An Essay Concerning Human Understanding in Four Books John Locke, Paul Boer, Excercere Cerebrum Excercere Cerebrum Publications, 2014-12-19 An Essay Concerning Human Understanding is a work by John Locke concerning the foundation of human knowledge and understanding. It first appeared in 1689, although dated 1690, with the printed title An Essay Concerning Humane Understanding. He describes the mind at birth as a blank slate, tabula rasa, although he did not use those actual words, filled later through experience. The essay was one of the principal sources of empiricism in modern philosophy and influenced many enlightenment philosophers, such as David Hume and George Berkeley. Book I of the Essay is Locke's attempt to refute the rationalist notion of innate ideas. Book II sets out Locke's theory of ideas, including his distinction between passively acquired simple ideas, such as red, sweet, round, etc., and actively built complex ideas, such as numbers, causes, and effects, abstract ideas, ideas of substances, identity, and diversity. Locke also distinguishes between the truly existing primary qualities of bodies like shape motion and the arrangement of minute particles and the secondary qualities that are powers to produce various sensations in us such as red and sweet These secondary qualities Locke claims are dependent on the primary qualities He also offers a theory of personal identity offering a largely psychological criterion Book III is concerned with language and Book IV with knowledge including intuition mathematics moral philosophy natural philosophy science faith and opinion
