

A close-up, low-angle shot of a woman's face and neck. She is wearing a wide-brimmed black hat that casts a shadow over her eyes. Her hair is blonde and styled in loose waves. She is wearing a multi-strand pearl necklace. The background is dark and out of focus, showing the faint outlines of a city skyline with a bridge and a tower.

Written Culture in a Colonial Context Adrien Delmas, Nigel Penn, 2012-01-20 Exploring the extent to which the control over the materiality of writing has shaped the numerous and complex processes of cultural exchange from the 16th century onwards this book introduces the specifities of written culture anchored in colonial contexts Interiors and Narrative Estela Vieira, 2012-12-17 Interiors and Narrative shows how crucial interiors are for our understanding of the nature of narrative A growing cultural fascination with interior dwelling so prevalent in the late nineteenth century parallels an intensification of the rhetorical function interior architecture plays in the development of fiction The existential dimension of dwelling becomes so intimately tied to the novelistic project that fiction surfaces as a way of inhabiting the world This study illustrates this through a comparative reading of three realist masterpieces of the Luso Hispanic nineteenth century Machado de Assis's Quincas Borba 1891 Eça de Queirós's The Maias 1888 and Leopoldo Alas's La Regenta 1884 1885 The first full length study to juxtapose the renowned writers Interiors and Narrative analyzes the authors spatial poetics while offering new readings of their work The book explores the important links between interiors and narrative by explaining how rooms furnishings and homes function as metaphors for the writing of the narrative reflecting on the complex relation between private dwellings and human interiority and arguing that the interior design of rooms becomes a language that gives furnishings and decorative objects a narrative life of their own The story of homes and furnishings in these narratives creates a semiotic language that both readers and characters rely on in order to make sense of fiction and reality
