Essays in Librarianship and Bibliography (Classic Reprint) Richard Garnett, 2017-09-16 Excerpt from Essays in Librarianship and Bibliography: Recent exploit of the Newbery Library at Chicago referred to in a note at page 86 which has turned the bewildering multitude of the accession parts of the British Museum Catalogue into a single alphabetical series by simply photographing the titles singly and then combining the copies in a catalogue. It is quite possible that the enterprise may prove financially unremunerative, but this would not be the case if it had been executed as a portion of the work of a national institution controlled by the State, which on its part would have been recouped or nearly so by the patronage of private customers. It is only necessary to add that the State should on no account seek to make a profit out of photography and that all transactions between the Museum or any other public department and the nation where money is concerned should be conducted on the principle of affording the greatest possible public advantage at the smallest possible cost. Essay on Bibliography, and on the Attainments of a Librarian Mrs. Schuyler van Rensselaer,2015-07-09 Excerpt from Essay on Bibliography and on the Attainments of a Librarian By Parent the Elder Not the least curious thing connected with this essay is that it includes a separate scheme for dividing literary history into fourteen great epochs each of them connected with a predominating name

Its own epoch is sufficiently marked by the last three of these 12th Epoch Voltaire sketching on the walls of the Bastille the rough draft of the Henriade 13th Epoch Voltaire crowned at Paris 14th Epoch Bonaparte the friend of the arts and of learning consolidating the French Republic and giving peace to Europe In other words Parent introduced what librarians call a time division hifalutin and sentimental if you will but not so unlike the fundamental principles which guided the modifiers of Bacon's scheme wherein all human knowledge is regarded as issuing from three sources Memory Imagination and Reason He added a human note characteristic of his day and generation when all hearts were a flame for philosophic research and the maxims of the Encyclopedists were watchwords which lived despite the hostility of conservative censors and timid printers We may see therein a glimpse of all the personal note and the enthusiasm which marked their birth in the systems of classifications in use today About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
