Kessler, 2001-04 In around 400 B C Chinese states began to erect defensive walls along the northern border for the purpose of repelling the invasions of the often powerful groups of nomadic tribes of the Northern Asian steppelands Chinese archaeologists from Inner Mongolia have made truly astounding finds which are represented in this book They give insight into the critical role that the peoples of the north played in Chinese dynastic history These artifacts also assist us in tracing East West cultural diffusion along the Silk Road Relics from the collections of 10 Chinese museums toured North America in 1994 1995 This book is the catalog of that remarkable exhibit Color illustrations

Empires Beyond the Great Wall Adam Theodore Kessler, 1993 From around 400 B C on Chinese states began to erect defensive walls along portions of their northern border and in the third century B C the Qin dynasty constructed a Great Wall in large part by joining the older walls The purpose of all of these barriers was to repel the invasions of the diverse and often powerful groups of tribes of the north Asian steppe But the Great Wall is perhaps best understood as a demarcation of the frontier between two very different ways of life the agrarian existence of central China and the pastoral nomadism of the steppelands to the north Although we have learned much about the steppe empires from the accounts of the sedentary societies that struggled with them our knowledge has been greatly supplemented in recent years by the fieldwork of Chinese archaeologists in particular those from the Inner Mongolia Autonomous Region The truly astounding finds of the last several decades which are represented in this book give insight into the critical role that the ancient peoples of the north played in Chinese dynastic history These priceless and beautiful artifacts also assist us in tracing East West cultural diffusion along the Silk Road in the era prior to the perfecting of maritime travel As a result of collaboration between the Natural History Museum of Los Angeles County and the Inner Mongolia Museum of China relics from the collections of ten Chinese museums are touring North America in 1994 and 1995 Through examination of the gold bronze ceramic wood and textile objects from cultures that flourished from 2000 B C through the fourteenth century A D Dr Adam T Kessler curator of the exhibition and author of this book reveals the complicated and often ferocious interactions of the steppe peoples with their sedentary neighbors to the south and west The narrative gives perspective to the legends of the great Mongol leaders Genghis Khan and Kubilai Khan But it also shows that the Mongols were but the last in a long series of empires to emerge from beyond the Great Wall and were truly inheritors of a rich past BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved Genghis Khan and the Making of the Modern World Jack Weatherford, 2005-03-22 NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLER The startling true history of how one extraordinary man from a remote corner of the world created an empire that led the world into the modern age by the author featured in Echoes of the Empire Beyond Genghis Khan The Mongol army led by Genghis Khan subjugated more lands and people in twenty five years than the Romans did in four hundred. In nearly every country the Mongols conquered they brought an unprecedented rise in cultural communication, expanded trade and a blossoming of civilization. Vastly more progressive than his European or Asian counterparts, Genghis Khan abolished torture, granted universal religious freedom and smashed feudal systems of aristocratic privilege. From the story of his rise through the tribal culture to the explosion of civilization that the Mongol Empire unleashed, this brilliant work of revisionist history is nothing less than the epic story of how the modern world was made.

The Cambridge History of the Mongol Empire 2 Volumes Michal Biran, 2023-08-17. In the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries, Chinggis Khan and his progeny ruled over two thirds of Eurasia. Connecting East, West, North, and South, the Mongols integrated most of the Old World, promoting unprecedented cross-cultural contacts and triggering the reshuffle of religious, ethnic, and geopolitical identities. The Cambridge History of the Mongol Empire studies the Empire holistically in its full Eurasian context, putting the Mongols and their nomadic culture at the center. Written by an international team of more than forty leading scholars, this two-volume set provides an authoritative and multifaceted history of the Mongol Moment (1206-1368) in world history and includes an unprecedented survey of the various sources for its study, textual, written in sixteen languages, archaeological, and visual. This groundbreaking Cambridge History sets a new standard for future study of the Empire. It will serve as the fundamental reference work for those interested in Mongol, Eurasian, and world history.

Islamic Chinoiserie Yuka Kadoi, 2019-07-31. The Mongol invasion in the thirteenth century marked a new phase in the development of Islamic art. Trans-Eurasian exchanges of goods, people, and ideas were encouraged on a large scale under the auspices of the Pax Mongolica. With the fascination of portable objects brought from China and Central Asia, a distinctive hitherto unknown style, Islamic chinoiserie, was born in the art of Iran. Highly illustrated, Islamic Chinoiserie offers a fascinating glimpse into the artistic interaction between Iran and China under the Mongols. By using rich visual materials from various media of decorative and pictorial arts, textiles, ceramics, metalwork, and manuscript painting, the book illustrates the process of adoption and adaptation of Chinese themes in the art of Mongol-ruled Iran in a visually compelling way. The observation of this unique artistic phenomenon serves to promote the understanding of the artistic diversity of Islamic art in the Middle Ages Key Features Covers various media of decorative and pictorial arts from Iran Central Asia and China Deals with a diverse range of issues related to the East West artistic relationship in the Middle Ages Features in depth studies of style technique and iconography in Iranian art under the Mongols Includes 125 illustrations 24 in colour Fantastic Fauna from China to Crimea Petya Andreeva, 2024-03-05

Numerous Iron Age nomadic alliances flourished along the 5000 mile Eurasian steppe route From Crimea to the Mongolian grassland nomadic image making was rooted in metonymically conveyed zoomorphic designs creating an alternative ecological reality The nomadic elite nucleus embraced this elaborate image system to construct collective memory in reluctant diverse political alliances organised around shared geopolitical goals rather than ethnic ties Largely known by the term e animal stylee this zoomorphic visual rhetoric became so ubiquitous across the Eurasian steppe network that it transcended border regions and reached the heartland of sedentary empires like China and Persia This book shows how a shared fluency in animal style design became a status defining symbol and a bonding agent in opportunistic nomadic alliances and was later adopted by their sedentary neighbours to showcase worldliness and control over the e Other In this study of enormous geographical scope the author raises broader questions about the place of nomadic societies in the art historical canon

Socialising Complexity Sheila Kohring, Stephanie Wynne-Jones, 2007-11-30 Socialising Complexity introduces the concept of complexity as a tool rather than a category for understanding social formations This new take on complexity moves beyond the traditional concern with what constitutes a complex society and focuses on the complexity inherent in various social forms through the structuring principles created within each society The aims and themes of the book can thus be summarized as follows to introduce the idea of complexity as a tool which is pertinent to the understanding of all types of society rather than an exclusionary type of society in its own right to examine concepts that can enhance our interpretation of societal complexity such as heterarchy materialization and contextualization These concepts are applied at different scales and in different ways illustrating their utility in a variety of different cases to reestablish social structure as a topic of study within archaeology which can be profitably studied by proponents of both processual and post processual methodologies

Princely Gifts and Papal Treasures Lauren Arnold, 1999 Eden and the Fall - the Fallacies of Radical Ecological History, 1999 Radical ecology claims to be a new movement at the cutting edge of social change offering a solution to current social and ecological problems through the rejection of reformist ecological politics in favour of a radical restructuring of industrial and especially Western society The claim to have discovered the historical cause of current ecological and social problems plays a key role in validating this radical approach Although numerous interpretations of the historical origins of existing social and ecological problems exist within radical ecology three main variants have been identified This thesis critically examines the three main variants of radical ecological history the belief in primal harmony the belief in the civilisation of the goddess and its destruction by a Kurgan invasion and the view that the rise of capitalism and the mechanistic world view was responsible for the ecological and social crises of today In so doing it also examines a number of key questions central to radical ecological history when did violence and hierarchy begin in human history is it possible to argue that today s ecological crisis has a religious cause and can the scientific technological and commercial revolutions be truly described as purely Western phenomena The main findings of this thesis are that each of these variants of radical ecological history is chronically flawed In addition to numerous empirical errors each of these historical interpretations is based on an extremely simplistic Eurocentric reading of the past based on the use of archetypal stereotypes of good and evil that have little or no historical foundation While these interpretations of history vary profoundly they are all based on the same underlying model of history whose origins lie in the Judeo Christian apocalyptic tradition and ultimately in Zoroastrianism While some of the flaws of radical ecological history are a result of poor scholarship it is argued that it is the use of t
