Empathetic Education:

Empathetic Education Mathew C. Cotton, Ronald S. Laura, 2025-04-25 The health of our global environment is increasingly affected by our technological advance rain rivers lakes forests soil climate all suffer at human hands Laura and Cotton suggest that the society committed to the technological transformation of the natural environment into an artificial one is also paradoxically a society committed to its own destruction Currently one of the major concerns of environmental education is to address this problem more concertedly than hitherto This book represents a radical departure from the traditional approach to environmental education It argues that the knowledge base behind current teaching is flawed and the resulting mind sets and attitudes are often counterproductive to the aims of environmental education Teaching with Empathy Lisa Westman, 2021-08-27 What does it mean to teach with empathy Whether it s planning and delivering instruction or just interacting with others throughout the day every action you take is an opportunity to demonstrate empathy toward your students your colleagues and yourself I m already empathetic to my students and their stories you may be thinking But a teacher s actions even unintentional and especially uninformed can be implicitly shaming compounding any disconnect students may already feel and undermining your efforts to create a safe and positive classroom environment Rather than try to identify who needs empathy start with the premise that all learners deserve empathy because it is a prerequisite for learning and growth In Teaching with Empathy Lisa Westman explores three types of empathy affective cognitive and behavioral and clarifies how they intertwine with curriculum learning environment equity practices instruction and assessment and grading and reporting Through her own experience as an instructional coach Westman shares tips and tools real world classroom examples powerful stories and even a bit of herself as she guides you to a better understanding of yourself and others Ultimately you ll learn what s possible when you let compassion and acceptance inform all aspects of your daily practice Compassion and Empathy in Educational Contexts Georgina Barton, Susanne Garvis, 2019-07-17 This book explores the importance of compassion and empathy within educational contexts While compassion and empathy are widely recognised as key to living a happy and healthy life there is little written about how these qualities can be taught to children and young people or how teachers can model these traits in their own practice This book shares several models of compassion and empathy that can be implemented in schooling contexts also examining how these qualities are presented in children s picture books films and games The editors and contributors share personal insights and practical approaches to improve both awareness and use of compassionate and empathetic approaches to others This book will be of interest and value to all those interested in promoting compassion and empathy within education Empathy in Education Bridget Cooper, 2011-09-15 Empathy in Education discusses the role of empathy in learning throughout all levels of education and its crucial relationship to motivation values development and achievement impacting from the micro to the macro levels of society Using initial research involving interviews with teachers and student teachers in many different contexts from nursery to sixth form lessons along side neuroscience psychology and educational research the author considers the intrinsic nature of affect and empathic human relationships in learning At a time when politicians are calling for personalized learning and the promotion of good citizenship but are still advocating an intensive rigid curriculum in large one size fits all classes this study highlights the inherent contradictions in rhetoric and practice Cooper offers a detailed study in empathy in teaching and learning which sheds light on the learning process in intricate detail and gives balance to the strong emphasis on mechanistic learning curriculum and cognition which has dominated the last twenty years of learning theory and sets a foundation for future research into affective and moral issues in learning

Humanities: Foregrounding Unheard Trends L. Santhosh Kumar, Barnashree Khasnobis, Sreedevi Santhosh, 2024-11-28

Health Humanities in contemporary times has enabled exploration of the unexplored chartered terrains in literary paradigms. Scholars in the field of Humanities and Sciences have been engaging with the praxis of applying concepts from both disciplines revising the approach towards Health Care and Humanities. Due to interdisciplinary and multidisciplinary methodologies of reading literary texts they have been reinforcing a paradigm shift from the conventional understanding of narratives in Literature and Health Care. Traditional discursive boundaries between the disciplines of Health and Humanities are collapsing due to a comprehensive and nuanced interpretation of the shared ontological foundation between the two. Humanism. Terminologies like Displacement, Dislocation and Disjunction unite Health and Humanities and they also make the unknown known. Health Humanities explores the different multitudes of narration in the literary arena and it represents diverse voices of literature. It also showcases the importance of re-reading a text owing to its autotelic status. The authors who have contributed chapters for this book have meticulously selected diverse texts and contexts embedded in the dynamism of Health Humanities. This book is an impetus for academicians from the field of Humanities and Sciences who desire to venture into new epistemes towards Health Humanities.

Pedagogical Love in Adult Education Elisabeth Vanderheiden, Claude-Hélène Mayer, Ana Maria F. Barcelos, 2025-04-30. This volume explores the concept of pedagogical love highlighting its role as a transformative force across diverse educational contexts, historical developments and its integration into educational systems. It provides both theoretical insights and methodological approaches to pedagogical love. The book opens with foundational chapters introducing the concept and progresses to situating it within frameworks such as decolonisation and critical pedagogy. It further examines its potential in teacher education addressing specific pedagogical domains such as second language acquisition and literacy as well as cultural contexts spanning Asia, Europe, Africa and the Americas. Moreover, the book investigates the implications of pedagogical love in current transformations and digitalisation with particular attention to fully digital environments and artificial intelligence. By offering a comprehensive overview and presenting innovative perspectives for research in adult education, this book serves as an essential resource for researchers, educators and practitioners. This edited collection delves into the transformative power of pedagogical love in adult education challenging conventional views of love as merely soft and personal. By exploring critical and decolonial perspectives, the book opens new avenues for research and practice advocating for love as a profound ethical and political force to confront social injustices and transform educational spaces. Bridging critical and decolonial approaches, this volume reimagines pedagogical love as a key to transformation in adult education. It moves beyond sentimental notions to show how love can address challenges like violence, colonialism and social inequity offering a renewed perspective on love's role in shaping the future of education. Michalinos Zembylas, Open University of Cyprus. Pedagogical love is the root and foundation of all adult education. Kaarina Mänttinen, Professor emerita, University of Lapland. Handbook of Ethical Educational Leadership Christopher M.

The Interdependence of Teaching and Learning Bryant Griffith, Douglas J. Loveless, 2013-03-01

The varied chapters of this book seek to capture the complexities of teaching and learning in today's schools and they share an interest in exploring the influences of knowledge construction in the moment and over time Teaching and learning are human processes interrelated and dynamic We assembled this collection to unpack what it means to teach and to learn teasing out some of the implications and challenges of such complicated educational processes that are often misconstrued as causal or linear As educators currently residing in the United States we find this a particularly pressing agenda given the current focus on common core standards and reducing teaching and learning to conceptual and pedagogical step by step procedures Our primary concern in putting together this book was to provide a conceptual and political foundation from which to construct and defend understandings and practices of teaching and learning that embody the complexity of educational endeavors and relationships The isolation of teaching from learning and the othering of both teachers and students one from the other suggests that knowledge is synonymous with information This book challenges such assumptions The project underlying this text can be seen as a means of rethinking how teachers and students perspectives of practice and curriculum influence what learning opportunities are provided to students Chapters written by established and new thinkers in the field of education demonstrate the ways in which teachers reformulate relationships between teaching and learning in school settings Our second objective is to examine local constructions of knowledge over time and how those constructions are consequential for teacher and student learning By examining patterns of practice and processes of knowledge construction in elementary secondary and undergraduate classrooms the authors of these chapters lay a foundation for examining commonalities and differences in the construction of knowledge and practices across educational levels disciplines and in school and out of school settings
