Ceramic Products Cyclopedia, with Material and Equipment Catalog Frederick Louis Steinhoff,1928 The History of Chinese Ceramics Lili Fang,2023-05-23 Adopting the perspective of anthropology of art and combining it with global academic insights this book helps the readers to recognize that history is in great measure the record of human activity which spreads from the local to the regional from the regional to the global and from the global to the universal Readers will learn that China was not only the first country to create porcelain but also the first to export it to the world both the products and its techniques Therefore the history of Chinese ceramics reflects the history of Chinese foreign trade on the one hand and depicts the expansion of Chinese ceramic techniques and cultures on the other. In addition to ceramics types, molds, decoration and techniques, the book analyzes the spiritual impacts and aesthetic conceptions embodied in the utensils of daily use by the Chinese literati. Therefore, it reaches the conclusion that ideological systems and not technological systems are what bring about social revolutions. In addition, the book is richly illustrated with pictures of earthenware and finely glazed pieces from later periods.

The Ceramic Narrative Matthias Ostermann, 2006-07-06. The Ceramic Narrative is an exploration of past and present ceramic iconography concerned with the depiction of narratives or with images meant to be thought provoking beyond the merely decorative. The book is beautifully illustrated with an extensive variety of work from history and the present day, showing how many contemporary artists continue this tradition with modern interpretations. Examining ancient Greece, the ceramic imagery of the Maya culture, the ceramics of China, Persia, and Japan, European tin glaze traditions, and the narrative imagery appearing on later European porcelains, Matthias Ostermann attempts wherever possible not only to present ceramic narratives in their cultural and historical contexts but also to refer to some of the older myths and sources that may have served as inspiration. Applied arts writer David Whiting contributes an essay on the development of ceramic narratives in the twentieth century, while illustrations present the work of more than 75 contemporary international ceramic artists who explore narrative in distinctive and different ways. These include the exploration of mythologies and existing stories, personal visions, private stories, and memory, the human figure, relationships, and identity, political and social commentary, and finally, the ceramic object itself seen as message and metaphor. This book will serve as a beginning for further study of this fascinating and little explored subject and as a celebration of the work of all ceramic artists whose passion is the ceramic narrative.

Giftwares, 1927 Rice Bowls in the Delta Julia G. Costello, Mary L. Maniery, 1988-07-30. The artifacts recovered from the Walnut Grove are a significant addition to the research of the late nineteenth and early twentieth century Asian material culture. Of particular significance is the large collection of recovered Japanese ceramics deposited en masse following a devastating fire in 1915; they represent the table wares used by Walnut Grove's Japanese residents from ca. 1896 to 1915. Primarily products of the Meiji Period's technological revolution, these inexpensive porcelains have been largely overlooked in studies of Japanese pottery.

Early Homes, 2010. Now in its sixth year, Early Homes is a biannual special edition that focuses on the period 1690-1850 and its revivals, including Colonial and Neoclassical design. Each issue contains lavish photos and plenty of product sources.
