extensive ethnographic fieldwork Jansen's book explores the dynamics of everyday life in such accidental cities The result is a holistic socio economic picture moving beyond the conventional view of such spaces as transitory and desolate to demonstrate how their inhabitants can develop a permanent society and a distinctive identity Crucially the book offers important insights into one of the greatest challenges facing humanitarian and international development workers how we might develop more effective strategies for managing refugee camps in the global South and beyond An original take on African urbanism Kakuma Refugee Camp will appeal to practitioners and academics across the social sciences interested in social and economic issues increasingly at the heart of contemporary development

Violence and the state Matt Killingsworth, Matthew Sussex, Jan Pakulski, 2015-11-01 In providing a counterweight to the notion that political violence has irrevocably changed in a globalised world Violence and the state offers an original and innovative way in which to understand political violence across a range of discipline areas It explores the complex relationship between the state and its continued use of violence through a variety of historical and contemporary case studies including the Napoleonic Wars Nazi and Soviet eliticide the consolidation of authority in modern China post Soviet Russia and international criminal tribunals It also looks at humanitarian intervention in cases of organised violence and the willingness of elites to alter their attitude to violence if it is an instrument to achieve their own ends The interdisciplinary approach which spans history sociology international law and International Relations ensures that this book will be invaluable to a broad cross section of scholars and politically engaged readers alike

The Future of War Lawrence Freedman, 2017-10-10 An award winning military historian professor and political adviser delivers the definitive story of warfare in all its guises and applications showing what has driven and continues to drive this uniquely human form of political violence Questions about the future of war are a regular feature of political debate strategic analysis and popular fiction Where should we look for new dangers What cunning plans might an aggressor have in mind What are the best forms of defense How might peace be preserved or conflict resolved From the French rout at Sedan in 1870 to the relentless contemporary insurgencies in Iraq and Afghanistan Lawrence Freedman a world renowned military thinker reveals how most claims from the military futurists are wrong But they remain influential nonetheless Freedman shows how those who have imagined future war have often had an idealized notion of it as confined brief and decisive and have regularly taken insufficient account of the possibility of long wars hence the stubborn persistence of the idea of a knockout blow whether through a dashing land offensive nuclear first strike or cyberattack He also notes the lack of attention paid to civil wars until the West began to intervene in them during the 1990s and how the boundaries between peace and war between the military the civilian and the criminal are becoming increasingly blurred Freedman's account of a century and a half of warfare and the often misconceived thinking that precedes war is a challenge to hawks and doves alike and puts current strategic thinking into a bracing historical perspective

The Fate of Africa Martin Meredith, 2011-09-06 The definitive story of African nations after they emerged from colonialism from Mugabe's doomed kleptocracy to Mandela's inspiring defeat of apartheid. The Fate of Africa has been hailed by reviewers as A masterpiece. The nonfiction book of the year. The New York Post a magnificent achievement. Weekly Standard a joy. Wall Street Journal and one of the decade's most important works on Africa. Publishers Weekly starred review. Spanning the full breadth of the continent from the bloody revolt in Algiers against the French to Zimbabwe's civil war. Martin Meredith's classic history focuses on the key personalities, events and themes of the independence era and explains the myriad problems that Africa has faced in the past half century. It covers recent events like the ongoing conflict in Sudan, the controversy over Western aid, the exploitation of Africa's resources and the growing importance and influence of China.

Rebel Rulers Zachariah Cherian Mampilly, 2012-03-27 When insurgents take and hold territory they can develop systems of governance that deliver public services to civilians under their control. This book reflects Zachariah Cherian Mampilly's extensive fieldwork in rebel controlled areas.

Aid in Danger Larissa Fast, 2014-04-03 Humanitarian aid workers increasingly remain present in contexts of violence and are injured, kidnapped and killed as a result. Since 9/11 and in response to these dangers aid organizations have fortified themselves to shield their staff and programs from outside threats. In Aid in Danger Larissa Fast critically examines the causes of violence against aid workers and the consequences of the approaches aid agencies use to protect themselves from attack. Based on more than a decade of research Aid in Danger explores the assumptions underpinning existing explanations of and responses to violence against aid workers. According to Fast most explanations of attacks locate the causes externally and maintain an image of aid workers as an exceptional category of civilians. The resulting approaches to security rely on separation and fortification and alienate aid workers from those in need, representing both a symptom and a cause of crisis in the humanitarian system. Missing from most analyses are the internal vulnerabilities exemplified in the everyday decisions and ordinary human frailties and organizational mistakes that sometimes contribute to the conditions leading to violence. This oversight contributes to the normalization of danger in aid work and undermines the humanitarian ethos. As an alternative Fast proposes a relational framework that captures both external threats and internal vulnerabilities. By uncovering overlooked causes of violence Aid in Danger offers a unique perspective on the challenges of providing aid in perilous settings and on the prospects of reforming the system in service of core humanitarian values.

New Statesman, 2003-04

Collapse of a Country Nicholas Coghlan, 2017-09-04 The first Canadian diplomat to be posted to war-torn Sudan. Nicholas Coghlan was a natural choice to lead Canada's representation in the new Republic of South Sudan soon after the country was founded in 2011. In late 2013 Coghlan and his wife Jenny were in the capital Juba when it erupted in gunfire and civil war pitted one half of the army against the other. Vice President Machar against President Kiir and the Nuer tribe against the Dinka. This action-focused narrative grounded by accounts of meetings with key leaders and travels throughout the dangerous impoverished hinterland of South Sudan explains what happened in December 2013 and why. In harrowing terms Collapse of a Country describes the ebb and flow of the war and the humanitarian tragedy that followed the Coghlan's scramble to evacuate South Sudanese Canadians from Juba and the well meant but often ill conceived attempts of the international community to mitigate the misery and bring peace back to a land that has rarely known it. Coghlan's stark narrative serves as a lesson to politicians, diplomats, aid workers and practitioners on the breakdown of governance and relationships between ethnic groups and the often decisive role of international development representatives. Fast paced and poignant, Collapse of a Country gives an insider's glimpse into the chaos, violence and ethnic conflicts that emerged out of a civil war that has been largely ignored by the West.
