Frame,2012-11-19 The economic crisis of 2008 2009 was a transformational event it demonstrated that smart people aren't as smart as they and the public think The crisis arose because a lot of highly educated people in high impact positions political power brokers business leaders and large segments of the general public made a lot of bad decisions despite unprecedented access to data highly sophisticated decision support systems methodological advances in the decision sciences and guidance from highly experienced experts How could we get things so wrong The answer says J Davidson Frame in Framing Decisions Decision Making That Accounts for Irrationality People and Constraints is that traditional processes do not account for the three critical immeasurable elements highlighted in the book's subtitle irrationality people and constraints Frame argues that decision makers need to move beyond their single minded focus on rational and optimal solutions as preached by the traditional paradigm They must accommodate a decision's social space and address the realities of dissimulation incompetence legacy greed peer pressure and conflict In the final analysis when making decisions of consequence they should focus on people both as individuals and in groups Framing Decisions offers a new approach to decision making that gets decision makers to put people and social context at the heart of the decision process It offers guidance on how to make decisions in a real world filled with real people seeking real solutions to their problems Wiley

Daniel Bloom,2020-06-09 One of the major discussions in the business world is How do we get our human capital assets more engaged in the organization Current Gallup Polls state that 85% of our employees are not engaged within their organizations Employee Empowerment fully analyzes this workplace condition which is a major concern for most CEOs The solution proposed by this book is the introduction of the TLS Theory of Constraints Lean Six Sigma Continuum Empowerment model which comprises three levels of empowerment Management Cross Functional Team and Individual The first is the empowerment that comes from upper management to the organization as a whole The second level is the empowerment that comes from the various cross functional teams and the final level is from the individuals themselves through their ability to take ownership in the processes in which they are involved The end solution in the book is that if we can get the human capital assets to take ownership of the processes that is empower the front line employees it will increase the level of engagement If they become more engaged they will empower the organization at all levels to introduce sustainable change management to resolve problems within the organization One of the tools of individual empowerment is the use of the Six Sigma toolbox This book makes the case that when human capital assets take ownership of the processes then we have greater engagement and thus a more empowered organization
