Progress in Self Psychology, V. 15 Arnold I. Goldberg,2013-06-17 Volume 15 of Progress in Self Psychology conveys the rich pluralism of contemporary self psychology with respect to a central theoretical and clinical issue the nature of the self and the manner in which it can best be studied This topic is initially addressed through a series of papers reassessing selfobject transferences and the selfobject function of interpretation It is then approached via the theory of psychoanalytic technique with papers that focus on boundaries and intimacy and on Surface Depth and the Isolated Mind And it culminates in two case studies that elicit animated discussion delineating different perspectives intersubjective motivational systems and self selfobject on the self in relation to the therapeutic process Two studies comparing Melanie Klein and Heinz Kohut a discussion of how current cultural attitudes affect parenting a relational view of the therapeutic partnership and an integration of Silvan Tomkin s affect theory with self psychology add breadth to this timely and provocative collection Volume 15 includes additional letters from the Kohut Archives and a moving account of Kohut s struggle with his own impending death

Progress in Self Psychology, V. 12 Arnold I. Goldberg,2013-06-17 Volume 12 of the Progress in Self Psychology series begins with reassessments of frustration and responsiveness optimal and otherwise by MacIsaac Bacal and Thomson the Shanes and Doctors The philosophical dimension of self psychology is addressed by Riker who looks at Kohut s bipolar theory of the self and Kriegman who examines the subjectivism objectivism dialectic in self psychology from the standpoint of evolutionary biology Clinical studies focus on self and mutual regulation in relation to therapeutic action countertransference and the curative process and the consequences of the negative selfobject in early character formation A separate section of child studies includes a case study exemplifying a self psychological approach to child therapy and an examination of pathological adaptation to childhood parent loss With a concluding section of richly varied studies in applied self psychology Basic Ideas Reconsidered promises to be basic reading for all students of contemporary self psychology Progress in Self

Psychology, V. 16 Arnold I. Goldberg, 2013-06-17 Volume 16 of Progress in Self Psychology How Responsive Should We Be illuminates the continuing tension between Kohut's emphasis on the patient's subjective experience and the post Kohutian intersubjectivists' concern with the therapist's own subjectivity by focusing on issues of therapeutic posture and degree of therapist activity Teicholz provides an integrative context for examining this tension by discussing affect as the common denominator underlying the analyst's empathy, subjectivity and authenticity Responses to the tension encompass the stance of intersubjective contextualism, advocacy of active responsiveness and emphasis on the thoroughgoing bidirectionality of the analytic endeavor Balancing these perspectives are a reprise on Kohut's concept of prolonged empathic immersion and a recasting of the issue of closeness and distance in the analytic relationship in terms of analysis of the tie to the negative selfobject Additional clinical contributions examine severe bulimia and suicidal rage as attempts at self-state regulation and address the self-reparative functions that inhere in the act of dreaming Like previous volumes in the series volume 16 demonstrates the applicability of self psychology to nonanalytic treatment modalities and clinical populations Here self psychology is brought to bear on psychotherapy with placed children, on work with adults with nonverbal learning disabilities and on brief therapy Rector's examination of twinship and religious experience Hagman's elucidation of the creative process and Siegel and Topel's experiment with supervision via the internet exemplify the ever-expanding explanatory range of self psychological insights

Progress in Self Psychology, V. 10 Arnold I. Goldberg, 2013-09-05 The tenth volume in the Progress in Self Psychology series begins with four timely assessments of the selfobject concept followed by a section of clinical papers that span the topics of homosexuality, alter ego, countertransference, hypnosis, trauma, dream theory and intersubjective approaches to conjoint therapy Section III A Dialogue of Self Psychology offers Merton Gill's astute appreciation of Heinz Kohut's Self Psychology followed by commentaries by Leider and Stolorow and Gill's reply The concluding section offers Stolorow and Atwood's The Myth of the Isolated Mind followed by discussions by Gehrie and the Shanes A forum for the kind of spirited, productive exchanges that have long found a home within the self psychological community A Decade of Progress builds on the past in responding to the theoretical and clinical challenges of the present

Individualism in Pastoral Care and Counseling Barbara J McClure, 2011-10-27 Despite astute critiques and available resources for alternative modes of thinking and practicing individualism continues to be a dominating and constraining ideology in the field of pastoral psychotherapy and counseling Philip Rieff was one of the first to highlight the negative implications of individualism in psychotherapeutic theories and practices As heirs and often enthusiasts of the Freudian tradition of which Rieff and others are critical pastoral theologians have felt the sting of his charge and yet the empirical research that McClure presents shows that pastoral counseling practitioners resist change Their attempts to overcome an individualistic perspective have been limited and ineffective because individualism is embedded in the field's dominant theological and theoretical resources practices and organizational arrangements Only a radical reappraisal of these will make possible pastoral counseling practices in a post individualistic mode McClure proposes several critical transformations broadening and deepening the operative theologies used to guide the healing practice expanding the role of the pastoral counselor reimagining the operative anthropology reclaiming sin and judgment nuancing the particular against the individual rethinking the ideal outcome of the practices and reimagining the organizational structures that support the practices Only this level of revisioning will enable this ministry of the church to move beyond its individualistic limitations and offer healing in more complex effective and socially adequate ways Restructuring Personality Disorders Jeffrey J.

Magnavita, 1997-02-28 Therapists working with personality disordered clients must contend with both the complex and often treatment refractory nature of the Axis II disorders themselves and the growing reluctance of third party payers to assume the costs of extended treatment Presenting a flexible short term dynamic model this book shows how to conduct successful therapies with this population The author synthesizes the work of pioneers in the field of short term therapy and adds components from a range of other approaches emphasizing active defense analysis and empathic affirmation of the client's core self With step by step guidelines and extensive case material the volume demonstrates how to bring about rapid and enduring changes in personality disordered clients Psychoanalytic Case Formulation Nancy McWilliams, 1999-03-26 What kinds of questions do experienced therapists ask themselves when facing a new client How can clinical expertise be taught From the author of the landmark Psychoanalytic Diagnosis this book takes clinicians step by step through developing an understanding of each client's unique psychology and using this information to guide and inform treatment decisions McWilliams shows that while seasoned practitioners rely upon established diagnostic categories for record keeping and insurance purposes their actual clinical concepts and practices reflect more inferential subjective and intuitive processes Interweaving illustrative case examples with theoretical insights and clinically significant research chapters cover assessment of client temperament developmental issues defenses affects identifications relational patterns self esteem needs and pathogenic beliefs Winner Grady Award National Association for the Advancement of Psychoanalysis
