Literature of Same-Sex Love Michael G. Cornelius,2016-10-21 The narrative re tellings of the life reign and death of the English King Edward II reigned 1307 1327 present a unique opportunity for scholars of sexuality in the early modern era This is because the works of authors like Christopher Marlowe Michael Drayton Sir Francis Hubert Elizabeth Cary and Richard Niccols were all inspired by the public cultural memory fashioned from Edward s same sex love affair with Piers Gaveston As such each of them presents a particular representation of and a specific discourse about male male sexual relations in the Renaissance In other words what these works present is a concentrated body of literature about same sex love in the early modern era works that openly and frankly explore the possible origins of the love the reasons and causes for it works that explore the ramifications of male male romantic relationships works that explore the sexual politics and sociocultural dynamics of same sex romantic partnerships and works that describe and denote same sex love from an English Renaissance perspective This study looks at each of the major Renaissance texts about Edward II and examines the means through which each text understands and analyzes the nature of male male same sex love From Marlowe s crafting of a lover identity for Edward to Drayton s obsession with Marlowe s version of gay history from Hubert s Augustinian construction of Edward s nature to Cary s identification with the fallen king to Niccols inspired exemplum what each of these works demonstrates is that the love that dare not speak its name would not be silenced at least not in the case of Edward and Gaveston When one sees the name Edward II one also sees his same sex loves The correlation has become ingrained into our public recall of history Thus as far as the world is concerned Edward II was and ever will be the gay king      Encyclopedia of

and Enlightenment but only rarely are they direct and unambiguous The essays here are engaged in a vital and necessary process of re historicizing and re contextualizing literature Utilizing a variety of critical methods and proceeding from several different theoretical and ideological presuppositions these essays raise important questions about the methodology of gay studies about the conception of same sex desire about the depiction of homoerotics and about the relationship of sexuality and textuality even as they shed new light on the homosexual import of a number of significant works of literature Among the authors studied are Christopher Marlowe William Shakespeare John Donne Lady Mary Wroth Katherine Philips Aphra Behn John Cleland and Thomas Gray The collection attests both the current intellectual ferment in gay studies and the richness of English Renaissance and eighteenth century literary representations of homosexuality Homosexuality in Renaissance and Enlightenment England provides numerous insights into important works of literature and into significant theoretical issues implicit in the process of discerning and defining homosexuality in texts of earlier ages All the contributors locate their texts in carefully delineated cultural and historical milieux But they are not unduly constrained by either the tyranny of theory or the anxieties of anachronism Rather than proceeding from hidebound or fashionably current ideologies they sift the texts they study for the concrete evidence from which theories of sexuality might be constructed or modified Hence the collection will be valuable both for its practical criticism and for its theoretical contributions It vividly illustrates the variety of gay studies in literature especially as applied to works of earlier ages
