Marxism, Pragmatism, and Postmetaphysics Ulf Schulenberg, 2019-02-15 From Finding to Making offers the first detailed discussion of the relationship between Marxism and pragmatism These two philosophies of praxis are not incompatible and an analysis of their relation helps one to better understand both Establishing a transatlantic theoretical dialogue this book discusses similarities and differences between these philosophies It is an interdisciplinary study that brings together philosophy American and European intellectual history and literary studies Schulenberg's book shows that if we seek to continue the unfinished project of establishing a genuinely postmetaphysical culture the attempt to elucidate the dialectics of Marxism and pragmatism is a good starting point The book offers detailed discussions of Sidney Hook Georg Lukács Theodor W. Adorno Fredric Jameson W. E. B. Du Bois John Dewey Richard Rorty and Jacques Rancière

Romanticism and Pragmatism U. Schulenberg, 2015-02-12 This interdisciplinary project is situated at the boundary between literary studies and philosophy Its chief focus is on American Romanticism and it examines work by a number of prominent writers and philosophers from Whitman and Thoreau to Barthes and Rorty

The Epistemological Development of Education Andrew Skourdoumbis, Scott Webster, 2022-12-16 This book documents the political and economic ramifications of the policy impetus for a science of education and what this means for classroom teachers their teaching practices and for the field of education In a critical exploration of current research and policy articulations of the purposes of education with attention given to Australia the UK and the USA this book delineates the evaluative mechanisms involved in the strategic science as method adoption of accountability competitiveness and test driven criteria used in major education policy It brings together the disciplines of sociology and philosophy by drawing on the theoretical insights of Michel Foucault Pierre Bourdieu and John Dewey In addition the book argues for the deliberate use of the theoretical in education and is against the contemporary unquestioning advocacy that often accompanies a narrowly defined master narrative of a science of education This book will be of special interest to post graduate students as source material in general education courses and is also intended for academics with an interest in educational theory philosophy and the sociology of education

Divine Discontent Jonathon S. Kahn, 2009-08-27 W E B Du Bois is an improbable candidate for a project in religion His skepticism of and even hostility toward religion is readily established and canonically accepted Indeed he spent his career rejecting normative religious commitments to institutions and supernatural beliefs In this book Jonathon Kahn offers a fresh and controversial reading of Du Bois that seeks to overturn this view Kahn contends that the standard treatment of Du Bois turns a deaf ear to his writings For if we re open to their religious timbre those writings from his epoch making The Souls of Black Folk to his unstudied series of parables that depict the lynching of an African American Christ reveal a virtual obsession with religion Du Bois s antimetaphysical religious voice he argues places him firmly in the American tradition of pragmatic religious naturalism typified by William James This innovative reading of Du Bois should appeal to scholars of American religion intellectual history African American Studies and philosophy of religion

On Learning, Volume 2 David Scott, 2024-01-16 This edited book as you can see from its title is about learning or at least about the concept and practice of learning The contributors to this volume are focusing on two meta concepts knowledge and learning on the relationship between the two and the way these can be framed in epistemic social political and economic terms Knowledge and learning as meta concepts are positioned in various networks or constellations of meaning principally the antecedents of the concepts their relations to other relevant concepts and the way the concepts are used in the lifeworld In this book the various authors explore a number of important concepts that are relevant to the idea of learning These are meta concepts such as epistemology inferential role semantics phenomenology rationality thinking hermeneutics critical realism and pragmatism and meso concepts such as probability woman training assessment education system race friendship Bildung curriculum ecology and pedagogy Like David Scott's first volume of On Learning this collection focusing on philosophy concepts and practices is a response to empiricist and positivist conceptions of knowledge It challenges detheorised and reductionist ideas of learning that have filtered through to the management of our schools colleges and universities over simplified messages about learning knowledge curriculum and assessment and fostered the denial that values are central to understanding how we live and how we should live the normative dimension to social policy and social theorising This book is also an attempt at a Bildungstheorie

Science, Humanism, and Religion Matthias Jung, 2019-07-26 In the human quest for orientation vis vis personal life and comprehensive reality the worldviews of religionists and humanists offer different answers and science also plays a crucial role Yet it is the ordinary embodied experience of meaningful engagement with reality in which all these cultural activities are rooted Human beings have to relate themselves to the entirety of their lives to achieve orientation This relation involves a non methodical meaningful experience that exhibits the crucial features for understanding worldviews it comprises cognition volition and emotion is embodied action oriented and expressive From this starting point religious and secular worldviews articulate what is experienced as ultimately meaningful Yet the plurality and one sidedness of these life stances necessitates critical engagement for which philosophy provides indispensable means In the end some worldviews can be ruled out but we are still left with a plurality of genuine options for orientation

Evolution of Semantic Systems Bernd-Olaf Küppers, Udo Hahn, Stefan Artmann, 2013-04-08 Complex systems in nature and society make use of information for the development of their internal organization and the control of their functional mechanisms. Alongside technical aspects of storing, transmitting and processing information, the various semantic aspects of information such as meaning, sense, reference and function play a decisive part in the analysis of such systems. With the aim of fostering a better understanding of semantic systems from an evolutionary and multidisciplinary perspective, this volume collects contributions by philosophers and natural scientists, linguists, information and computer scientists. They do not follow a single research paradigm; rather, they shed in a complementary way new light upon some of the most important aspects of the evolution of semantic systems. Evolution of Semantic Systems is intended for researchers in philosophy, computer science and the natural sciences who work on the analysis or development of semantic systems, ontologies or similar complex information structures. In the eleven chapters, they will find a broad discussion of topics ranging from underlying universal principles to representation and processing aspects to paradigmatic examples.

Cross Currents Cindy Scheopner, Ian M. Sullivan, 2014-07-24. Philosophy begins with a question. The same question is often asked in different languages. Comparative philosophy is a project that engages thinkers from all areas of the world and approaches common problems from different perspectives. The conversations look at not only interactions between cultures but also the relationships among humans, animals and nature. But the many languages and unfamiliar terms can seem intimidating even to those with formal philosophical training. This book provides an approachable survey of current topics from some of the newest comparative philosophers as they enter the field. Arising out of a graduate student philosophy conference at the University of Hawai'i, these selected papers were revised to respond to the suggestions and challenges presented during the conference. For this volume, foreign terms are translated and introductions and editors' notes give context to the individual chapters. Ignoring the traditional divisions of academic philosophy, this anthology focuses rather on the common search for answers by bringing thinkers from what are labeled eastern and western philosophy into conversation with one another as members of the global community.

Christian Ethics and Commonsense Morality Kevin Jung, 2014-11-27. Christian Ethics and Commonsense Morality goes against the grain of various postmodern approaches to morality in contemporary religious ethics. In this book, Jung seeks to provide a new framework in which the nature of common Christian moral beliefs and practices can be given a new meaning. He suggests that once major philosophical assumptions behind postmodern theories of morality are called into question, we may look at Christian morality in quite a different light. On his account, Christian morality is a historical morality insofar as it is rooted in the rich historical traditions of the Christian church. Yet this kind of historical dependence does not entail the evidential dependence of all moral beliefs on historical traditions. It is possible to argue for the epistemic autonomy of moral beliefs according to which Christian and other moral beliefs can be justified independently of their historical sources. The particularity of Christian morality lies not in its particular historical sources that also function as the grounds of justification but rather in its explanatory and motivational capacity to further articulate the kind of moral knowledge that is readily available to most human beings and to enable people to act upon their moral knowledge Nurturing 'Difficult Conversations' in Education Katarzyna Fleming, Fufy Demissie, 2024-07-11 This book offers a critical discussion on the necessity for difficult conversations to take place in education drawing on studies from across the UK The editors and contributors address three key questions How can difficult conversations be theorised What transformations in thinking and practice can occur through difficult conversations What value do difficult conversations have in enabling understanding and compassion between the diverse communities of today The chapters cover a range of topics including supporting children with SEND parent and carer engagement childhood trauma race disability the climate emergency and the researcher's positionality The contributors draw on the theoretical work of bell hooks Linda Alcoff Paulo Freire Victor Turner Homi Bhabha Nel Nodings Melanie Nind Emile Bojesen Gayatri Chakravorty Spivak Mathew Lipman and other contemporary theories They argue against the prevailing deficit based perspectives about marginalized communities and invite deep thinking about the nature of oppression experienced in many spheres of education and therefore in our society Ultimately the book advocates for the empowerment and agency of anyone facing social inequalities through engagement in difficult conversations as a means of transformation and social change

Humanizing Power Dhananjay Soindaji, 2024-08-30 The book discusses Dr Ambedkar's philosophical intervention on power for reclaiming human dignity and locates its significance for making a constructive contribution to the existing theories and concepts of power Dr B R Ambedkar proposed a rational legal approach to usher in a balance of power among political institutions under the framework of political democracy through checks and balances constitutionalising the state structure However he was not satisfied with this formal mechanism for ensuring a check on the excesses of power What he believed in was to usher in the balance of power among the social groups at the societal level to the formal distribution of power under political democracy For him this formal balance of power under political democracy would not be effective without the balance of power in the society constitutionalising the social framework The book explores the conceptual and philosophical moorings of the relationship between the consolidation of social democracy as propounded by Dr Ambedkar and the democratisation of political power and its deployment for human progress AlAfnan Taxonomy of Educational Objectives

Mohammad Awad AlAfnan, 2025-08-21 Discover a groundbreaking approach to education with AlAfnan's Taxonomy of Educational Objectives This book redefines traditional learning frameworks by integrating artificial intelligence sustainability goals and interdisciplinary teaching It addresses key challenges in modern education such as adapting assessment strategies fostering critical thinking and incorporating AI driven learning Unlike conventional taxonomies this model unifies cognitive affective and psychomotor domains ensuring holistic student development Through case studies and practical applications you will learn how to implement innovative teaching strategies that enhance engagement and learning outcomes Essential for educators researchers and policymakers this Taxonomy provides the tools to transform education for the 21st century 'Brave New World': Contexts and Legacies Jonathan Greenberg, Nathan Waddell, 2016-10-07 This collection of essays provides new readings of Huxley's classic dystopian satire Brave New World 1932. Leading international scholars consider from new angles the historical contexts in which the book was written and the cultural legacies in which it looms large. The volume affirms Huxley's prescient critiques of modernity and his continuing relevance to debates about political power, art, and the vexed relationship between nature and humankind. Individual chapters explore connections between Brave New World and the nature of utopia, the 1930s American Technocracy movement, education and social control, pleasure, reproduction, futurology, inter-war periodical networks, motherhood, ethics, and the Anthropocene, islands, and the moral life. The volume also includes a Foreword written by David Bradshaw, one of the world's top Huxley scholars. Timely and consistently illuminating, this collection is essential reading for students, critics, and Huxley enthusiasts alike.

Accountability, Pragmatic Aims, and the American University Ana M. Martínez-Alemán, 2012-03-12. Accountability, Pragmatic Aims, and the American University frames the debates on teaching and learning accountability in Higher Education. By examining significant historic periods in Higher Education, Martínez Alemán explores the present apprehension about accountability in today's colleges and universities. Throughout the book's chapters, Martínez Alemán uses the pragmatic philosophy of John Dewey to enlighten current understandings of professional freedoms, and she also discusses democratic imperatives in light of accountability obligations, the teaching of undergraduates, data and empirical research on college teaching and learning, and the institutional policies for graduate student and faculty teaching development. This book reveals the tensions between the democratic character of the university, qualities that may seem irreconcilable with accountability metrics, and the corporate or managerial economies of modern American universities. Higher Education faculty, administrators, public policy makers, and students enrolled in Higher Education Masters and PhD programs will find that this book informs their practice and will serve to contribute to the debates on accountability for years to come.
