Handley Page Halifax:

Handley Page Halifax K. A. Merrick, 2009 The name Handley Page had been associated with the building of bomber aircraft since World War 1 thus it was no surprise that in 1936 the British Air Staff awarded the company with a development contract for another new aircraft Four out of every ten heavy bombers built in Great Britain were Halifaxes and together with the Avro Lancaster they shared the RAF's strategic night bombing offensive from 1941 through to the ultimate crescendo in 1944 Though perhaps not as shapely as the Lancaster its deeper and more spacious slab sided fuselage made it more suitable for a much wider variety of roles The type served with RAF Bomber Command on high and low level attacks over occupied Europe and Germany as well as undertaking radar counter measures It was used for Coastal Command on anti submarine and shipping attacks and also on the much overlooked but critical meteorological duties such as making the historic D Day weather analysis During the war years the Halifax flew 75 532 bombing sorties over Germany dropping over 227 610 tons of bombs In total 6 176 Halifax machines were built undergoing continuous development and improvement through the years Post war it operated on Transport and Coastal Command duties and served in Europe the Middle East and India before finally leaving RAF service in 1953 The Halifax was a much loved aircraft by the crews who flew in it as it was able to absorb considerable battle damage and still manage to bring airmen safely back home it had the highest survival rate for aircrew Within these pages Ken Merrick has written an immense study of the impressive Handley Page Halifax setting out to prove that the type for its time was a bomber second to none This detailed work is the fruit of many years of research including much new information about the development design and service of the aircraft and will be essential reading for aviation modellers and historians worldwide

Handley Page Halifax Anthony L. Stachiw, Andrew Tattersall, 2005 The Handley Page Halifax along with the Avro Lancaster and the Short Stirling was one of the three heavy bombers employed by The Royal Air Force Bomber Command in its aerial offensive against the Axis in W W II Although overshadowed by the legendary Lancaster the Halifax played a major role in the night bombing campaign in antisubmarine operations meteorological reconnaissance transport and towing gliders in airborne operations In all over 6 000 Halifax aircraft were produced and these were flown in over 75 000 missions It served from 1941 until finally retired in 1952 At one time during their service in the RAF Bomber Command all 15 RCAF Bomber Squadrons and three Heavy Conversion Units were equipped with the Halifax several operating only the Halifax Although some squadrons began reequipping with the Lancaster beginning in late 1943 the Halifax was the mainstay of these squadrons from 1942 to the end of the war in night bombing and mine laying operations This book documents the development of the Halifax aircraft from its inception during the expansion of the RAF Bomber Command in the late 1930s until production ended in 1946 Its service with RCAF 6 Group of Bomber Command and its operations with all 15 RCAF Squadrons is related with representative photographs A complete description of each version of the aircraft is presented along with accurate multi view line drawings and photographs The aircraft defensive and offensive armament is described as well as color schemes and markings Finally a chapter is dedicated to modeling the Halifax with descriptions of kits and decal markings that have been produced This book will be a worthy addition to the collection of the historian to the modeler and for those who served in the Halifax squadrons or their families The Handley Page Halifax Mk. I Phil H. Listemann,2015-01-08 From before the end of the Great War the United Kingdom had coveted long range bombers that were able to bomb the continent Bomber Command formed in 1936 was a major and vital organisation within the RAF While the twin engine Vickers Wellington was about to be introduced a new generation of four engine bombers was already under development The concept was not new but in the middle of the 1930s technological progress with engines and airframe materials gave the opportunity for many air forces to develop their long range bombers It was also a matter of prestige as the long range bomber also known as the strategic bomber was not accessible to all In the middle of the 30s the USA and Germany had various projects under way and even Italy joined in When the war broke out the UK had two projects of strategic bombers on the table the Short Stirling and the Handley Page Halifax Built in small numbers less than 100 of the global production of over 6000 copies the Halifax Mk I despite its shortcomings was the first but the essential step to allow the Halifax to reach maturity goal achieved in 1943 only This study is rich of photographs appendices document and two colour profiles The Hercules Gordon A. Alexander,2013-04-11 This book is the definitive study of the life and works of one of Britain s most important inventors who due to a cruel set of circumstances has all but been overlooked by history Alan Dower Blumlein led an extraordinary life in which his inventive output rate easily surpassed that of Edison but whose early death during the darkest days of World War Two led to a shroud of secrecy which has covered his life and achievements ever since His 1931 Patent for a Binaural Recording system was so revolutionary that most of his contemporaries regarded it at as more than 20 years ahead of its time Even years after his death the full magnitude of its detail had not been fully utilized Among his 128 Patents are the principle electronic circuits critical to the development of the world s first electronic television system During his short working life Blumlein produced patent after patent breaking entirely new ground in electronic and audio engineering During the Second World War Alan Blumlein was deeply engaged in the very secret work of radar development and contributed enormously to the system eventually to become H2S blind bombing radar Tragically during an experimental H2S flight in June 1942 the Halifax bomber in which Blumlein and several colleagues were flying crashed and all aboard were killed He was just days short of his 39th birthday For many years there have been rumours about a biography of Alan Blumlein yet none has been forthcoming This is the world s first study of a man whose achievements should rank among those of the greatest Britain has produced This book provides detailed knowledge of every one of his patents and the process behind them while giving an in depth study of the life and times of this quite extraordinary man The Crucible of War, 1939-1945
