As well as evaluating both application level and component level products, software engineers need to be concerned with the evaluation of development processes, engineering methods, and supplier organizations. However, both academics and practitioners are concerned about the cost and effectiveness of applying many of the existing assessment methods. One of the aims of the workshop was to address the question of justifying the use of empirical assessment and evaluation in software engineering, as well as to hear about practical experiences. Both this theme together with the other issues involved in evaluation were addressed through technical presentations and experience reports. Thus the workshop was a unique forum dedicated to the presentation and discussion of research and practical experiences addressing all aspects of empirical assessment and evaluation in software engineering. Proceedings, 11th ACM/IEEE International Symposium on Empirical Software Engineering and Measurement, 2017 Empirical methods and studies in software engineering Esem 12 Proceedings of the ACM - IEEE International Symposium on Empirical Software Engineering and Measurement Esem 12 Conference Committee, 2013-05-01 Proceedings of 6th International Conference in Software Engineering for Defence Applications Paolo Ciancarini, Manuel Mazzara, Angelo Messina, Alberto Sillitti, Giancarlo Succi, 2019-03-18 This book presents high quality original contributions on new software engineering models approaches methods and tools and their evaluation in the context of defence and security applications In addition important business and economic aspects are discussed with a particular focus on cost benefit analysis new business models organizational evolution and business intelligence systems The contents are based on presentations delivered at SEDA 2018 the 6th International Conference in Software Engineering for Defence Applications which was held in Rome Italy in June 2018 This conference series represents a targeted response to the growing need for research that reports and debates the practical implications of software engineering within the defence environment and also for software performance evaluation in real settings through controlled experiments as well as case and field studies The book will appeal to all with an interest in modeling managing and implementing defence related software development products and processes in a structured and supportable way
