

The background of the book cover is a close-up of a woman's face, looking directly at the viewer with a serious expression. Her face is partially obscured by a large, bloody knife held in a hand. The knife has a wooden handle and a metal blade covered in red blood. The overall color palette is dark and moody, with a lot of red from the blood and some yellowish-brown tones from the background. The text is overlaid on the lower half of the image.

Indian Massacre in Minnesota Charles S. Bryant,Abel B. Murch,2001 Indian Massacre in Minnesota was written over 100 years ago by a man whose job was to process claims for property damaged by Sioux raiders after they went on the warpath killing pioneer families and taking many of those who survived into captivity He documented the terrifying tales told by settlers of the horrors they suffered However to properly present this tragic time the book begins by giving a brief account of the Sioux Indians the harsh treatment by our government who ignored a treaty that promised 2 million for their land their living conditions on the reservations and their complaints The resulting account of the massacres and conspiracy by the great chief Little Crow is also described along with the personal accounts of the survivors
