Escape From Progress:

Recent progress in Melioidosis and Glanders Alfredo G. Torres, Ivo Steinmetz, Burkholderia pseudomallei and B mallei causes melioidosis and glanders respectively which are two endemic infectious diseases in many parts of the world The recent reports of glanders outbreaks in horses in Pakistan and Bahrain and the increasing incidence of human melioidosis in Thailand and other tropical regions have resulted in increased research efforts to prevent these diseases Moreover both B mallei and B pseudomallei exhibit an intriguing intracellular life cycle including the induction of actin tail formation and cell fusion and thereby have developed as model organisms in infection biology This Research Topic summarizes recent progress to understand these pathogens at the molecular level with emphasis in their virulence traits host pathogen interactions population structure and potential targets for therapeutic intervention and vaccine development The Conservator, 1901

Deep Adaptation Jem Bendell, Rupert Read, 2021-06-09 Deep adaptation refers to the personal and collective changes that might help us to prepare for and live with a climate influenced breakdown or collapse of our societies It is a framework for responding to the terrifying realization of increasing disruption by committing ourselves to reducing suffering while saving more of society and the natural world This is the first book to show how professionals across different sectors are beginning to incorporate the acceptance of likely or unfolding societal breakdown into their work and lives They do not assume that our current economic social and political systems can be made resilient in the face of climate change but instead they demonstrate the caring and creative ways that people are responding to the most difficult realization with which humanity may ever have to come to terms Edited by the originator of the concept of deep adaptation Jem Bendell and a leading climate activist and strategist Rupert Read this book is the essential introduction to the concept practice and emerging global movement of Deep Adaptation to climate chaos The 4-Hour Workweek: Escape 9-5, Live Anywhere, and Join the

Born Expecting the Pleistocene: Psychology and the Problem of Civilization Mark Seely, 2012-03-01 Anarcho primitivism meets psychological science to provide a unique perspective on the mismatch between our evolved human nature and the demands of life in a global industrial civilization Our sophisticated psychological systems reflect a finely tuned response to more than two million years of life in small broadly egalitarian foraging bands Civilization represents a catastrophic disruption of this response redirecting our natural proclivities in the service of a planet devouring machine But all is not lost The very elements of our psychology that keep us yoked to civilization s drivetrain are also the source of our potential liberation lynchpins that can be released as we work to reclaim our freedom

Enjoying What We Don't Have Todd McGowan, 2020-03-01 Although there have been many attempts to apply the ideas of psychoanalysis to political thought this book is the first to identify the political project inherent in the fundamental tenets of psychoanalysis And this political project Todd McGowan contends provides an avenue for emancipatory politics after the failure of Marxism in the twentieth century Where others seeking the political import of psychoanalysis have looked to Freud s early work on sexuality McGowan focuses on Freud s discovery of the death drive and Jacques Lacan s elaboration of this concept He argues that the self destruction occurring as a result of the death drive is the foundational act of emancipation around which we should construct our political philosophy Psychoanalysis offers the possibility for thinking about emancipation not as an act of overcoming loss but as the embrace of loss It is only through the embrace of loss McGowan suggests that we find the path to enjoyment and enjoyment is the determinative factor in all political struggles and only in a political project that embraces the centrality of loss will we find a
