An Annotated Timeline of Operations Research An Informal History recounts the evolution of Operations Research OR as a new science the science of decision making Arising from the urgent operational issues of World War II the philosophy and methodology of OR has permeated the resolution of decision problems in business industry and government The Timeline chronicles the history of OR in the form of self contained expository entries Each entry presents a concise explanation of the events and people under discussion and provides key sources where further relevant information can be obtained In addition books and papers that have influenced the development of OR or helped to educate the first generations of OR academics and practitioners are cited throughout the book Starting in 1564 with seminal ideas that form the precursors of OR the Timeline traces the key ideas and events of OR through 2004 The Timeline should interest anyone involved in OR researchers practitioners academics and especially students who wish to learn how OR came into being Further the scope and expository style of the Timeline should make it of value to the general reader interested in the development of science and technology in the last half of the twentieth century

Operations Research for Health Planning and Administration Stephen J. Duckett, 2012-12-06

Operations research aims to assist managers faced with problems of coordinating activities improving the quality of care of services delivered making optimal resource allocation decisions and generally managing services and institutions Operations research or O R was originally developed in response to the problems of the second World War It was characterised then by a unifying and clear objective clear problems that had to be solved and the use of inter disciplinary teams to analyse and solve identified problems This analysis often drew on mathematical techniques After the war operations research moved in two separate but related directions In England the emphasis on inter disciplinary approaches and problem solving teams remained The operations researcher still used mathematical techniques but these were not systematised into a volume of standard formulae The emphasis of operations research was on the approach not the tools used see for example Luckman also Luck Luckman Smith and McLachlan 1975 In the United States the emphasis was placed on the use of mathematical techniques Operations research became a mathematically based science relying on standardised models e g queuing allocation and formulae This approach was facilitated by the availability of computers

Simulation and the Monte Carlo Method Reuven Y. Rubinstein, 2009-09-25 This book provides the first simultaneous coverage of the statistical aspects of simulation and Monte Carlo methods their commonalities and their differences for the solution of a wide spectrum of engineering and scientific problems It contains standard material usually considered in Monte Carlo simulation as well as new material such as variance reduction techniques regenerative simulation and Monte Carlo optimization Handbook of Systems Analysis Hugh J. Miser, Edward S. Quade, 1985 This handbook provides a step by step description of the systems analysis process from the initial recognition and formulation of the problem through the intermediate steps of an analysis to the final steps of implementing the chosen solutions and assessing their results Routing, Flow, and Capacity Design in Communication and Computer Networks Michal Pioro, Deep Medhi, 2004-07-21 In network design the gap between theory and practice is woefully broad This book narrows it comprehensively and critically examining current network design models and methods You will learn where mathematical modeling and algorithmic optimization have been under utilized At the opposite extreme you will learn where they tend to fail to contribute to the twin goals of network efficiency and cost savings Most of all you will learn precisely how to tailor theoretical models to make them as useful as possible in practice Throughout the authors focus on the traffic demands encountered in the real world of network design Their generic approach however allows problem formulations and solutions to be applied across the board to virtually any type of backbone communication or computer network For beginners this book is an excellent introduction For seasoned professionals it provides immediate solutions and a strong foundation for further advances in the use of mathematical modeling for network design Written by leading researchers with a combined 40 years of industrial and academic network design experience Considers the development of design models for different technologies including TCP IP IDN MPLS ATM SONET SDH and WDM Discusses recent topics such as shortest path routing and fair bandwidth assignment in IP MPLS networks Addresses proper multi layer modeling across network layers using different technologies for example IP over ATM over SONET IP over WDM and IDN over SONET Covers restoration oriented design methods that allow recovery from failures of large capacity transport links and transit nodes Presents at the end of each chapter exercises useful to both students and practitioners Progress in Computing, Analytics and Networking Prasant Kumar Pattnaik, Siddharth Swarup Rautaray, Himansu Das, Janmenjoy Nayak, 2018-04-10 The book focuses to foster new and original research ideas and results in three broad areas computing analytics and networking with its prospective applications in the various interdisciplinary domains of engineering This is an exciting and emerging interdisciplinary area in which a wide range of theory and methodologies are being investigated and developed to tackle complex and challenging real world problems It also provides insights into the International Conference on Computing Analytics and Networking ICCAN 2017 which is a premier international open forum for scientists researchers and technocrats in academia as well as in industries from different parts of the world to present interact and exchange the state of art of concepts prototypes innovative research ideas in several diversified fields The book includes invited keynote papers and paper presentations from both academia and industry to initiate and ignite our young minds in the meadow of momentous research and thereby enrich their existing knowledge The book aims at postgraduate students and researchers working in the discipline of Computer Science Engineering It will be also useful for the researchers working in the domain of electronics as it contains some hardware technologies and forthcoming communication technologies

Programming in Networks and Graphs Ulrich Derigs, 2013-11-11 Network flow and matching are often treated separately in the literature and for each class a variety of different algorithms has been developed These algorithms are usually classified as primal dual primal dual etc The question the author addresses in this work is that of the existence of a common combinatorial principle which might be inherent in all those apparently different approaches It is shown that all common network flow and matching algorithms implicitly follow the so called shortest augmenting path This can be interpreted as a greedy like decision rule where the optimal solution is built up through a sequence of local optimal solutions The efficiency of this approach is realized by combining this myopic decision rule with an anticipant organization The approach of this work is organized as follows For several standard flow and matching problems the common solution procedures are first reviewed It is then shown that they all reduce to a common basic principle that is they all perform the same computational steps if certain conditions are set properly and ties are broken according to a common rule Recognizing this near equivalence of all commonly used algorithms the question of the best method has to be modified all methods are only different implementations of the same algorithm obtained by different views of the problem

Applications of Generalized Nets Krassimir T. Atanasov, 1993 This book discusses some applications of Generalized Nets GNs They include the functioning and results of the work of expert systems flexible manufacturing systems neuron networks computers medical transportation chemical and other processes Processes can be simulated controlled and optimized on the basis of these GNs A program package for GNs PPGN is described

Elements of Simulation

Byron J.T. Morgan, 2018-12-13 The use of simulation in statistics dates from the start of the 20th century coinciding with the beginnings of radio broadcasting and the invention of television Just as radio and television are now commonplace in our everyday lives simulation methods are now widely used throughout the many branches of statistics as can be readily appreciated from reading Chapters 1 and 9 The book has grown out of a fifteen hour lecture course given to third year mathematics undergraduates at the University of Kent and it could be used either as an undergraduate or a postgraduate text Simulation may either be taught as an operational research tool in its own right or as a mathematical method which cements together different parts of statistics and which may be used in a variety of lecture courses In the last three chapters indications are made of the varied uses of simulation throughout statistics Alternatively simulation may be used to motivate subjects such as the teaching of distribution theory and the manipulation of random variables and Chapters 4 and 5 especially will hopefully be useful in this respect

Essays and Surveys on Multiple Criteria Decision Making P.

Hansen, 2012-12-06 The Fifth International Conference on Multiple Criteria Decision Making not surprisingly had several objectives First it aimed at being a forum for exchange and intensive discussion of recent ideas on theory and practice of MCDM following the now well established tradition of the previous meetings in the series organized by H Thiriez and S Zionts in Jouy en Josas 1975 S Zionts in Buffalo 1977 G Fandel and T Gal in Hagen Konigswinter 1979 and J Morse in Newark 1980 Second closer contacts were desired between participants in these meetings and other active groups in the field prominent among which is the European Working Group on Multiple Criteria Decision Aid Third participation of senior or junior researchers who had recently developed important new methodologies such as the Analytical Hierarchy Process was actively sought for Fourth a synthesis of the rapidly expanding field of MCDM was to be made through selective surveys by leading researchers in the various areas it comprises Fifth cross fertilization and multidisciplinary research was to be encouraged through presentations on the connections between MCDM and mathematics economics game theory computer science and other subjects Sixth much emphasis was to be given to real world applications of MCDM particularly large scale ones and or pioneering work in new fields The present volume reflects the general agreement observed among participants that these goals were largely attained
