Electric Dreams Ted Friedman, 2005-12 Electric Dreams turns to the past to trace the cultural history of computers Ted Friedman charts the struggles to define the meanings of these powerful machines over more than a century from the failure of Charles Babbage's difference engine in the nineteenth century to contemporary struggles over file swapping open source software and the future of online journalism To reveal the hopes and fears inspired by computers Electric Dreams examines a wide range of texts including films advertisements novels magazines computer games blogs and even operating systems Electric Dreams argues that the debates over computers are critically important because they are how Americans talk about the future In a society that in so many ways has given up on imagining anything better than multinational capitalism cyberculture offers room to dream of different kinds of tomorrow Science Fiction Double Feature J. P. Telotte, Gerald Duchovnay, 2015-07-27 Critical discussion of cult cinema has often noted its tendency to straddle or ignore boundaries to pull together different sets of conventions narrative formulas or character types for the almost surreal pleasure to be found in their sudden juxtapositions or narrative combination With its own boundary blurring nature as both science and fiction reality and fantasy science fiction has played a key role in such cinematic cult formation This volume examines that largely unexplored relationship looking at how the sf film's own double nature neatly matches up with a persistent double vision common to the cult film It does so by bringing together an international array of scholars to address key questions about the intersections of sf and cult cinema how different genre elements directors and stars contribute to cult formation what role fan activities including con participation play in cult development and how the occulted or bad sf cult film works The volume pursues these questions by addressing a variety of such sf cult works including Robot Monster 1953 Zardoz 1974 A Boy and

His Dog 1975 Tetsuo The Iron Man 1989 Space Truckers 1996 Ghost in the Shell 2 2004 and Iron Sky 2012 What these essays afford is a revealing vision of both the sf aspects of much cult film activity and the cultish aspects of the whole sf genre

Smith, Molefi Kete Asante, 2025-05-01 A clear critical accessible and ultimately hopeful discovery voyage through the seas of Du Bois's language and ideas Offering a vision both hopeful and thoughtful Reading Du Bois is an Afrocentric reexamination of the work of one of the most important intellectuals of our time Du Bois wanted to solve the issue of race dividing American society Aaron X Smith and Molefi Kete Asante take one of Du Bois's key concepts the idea that the problem of his century was going to be the color line and demonstrate that such a reader of that concept provides fresh insights into our present interpersonal and political situation The application of Du Bois's concept such as the color line reveals the subject place of African American people is not merely a marginal space but rather a central space to all who seek to bring justice democracy and optimism

Gaming Utopia Claudia Costa Pederson, 2021-04-06 In Gaming Utopia Ludic Worlds in Art Design and Media Claudia Costa Pederson analyzes modernist avant garde and contemporary video games to challenge the idea that gaming is an exclusively white heterosexual male corporatized leisure activity and reenvision it as a catalyst for social change By looking at over fifty projects that together span a century and the world Pederson explores the capacity for sociopolitical commentary in virtual and digital realms and highlights contributions to the history of gaming by women queer and transnational artists The result is a critical tool for understanding video games as imaginative forms of living that offer alternatives to our current reality With an interdisciplinary approach Gaming Utopia emphasizes how game design creation and play can become political forms of social protest and examines the ways that games as art open doors to a more just and peaceful world and the problems of global and homogenised culture British Science Fiction Cinema I.Q. Hunter, 2002-01-04 British Science Fiction Cinema is the first substantial study of a genre which despite a sometimes troubled history has produced some of the best British films from the prewar classic Things to Come to Alien made in Britain by a British director The contributors to this rich and provocative collection explore the diverse strangeness of British science fiction from literary adaptations like Nineteen Eighty Four and A Clockwork Orange to pulp fantasies and creature features far removed from the acceptable face of British cinema Through case studies of key films like The Day the Earth Caught Fire contributors explore the unique themes and concerns of British science fiction from the postwar boom years to more recent productions like Hardware and examine how science fiction cinema drew on a variety of sources from TV adaptations like Doctor Who and the Daleks to the horror sf crossovers produced from John Wyndham's cult novels The Day of the Triffids and The Midwich Cuckoos filmed as Village of the Damned How did budget restrictions encourage the use of the invasion narrative in the 1950s films And how did films such as Unearthly Stranger and Invasion reflect fears about the decline of Britain's economic and colonial power and the threat of female sexuality British Science Fiction Cinema celebrates the breadth and continuing vitality of British sf film making in both big budget productions such as Brazil and Event Horizon and cult exploitation movies like Inseminoid and Lifeforce Reimagining Communication: Mediation Michael Filimowicz, Veronika
