

ESSAY ON THE GOOD LIFE

Living a Good Life

For every individual, there are different and numerous definitions of what it means to live "a good life". Only you can tell and speak what does it truly mean because it is your own life, your own experiences and your own journey.

As I grew older, I realized how valuable life is. Nobody can buy it, and we only get it once, so it's preferable to live it to the fullest and in the best possible way. And I believe I can live if life is seen as good when enjoyment is at the center of our purpose and is entwined with it, making what we refer to as a "good life." Moreover, I have learned that my parents, siblings, friends, or any of my closest associates always make me feel as if they are my number one supporter in every decision that I make. That's why if life is to be good, I/we must always provide some certainty to those we love. Support is essential in my life, as it is, of course, in the lives of everyone, regardless of age or years lived. As long as I receive the support, love, and guidance I needed, I am living a good life. Therefore, having someone on our side is really important to me because it is an integral part of achieving happiness.

In addition, to achieve a good life we should have enough money. Even though some would say that you only want money, and that love is enough to have a good life, well for me, it's not enough. Why? Because how can we live in reality if we don't have money to buy our basics needs like, food, water, etc. that is why, let's all be honest, in reality, money is needed to have a good life but keep in mind that I didn't say to desire too much. I only wish to have enough money for my family to live. We need money to buy food, we need money to pay for our electricity, and since we don't have our own house, we only rent someone else's house so we need money to pay the monthly rent and try to imagine if we don't have enough money then I think I can't achieve that good life that I have now. Having a complete and a healthy meal every day on our table, a refrigerator that does not run out of food and any types of drink and even though it does, it can refill when you have now the money. Living with a complete family that shows love and even though it's a broken one, as long as the love they will show is still intact.

To sum up, for me you will have had a happy life if you learn to appreciate each and every minute of your life. You know how valuable the time you have with your family or loved ones is, and you realize that living a happy life is all about keeping healthy, positive, and being thankful to God on what we have receive.
