Richmond,Alison Watson,2008-06-12 This special issue of Review of International Studies focuses on how International Relations IR communicates with the world and vice versa It opens up the discussion of the politics of communication within the discipline and beyond With a variety of different mediums ranging from media film memory music culture and emotions this book seeks to accentuate their importance for IR both as a source of knowledge and as an ideational exchange which shapes IR It examines the diverse ways that multidisciplinary thinkers try to understand and explain global routes mobilities cultures commodifications singularities discourses and aestheticisations This special issue specifically addresses three interrelated themes How international and global studies approach the question of communication how to conceptualise and respond to the globalisation of communication and how global problems get communicated within and across the institutional settings of the epistemic disciplines in general and the IR discipline in particular Joys and Sorrows of Imaginary Persons Donald Wesling, 2008-01-01 Joys and Sorrows of Imaginary Persons is a literary approach to consciousness where Donald Wesling denies that emotion is the scandal or handmaid of reason rather emotion is the co creator with reason of human life in the world Discoveries in neuro science in the 1990s Decade of the Brain have proven that thinking and feeling are wrapped with each other and regulate and fulfill each other Accepting this co creative equality we reveal a new role for literature or a traditional role we've repressed literature as a set of processes in time where we've thought feeling through stories about the lives of imaginary persons We need these stories in order to practice emotions for when we return to the world from reading Donald Wesling argues that to be more accurate in our dealings with stories we require a grammar of this new recognition where we build up traditional stylistics by a more careful tracking of emotion states as these are set into writing The first half of Joys and Sorrows of Imaginary Persons offers a creative stock taking of the current state of scholarship on emotion based on wide reading in several fields The second half gives three focused studies rich in examples of emotion as cognition as story and as historical structure of feeling Children Living in Sustainable Built Environments Pia

Christensen, Sophie Hadfield-Hill, John Horton, Peter Kraftl, 2017-12-06 Urban living has dramatically changed over the past generation refashioning children's relationships with the towns and cities in which they live and the modes of living within them Focusing on the global shift in urban planning towards sustainable urbanism from master planned sustainable communities to the green retrofitting of existing urban environments Children Living in Sustainable Built Environments offers a critical analysis of the challenges tensions and opportunities for children and young people living in these environments Drawing upon original data Children Living in Sustainable Built Environments demonstrates how the needs interests and participation of children and young people often remain inferior to the design planning and local politics of new urban communities Considering children from their crucial role as residents engaging and contributing to the vitalities of their community to their role as consumers using and understanding sustainable design features the book critically discusses the prospects of future inclusion of children and young people as a social group in sustainable urbanism Truly interdisciplinary Children Living in Sustainable Built Environments forms an original theoretical and empirical contribution to the understanding of the everyday lives of children and young people and will appeal to academics and students in the fields of education childhood studies sociology anthropology human geography and urban studies as well as policy makers architects urban planners and other professionals working on sustainable urban designs Post-Philosophical Sociology Richard Kilminster, 2023-07-31 In a hyper individualistic age and in the face of the narrowly focused policy oriented research ubiquitous in the social sciences this book revisits the humanistic world view that is integral to Norbert Elias's pre eminent figurational process sociology with the aim of increasing the fund of sociological knowledge that has the human condition as its horizon Clarifying the contentious post philosophical aspects in order to supplement standard histories of sociology with new insights it offers incisive evaluations of some of the bewildered attempts by prominent sociologists to diagnose the malaise of contemporary globalised society It also challenges the orthodox limitation of the empirical scope of sociology to modernity With its ominous warnings of the destructive prevalence of overcritique in the discipline and lack of in depth sociological psychology Post Philosophical Sociology will appeal to scholars of sociology psychoanalysis social philosophy cultural theory and social and political theory with interests in developmental and dynamic thinking and the history of the discipline traditional approaches to the analysis of sport Emotional Labour in Oral History Research Jennifer Harding, Verusca Calabria, 2025-02-13 Emotional Labour in Oral History Research critically appraises the many complex ways in which emotion management features in oral history research and its specific implications for the researcher. Uniquely, this volume draws on oral historians' personal accounts of conducting sensitive research and assesses the applicability of the term emotional labour to this work. It examines how oral historians may perform emotional labour, highlighting the often hidden emotional toll it takes on them. This volume considers how the emotionally taxing implications of conducting sensitive research may be exacerbated or mitigated by the institutional relations and contexts in which the researcher works. The authors evaluate recommendations from related disciplinary fields for ways of supporting researchers and consider how an ethics of care can be fostered in local research environments. Emotional Labour in Oral History Research engages critically with theories of emotion, conceptualisations of emotional labour, questions of power and positionality, an ethics of care, and debate on the impact of neoliberal ideas and policies on the higher education sector. This book will be of interest to all those using oral history to conduct sensitive research in all locations and at all career stages, including doctoral students, academics new to oral history, established oral historians, community-based oral historians, and qualitative researchers in adjacent disciplines.

Queer Attachments Sally R. Munt, 2017-09-29 Why is shame so central to our identity and to our culture? What is its role in stigmatizing subcultures such as the Irish, the queer, or the underclass? Can shame be understood as a productive force? In this lucid and passionately argued book, Sally R. Munt explores the vicissitudes of shame across a range of texts, cultural milieux, historical locations, and geographical spaces, from eighteenth-century Irish politics to Philip Pullman's His Dark Materials trilogy, from contemporary US academia to the aesthetics of Tracey Emin. She finds that the dynamics of shame are consistent across cultures and historical periods and that patterns of shame are disturbingly long-lived. But she also reveals shame as an affective emotion engendering attachments between bodies and between subjects, queer attachments. Above all, she celebrates the extraordinary human ability to turn shame into joy, the party after the fall. Queer Attachments is an interdisciplinary synthesis of cultural politics, emotions theory, and narrative that challenges us to think about the queerly creative proclivities of shame.

Using unique data taken from criminals locked in areas of permanent recession, the book aims to uncover feelings and attitudes towards a variety of criminal activities, investigating the incorporation of hearts and minds into consumer culture's surrogate social world and highlighting the relationship between the lived identities of active criminals and the socio-economic climate of instability and anxiety that permeates post industrial Britain This book will be of interest to undergraduates postgraduates researchers and lecturers in all fields within the social sciences but especially criminology sociology social policy politics and anthropology

Against Recognition Lois McNay,2008-02-04 In this book Lois McNay argues that the insights of the recognition theorists are undercut by their reliance on an inadequate account of power Studies in Symbolic Interaction Norman K. Denzin,2012-10-31 The essays in this bi annual series consist of original research and theory within the general sociological perspective known as symbolic interactionism Longer than conventional journal length articles the essays wed micro and macro concerns within a qualitative ethnographic autoethnographic and performance studies orientation Media and Public Spheres R. Tait,2011-11-16 Elephants lions tigers and leopards evoke fascination and awe fear and excitement This book analyzes trained acts in twentieth century live circus and cinema reveals how humans anthropomorphize animals with their emotions and interrogates the notion that animals embody a phenomenology of emotions and feelings in culture Organizing Reflection Michael Reynolds,2017-03-02 Through a series of leading edge contributions from pre eminent international scholars in the field Organizing Reflection makes a stimulating and distinctive contribution to the study of reflection By doing so it offers the first shift from the individual reflective practitioner to processes of collective and public reflection The unique and varied contributions focus on the development of notions such as public reflection collective reflection and critical reflection In doing so they provide critical insights into new thinking and approaches to the role of reflection in organizations as well as the conceptualization and delivery of learning and change Organizing Reflection will be of interest to scholars working in business professional management and organization studies to human development academics and to scholarly practitioners in organizations
