Essays on Borneo Societies Victor T. King, 1978 Inside Austronesian Houses James J. Fox, 2006-09-01 Dwellings Social life Customs Southeast Asia Oceania Perspectives on Traditional Settlements and Communities Bagoes Wiryomartono, 2014-02-18 This book covers the relationship between societies and their culture in the context of traditional settlement in Indonesia. The focus of the study is on the search for meanings of local concepts. This study reveals and analyzes the concepts concerning home and their sociocultural strategies for maintaining a sense of community and identity. In this study, identifying local concepts becomes the hallmark and the hub of analyses that explore, verify, and establish relations between ideas and phenomena. Based on these relations, this study attempts to capture the reality of the local world that upholds and sustains the communities' values, norms, and principles for what they may call a homeland. The book is organized into two parts: Part I describes a cross-regional habitation in Indonesia, while Part II presents four ethnic regions of Indonesia: Sa'dan, Toraja, Bali, Naga, and Minangkabau. Their unique traditions, customs, beliefs, and attitudes serve to provide diversity in terms of their backgrounds and lifestyles, though they share the challenge of sustaining their sense of home in the face of modernity as characterized by changes and developments toward a technologically industrialized society. The central research questions are: What is development in terms of culture and environmental sustainability? How do these communities respond to modernity?

Routledge Handbook of Contemporary Brunei Ooi Keat Gin, Victor T. King, 2022-07-29 The Routledge Handbook of Contemporary Brunei presents an overview of significant themes, issues, and challenges pertinent to Brunei Darussalam in the twenty-first century. Multidisciplinary in coverage, the contributions cover topics relating to philology, history, religion, language, and literature, geography, international relations, economics, politics, and sociocultural traditions. The Handbook is structured in eight parts: Foundations, History, Faith and Ethnicity, Literature, Language and Education, Economics, Material Culture, Empowerment. Chapters focus on the recent past and contemporary developments in this unique country, which has remained a Malay-Muslim sultanate, sustaining its religious and traditional heritage encapsulated in the national philosophy Melayu Islam Beraja (MIB) Malay Islamic Monarchy. The MIB philosophy represents the sultanate's three pillars of social, cultural, political, and economic sustainability, and the contributors discuss this concept in relation to the notion of Malay or Malaydom, the official religion of the nation-state, Islam, and monarchy as the essential system of government. This Handbook is an invaluable reference work for students of Asian and Southeast Asian Studies and researchers interested in what is demographically the smallest country within the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN).

Gender Relations in Forest Societies in Asia Govind Kelkar, Dev Nathan, Pierre Walter, 2003-12-06 Extrait de la couverture Of the numerous available studies on forest management in Asia, only a few mention the role of women or pay attention to gender relations. Even projects are largely designed in terms of households or communities where men are the decision makers and the owners or managers of forests. This important volume views gender relations as a crucial factor in the management of land and forests and maintains that the continuing invisibility of women in these areas only compounds poverty shortages and the increased workloads of forest based women Based on fieldwork conducted in several forest societies in China Thailand India and Malaysia the contributors explore the changes in gender relations within indigenous communities from matrilineal and or gender egalitarian systems to ones where male domination is the norm The Austronesians Peter Bellwood, James J. Fox, Darrell Tryon, 2006-09-01 The Austronesian speaking population of the world are estimated to number more than 270 million people living in a broad swathe around half the globe from Madagascar to Easter Island and from Taiwan to New Zealand The seventeen papers in this volume provide a general survey of these diverse populations focusing on their common origins and historical transformations The papers examine current ideas on the linguistics prehistory anthropology and recorded history of the Austronesians The Malay World of Southeast Asia Patricia Lim Pui Huen, 1986 Over 5 000 entries arranged in four parts Part I comprises reference and general works to provide a guide to information on Southeast Asia Part II provides the setting of space and time Part III features the people and Part IV the many facets of culture and society language ideas beliefs values institutions creative expression and social and cultural change Within each section the arrangement is geographical beginning with Southeast Asia as a whole followed by the various countries in alphabetical order Sacrifice and Sharing in the Philippine Highlands Thomas P. Gibson, 2021-03-10 This book is about the relationship between the Buid value system and their history of resistance to the lowland world Indonesian Houses, 2022-06-20 The traditional houses and settlements of the several hundred ethnic groups of Indonesia are extremely varied and all have their own unique history Underlying this rich diversity are fundamental similarities rooted in the ancient heritage that is shared by all the peoples in the Indonesian field of study The multiplicity of ways in which this heritage is given shape in each local situation bears witness to an amazing creativity in adapting to regional circumstances and social changes Inter ethnic comparison of the architectural structures is a way to arrive at a better understanding of both the shared traditions and the diverging developments In many cases the variety of house forms will reflect successful attempts at one group s making distinct its buildings from those of neighbouring groups in an ongoing ethnic process of what could be called mutual contrasting although sometimes by means of pseudo traditions which have little to do with indigenous customs of the past The contributions to this volume are grouped in four sections The first consists of essays describing approaches to the transformation and variation of houses The second set presents applications of these approaches in case studies of specific Sumatran cultures The third group widens the perspective through the inclusion of a number of cultures from outside Sumatra namely from Flores Sulawesi Kalimantan Palu and Roti The final set deals not so much with houses as with settlements In their pursuit of the cultural dimension of houses the contributions focus on villages and towns exploring their cosmological and symbolic organization Prehistory of the Indo-Malaysian Archipelago Peter Bellwood, 2007-03-01 Since its publication in 1985 Peter Bellwood s Prehistory of the Indo Malaysian

Archipelago has been hailed as the sole authoritative work on the subject by the leading expert in the field. Now that work has been fully revised and includes a complete up to date summary of the archaeology of the region and relevant neighboring areas of China and Oceania as well as a comprehensive discussion of new and important issues such as the Eve Garden of Eden hypothesis and its relevance to the Indo Malaysian region and recent advances in macrofamily linguistic classification. Moving north to south from northern Peninsular Malaysia to Timor and west to east from Sumatra to the Moluccas, Bellwood describes human prehistory from initial hominid settlement more than one million years ago to the eve of historical Hindu, Buddhist and Islamic cultures of the region. The archaeological record provides the central focus but chapters also incorporate essential information from the paleoenvironmental sciences, biological anthropology, linguistics and social anthropology. Bellwood approaches questions about past cultural and biological developments in the region from a multidisciplinary perspective. Historical issues given extended treatment include the significance of the Homo erectus populations of Java, the dispersal of the present Austronesian speaking peoples of the region within the past 4 000 years and the spread of metallurgy since 500 B C. Bellwood also discusses relationships between the prehistoric populations of the archipelago and those of neighboring regions such as Australia, New Guinea and mainland Asia.

Land and Longhouse
Rob A. Cramb, 2007. Land and Longhouse examines the role of community, market and state in the historic transformation of upland livelihoods in Southeast Asia. Focusing on the Saribas Iban of Sarawak, the book combines in depth generation long village case studies with an account of changes in land use and tenure at the regional level spanning a century and a half. This analysis demonstrates that far from being passive victims of globalization, the Iban have been active agents in their own transformation, engaging with both market and state while retaining community values and governance. R A Cramb makes a significant new contribution to debates about economic, social and environmental change and conflict in upland Southeast Asia. His book offers a fascinating, empirically rich account of interest to scholars, development practitioners and the general reader alike. This study is certain to become a major reference point for future work on land use, tenure and agrarian change in Upland Southeast Asia. Clifford Sather, University of Helsinki.

Rob Cramb has written an excellent book with a much needed longitudinal perspective on agrarian change. The book is an important contribution to the urgent need for understanding the dynamics and consequences, both environmental and social, of upland transformation in Southeast Asia. Ole Mertz, University of Copenhagen.

Rob Cramb's study raises provocative questions about Iban society, the nature of the Southeast Asia uplands and agrarian history. He presents a work distinguished by the depth of its scholarship and the breadth of the questions addressed by it. Michael R Dove, Yale University.
