Hawker Siddeley Aviation and Dynamics Stephen Skinner, 2014-07-31 Hawker Siddeley's history can be traced back to 1912 and the formation of the Sopwith Aviation Company by Tom Sopwith which metamorphosed into Hawker Aircraft after World War One. In 1934-35 Gloster Avro Armstrong Siddeley Armstrong Whitworth and others were taken over to create the Hawker Siddeley Group. The Group built some of the most important aircraft and missiles of the 1960s, 1970s and beyond. Its best known products included the Harrier, Buccaneer, Nimrod and Hawk warplanes, Sea Dart missile and HS748 airliner. Its collaborative projects included the European Airbus and various satellite programmes. Hawker Siddeley was subsumed into British Aerospace in 1977 but some of its products still remain in service to this day. This is their story illustrated with over 400 colour and black white photographs many of them previously unpublished. Air University Periodical Index, 1958

From these humble beginnings in the 1930s it has become Britain's second airport with 34 million passengers a year passing through the terminals and this despite it having only a single runway. This lavishly illustrated volume traces its extraordinary early history including its varied and valuable wartime service under the auspices of the RAF its subsequent redevelopment in the 1950s and its emergence in the 1960s and beyond after considerable struggles as the bustling modern airport familiar to so many travellers today. It is an unashamedly nostalgic look at this historic airport its hardworking staff and the iconic planes that have passed through it. BEAline to the Islands Phil Lo Bao, Iain Hutchison, 2002 Indian Skyways; the Aviation Journal of Asia, 1959 World Survey of Civil Aviation United States.
