

POETRY ESSAY

Question:

Analyse the following poem. Your response must include detailed discussion of how meanings are shaped in the poem.

'To My Daughter In A Red Coat' by Anne Stevenson, seems to be a free verse and reflective poem regarding a parent who is looking back on a memory of when they took their daughter on a walk through the park. The poem conveys, using simple language, how much life and energy the daughter brings into the parent's world, an overwhelming amount. The poem is written in the present tense even though the memory is in the past, it seems as if the mother is reliving the memory. However, this is juxtaposed by the restrictive structure of the poem, which creates the idea of the speaker's emotions being more complex than the reader initially thinks.

In her poem, Stevenson presents life to be unmeaningful and bland. Life seems to be uninteresting until her daughter arrives. The parent seems to view life in a very restrictive way, shown through the language which is quite blunt and unfriendly. The language doesn't coax the reader into the poem, which is seen through the opening line: 'Late October. It is afternoon.' The language feels mechanical, almost as if the speaker is just saying the necessary details to fill the reader in as fast as possible. There appears to be no real significance or meaning to the words, which could reflect their dull view on life. The tone seems robotic and cold; it isn't a warm poem as what the reader may expect from a
