Matas, Dr. Lutz D. Schmadel, Gert Zech, 2013-11-09 Astronomy and Astrophysics Abstracts which has appeared in semi annual volumes since 1969 is devoted to the recording summarizing and indexing of astronomical publications throughout the world It is prepared under the auspices of the International Astronomical Union according to a resolution adopted at the 14th General Assembly in 1970 Astronomy and Astrophysics Abstracts aims to present a comprehensive documenta tion of literature in all fields of astronomy and astrophysics Every effort will be made to ensure that the average time interval between the date of receipt of the original literature and publication of the abstracts will not exceed eight months This time interval is near to that achieved by monthly abstracting journals compared to which our system of accumu lating abstracts for about six months offers the advantage of greater convenience for the user Volume 32 contains literature published in 1982 and received before February 11 1983 some older literature which was received late and which is not recorded in earlier volumes is also included We acknowledge with thanks contributions to this volume by Dr J Bou a Prague who surveyed journals and publications in Czech and supplied us with abstracts in English Handbuch Der Physik Siegfried Flügge, Julius Bartels, 1967 Geophysik II / Geophysics II, 2012-12-06 45 downwards because j on the average increases with height but this conclusion does not follow from 18 3 when the dependency of Kc upon o is taken into consideration s 2 ERTELL and PRIESTLEY and SWINBANK have shown that the upward eddy flux of sensible heat must be larger than indicated by 18 3 because this formula does not account for the fact that rising eddies are systematically warmer than sinking eddies because of the effect of buoyancy The reader is referred to the reviews by SUTTON 22 23 and PRIESTLEY and SHEP PARD 15 for further details concerning eddy flux of heat and turbulent diffusion 19 RICHARDSON S criterion The right hand side of 15 10 represents the rate of production of eddy energy The last term represents energy loss by dissipation in order that the eddy energy shall be maintained it is therefore necessary that $P \text{ div } V \nabla v \text{ grad } v \cdot O$ Geophysik III / Geophysics III Ja. Preparative Organic Photochemistry Alexander Schönberg, 2012-12-06 Abridged and translated Organic photochemistry may be divided into three parts theory which is the province of the physical chemist instrumentation which requires the skill of both physicist and engineer and preparation which falls within the sphere of the organic chemist At one time the same person could cover all three fields without too much difficulty but this has now become virtually impossible because the disciplines involved have expanded in both breadth and depth it is therefore timely to have a separate treatment of preparative organic photochemistry There appears to be no review of the main photochemical reactions which includes the advances made in recent years available to the organic chemist working in the preparative field An exception is the excellent Photochemical Reactions by C R MASSON V BOEKELHEIDE and W A NoYES JR published in 1956 which gives a brief review of the reactions which are important in preparative organic photochemistry The present monograph on the other hand seeks to provide a detailed survey for the chemist the author does not set out to discuss every photochemical reaction in the field of organic chemistry but he does include in addition to those of current interest in the preparative field some which are likely to be of interest in the future and which result in single end products of known composition The photochemical synthesis of highly polymerized products falls outside the scope of the work Elementary Seismology
