Phineas Bond Joanne Loewe Neel, 2016-11-11 Seven years of war forced a reluctant mother country to recognize the independence of the thirteen American colonies With the signing of the treaty at Paris on the 3rd of September 1783 the rebellion came to a formal end and a new state entered the family of nations But the resulting peace stopped short of men s minds and spirits There was no binding up of wounds nor forgetting of past injuries On the contrary hatred persisted and if anything intensified On both sides of the Atlantic a nurturing of grievances of suspicions and of jealousies continued For over thirty years Britons and Americans viewed one another with a jaundiced eye until a second peace treaty this time at Ghent in 1814 brought to a formal close a second Anglo American war In the midst of this long drawn out conflict moved Phineas Bond Esq He reached the age of reason in Philadelphia before the outbreak of the War for Independence and was politically active in Pennsylvania from the beginning of what he called the Time of Troubles He played a role as an American Tory albeit a brief one in the Revolution itself and with thousands of other Loyalists sought asylum in England During a seemingly endless exile he became one of the most trusted attorneys of those British merchants in the Atlantic trade to whom Americans owed vast sums of money Three years after the Peace of Paris Bond returned to Philadelphia as His Britannic Majesty's consul to the middle states and as a representative of the merchants There he remained serving king and traders until the eve of the War of 1812 Although occupying comparatively minor posts Bond became a microcosm of his time His thoughts and work his dreams and hopes his experiences and convictions point up the era between the two wars for American independence

Therapeutic Approaches Touqeer Ahmed,Nady Braidy,2023-09-01 Oxidative stress plays multiple roles in the pathobiology of several neurodegenerative disorders and Alzheimer s disease in particular Increased oxidative stress in the brain is suggested to be associated with aging greater amounts of easily oxidizable unsaturated fatty acids higher utilization of oxygen by the brain mitochondrial derived free radicals calcium homeostasis and glutamate induced excitotoxicity Moreover environmental chemicals toxins heavy metals and an imbalanced diet might increase oxidative stress potentially leading to a decrease in cognitive functions Cellular health is also dependent on the levels of nicotinamide adenine dinucleotide NAD It has been well documented that NAD is an important coenzyme for over 400 different oxidoreductases and turns out to be a relevant factor to the oxidative stress in the brain Since the last two decades NAD has been shown to be more than a mere regulator of metabolism but rather may play a key role in the aging process NAD along with sirtuins are important for various neurophysiological functions and depletion of NAD may be associated with compromised physiological and cognitive functions To protect the brain from oxidative stress a modest endogenous protective system works in the brain through dedicated enzymatic machinery Key enzymes are superoxide dismutase and catalase which provide protection against oxidative stress Aging various neurological disorders and chronic inflammation might also affect the levels of these protective enzymes and reduce their levels Natural compounds including polyphenols can offer protection through NAD and various other mechanisms Based on these factors it is becoming more and more clear that oxidative stress and its devastating effects on cognitive decline represents a major health issue in neurobiology There is a need to identify potential compounds and therapeutic targets for mitigating oxidative stress and or to strengthen the protective endogenous mechanisms Novel approaches aiming to support and provide protective mechanisms in the brain will represent a great success in therapeutics We welcome all article types focusing on the analysis and investigation of oxidative stress originated from different sources and its impairing effects on the brain We will also accept studies investigating naturally occurring compounds standard medications and nutraceuticals that have an impact on oxidative stress NAD metabolism and medical and health applications For this the aim of this Research Topic is to provide novel insights on oxidative stress induced by any mechanism impact on brain health and on the strengthening of brain protective mechanisms supporting cognitive functions
