Smithurst, 2024-12-31 Examines the shift from hand craft to mechanized firearm production focusing on the French Model 1777 and Russian Model 1808 muskets A variety of factors surround military firearms they needed to be produced in large numbers to a standardised pattern at an affordable price This book examines the transition from traditional hand craft methods to the beginnings of mechanised manufacture using as examples the French Model 1777 and the Russian Model 1808 infantry muskets A number of factors led to this choice The French Model 1777 musket designed by Honor Blanc working under General Gribeauval contained many novel features which became blueprints for the arms of numerous countries and was copied in its entirety by Russia Another factor is that they are the only firearms whose manufacture is covered in contemporary accounts A third factor is that they provide contrasts in their methods of manufacture the French 1777 musket was largely produced by hand craft methods whereas in Russia we see the beginnings of extensive mechanisation in the early 19th century Another important aspect which appears is interchangeability the ability to exchange identical parts of identical mechanism without special adjustment This is a vital factor at the foundation of modern manufacturing and first appears in early 18th century France was pursued again by Blanc in 1777 and was picked up in Russia For the first time all these technologies are examined explained compared and contrasted in extensive detail

Artifacts of the Spanish Colonies of Florida and the Caribbean, 1500-1800 Kathleen Deagan, 2023-08-08 This long awaited follow up to Deagan's first volume on ceramics glassware and beads focuses on the portable personal objects owned and used by the residents of Spanish colonial America These objects are not only of Spanish origin the collection includes many English French Dutch German Italian and American pieces as well Deagan not only provides an authoritative source of identification for these items but also draws extensively on colonial documents travel accounts paintings and museum collections as well as other contemporary sources to suggest specific functions of the items and the meanings they held for the people who used them She documents and demonstrates how the objects were made and exchanged in the Americas and explores how they embody Hispanic cultural identities attitudes and belief systems

Engineering the Revolution Ken Alder, 2010-04-15 Engineering the Revolution documents the forging of a new relationship between technology and politics in Revolutionary France and the inauguration of a distinctively modern form of the technological life Here Ken Alder rewrites the history of the eighteenth century as the total history of one particular artifact the gun by offering a novel and historical account of how material artifacts emerge as the outcome of political struggle By expanding the political to include conflict over material objects this volume rethinks the nature of engineering rationality the origins of mass production the rise of meritocracy and our interpretation of the Enlightenment and the French Revolution
