Essays on the Anthropology of Reason Paul Rabinow, 1996-12-15 Anthropologist Paul Rabinow focuses on the core of Western rationality in particular the practices of molecular biology as they apply to our understanding of human nature In his final essay Rabinow reflects in dialogue with biochemist Tom White on the place of science in modernity on science as a vocation and on the differences between the human and natural sciences

Reimagining (Bio)Medicalization, Pharmaceuticals and Genetics Susan E. Bell, Anne E. Figert, 2015-02-11 In recent years medicalization the process of making something medical has gained considerable ground and a position in everyday discourse In this multidisciplinary collection of original essays the authors expertly consider how issues around medicalization have developed ways in which it is changing and the potential shapes it will take in the future They develop a unique argument that medicalization biomedicalization pharmaceuticalization and geneticization are related and co evolving processes present throughout the globe This is an ideal addition to anthropology sociology and STS courses about medicine and health

Corporeality, Medical Technologies and Contemporary Culture Francisco Ortega, 2013-12-17 This book examines the confusions and contradictions that manifest in prevalent attitudes towards the body as well as in related bodily practices The body is simultaneously our reference for the certainties of nature and the locus of a desire for transformation and reinvention The body is at the same time worshipped and despised an object of desire and of design Francisco Ortega analyses how the body has become both a screen for the projection of our ideas and imaginings about ourselves and conversely an object of suspicion anxiety and discomfort Addressing practices of corporeal ascesis such as bodybuilding and dietetics medical technologies and radical anatomical modifications Ortega documents the ambiguous legacy of a western theoretical tradition that has always despised the body Utilising a theoretical framework that is mainly informed by the phenomenology of the body feminist theory disability studies and the thought of Michel Foucault Corporeality Medical Technologies and Contemporary Culture address several ethical and psychological issues associated with the experience and perception of the body in our cultural landscape Drawing on these diverse areas of philosophical and analytical work this book will interest those researching Law Medicine and Sociology

Collaborative Ethnographic Working in Mental Health Neil Armstrong, 2023-12-07 Collaborative Ethnographic Working in Mental Health seeks to chart a new direction for research into mental healthcare with the aim of creating the conditions for more productive interdisciplinary dialogue People involved in mental health often fail to recognise how they are described by researchers from the humanities and social sciences which inhibits productive collaboration This book seeks to address this problem by including clinicians and patients in the research process and by shifting attention away from power and knowledge and towards the organisational context It explores how clinical thinking and behaviour illness experience and clinical relationships are all shaped by the bureaucratic context In particular it examines tensions between what we want from mental healthcare and how accountable bureaucracies actually work and proposes that mental healthcare research should not just evaluate new interventions but should investigate new ways of organising. This book is written with a non specialist audience in mind as it is intended for all with a stake in mental healthcare research and practice. It is also for those with an interest in ethnographic methods as a novel way of deploying ethnography, autoethnography and coproduced ethnography to address clinically important research topics.

Nature, Culture and Society Gísli Pálsson, 2016. Reflecting upon the changing human condition, Pálsson addresses various conflated zones of life at particular times and scales. Engaging with topical issues on the public agenda from personal genomics to human animal relations to the global environment, the book sets out a compelling case for meaningful change.

Gender and Genes Klasien Horstman, Marli Huijer, 2013. This Yearbook of Women's History (Jaarboek voor Vrouwengeschiedenis) is dedicated to Gender and Genes. Intruding upon our everyday lives, the world of DNA, genes and genomics has become a challenging field of research both clinically and biomedical as well as socio-cultural. It is also a challenging topic for a Yearbook which traditionally focuses on women and gender from a historical point of view. Gender issues are part and parcel of genes and genomics in scientific research and socio-cultural discourses and representations. Current literature on genes and genomics does not abound in analyses of biomedical and socio-cultural realms where gender aspects are played out and exchanged. This Yearbook may thus contribute to a field of analysis which contextualizes history from the viewpoint of current biotechnological developments. This volume contains articles on medical cases, reproductive testing and the case of the sex chromosomes and framing cancer risk in women and men, cultural representations, a portrait of female scientist Rosalind Franklin and interviews with feminist science philosophers Katarina Karkazis and Donna Dickenson.

Practicing Post-Liberal Peacebuilding Julian Graef, 2015-07-20. Practicing Post Liberal Peacebuilding engages with one of the central debates in Peace and Conflict Studies and International Relations. The book's innovation lies in the introduction and application of practice theory to develop a critical methodology for mapping the everyday practices of post liberal hybridity in Liberia.

Social and Cultural Perspectives on Health, Technology and Medicine Ciara Kierans, Kirsten Bell, Carol Kingdon, 2016-02-22. Developments in health science and technology have long provided fertile analytical ground for social science disciplines. This book focuses on the critical and enduring importance of core concepts in anthropology and sociology for interrogating and keeping pace with developments in the life sciences. The authors consider how transformations in medical and scientific knowledge serve to reanimate older controversies, giving new life to debates about relations between society, culture, knowledge and individuals. They reflect on the particular legacies and ongoing relevance of concepts such as culture, society, magic, production, kinship, exchange and the body. The chapters draw on the work of key historical and contemporary figures across the social sciences and include a range of illustrative case studies to explore topics such as transplant medicine, genetic counselling, cancer therapy, reproductive health and addiction. Of particular interest to students and scholars of anthropology, sociology and science and technology studies, this volume will also be a valuable resource for those working in the fields of health and medicine Breathlessness and Biosociality Fredrik Nyman, 2024-10-07 This book delves into the intricate landscape of respiratory diseases among older people shedding light on their biosocial encounters while grappling with chronic breathlessness While respiratory ailments predominantly afflict older people often stemming from lifestyle choices like smoking contemporary factors such as the COVID 19 pandemic and escalating air pollution further exacerbate respiratory health challenges Rooted in ethnographic research conducted in the UK the narrative captures the quotidian struggles associated with abnormal breathing an aspect typically overlooked despite its indispensability to life Through poignant accounts the book elucidates the profound transformations engendered by medical diagnoses delving into their ripple effects on personal relationships and social engagements while also offering insights into coping mechanisms Chapters traverse the contours of patient identity societal perceptions community healthcare dynamics advocacy endeavours and the intrinsic link between health and human rights Notably the author delves into the pivotal role of support groups such as Breathe Easy the empowering realm of self help and the organic formation of communities to address diverse social needs With its multidisciplinary approach this book appeals to a broad spectrum of scholars spanning anthropology sociology gerontology and public health offering a rich tapestry of insights into the complex interplay between health society and individual experiences Animal Places Jacob Bull, Tora Holmberg, Cecilia Åsberg, 2017-11-22 Nonhuman animals are ubiquitous to our human societies Interdisciplinary human animal research has for 50 years drawn attention to how animals are ever present in what we think of as human spaces and cultures Our societies are built with animals and through all kinds of multispecies interactions From public spaces and laboratories to homes farms and in the wilderness human and nonhuman animals meet to make space and place together through webs of power relations However the very spaces of these interactions are not mute or passive themselves The spaces where species meet matter and shape human animal relations This book takes as its starting point the relationship between place and human animal interaction It brings together the work of leading scholars in human animal studies from a variety of disciplinary and interdisciplinary backgrounds With a distinct focus on place physical space and biocultural geography the authors of this volume consider the ways in which space human and nonhuman animals co constitute each other how they make spaces together produce meaning around them struggle over access how these places are storied and how stories of spaces matter Presenting studies thematically and including a variety of nonhuman creatures in a range of settings this book delivers new understandings of the importance of nonhuman animals to understandings of place and the role of places in shaping our interactions with nonhuman creatures As pets as laboratory animals as exhibits as parasites as livestock as quarry as victims of disaster or objects of folklore this book offers insights into human animal intermingling at locales and settings of great relevance to many areas of research including geography sociology science and technology studies gender studies history and anthropology This book meets the evolving interest in human animal interaction anthrozoology and the environmental humanities in relation to the research on space and place that currently informs the humanities and the social sciences

Sex in Development Stacy Leigh Pigg, Vincanne Adams, 2005-05-03 Ethnographic studies of the role of sexuality and gender in development discourse and policy Culture, Health and Illness, Fifth edition Cecil Helman, 2007-01-26 Culture Health and Illness is the leading international textbook on the role of cultural and social factors in health illness and medical care Since first published in 1984 it has been used in over 40 countries within universities medical schools and nursing colleges This new edition meets the ever growing need for a clear starting point in Biosocialities, Genetics and the Social Sciences Sahra Gibbon, Carlos Novas, 2007-07-20 This pioneering collection uses Paul Rabinow's concept of biosociality to chart the shifts in social relations and in ideas about nature biology and identity brought about by developments in biomedicine Between Deleuze and Foucault Nicolae Morar, 2016-08-30 Deleuze and Foucault had a long complicated and productive relationship in which each was at various times a significant influence on the other This collection combines 3 original essays by Deleuze and Foucault in which they respond to each other's work with 16 critical essays by key contemporary scholars working in the field The result is a sustained discussion and analysis of the various dimensions of this fascinating relationship which clarifies the implications of their philosophical encounter Mestizo Genomics Peter Wade, Carlos López Beltrán, Eduardo Restrepo, Ricardo Ventura Santos, 2014-04-04 In genetics laboratories in Latin America scientists have been mapping the genomes of local populations seeking to locate the genetic basis of complex diseases and to trace population histories As part of their work geneticists often calculate the European African and Amerindian genetic ancestry of populations Some researchers explicitly connect their findings to questions of national identity and racial and ethnic difference bringing their research to bear on issues of politics and identity Drawing on ethnographic research in Brazil Colombia and Mexico the contributors to Mestizo Genomics explore how the concepts of race ethnicity nation and gender enter into and are affected by genomic research In Latin America national identities are often based on ideas about mestizaje race mixture rather than racial division Since mestizaje is said to involve relations between European men and indigenous or African women gender is a key factor in Latin American genomics and in the analyses in this book Also important are links between contemporary genomics and recent moves toward official multiculturalism in Brazil Colombia and Mexico One of the first studies of its kind Mestizo Genomics sheds new light on the interrelations between race identity and genomics in Latin America Contributors Adriana D az del Castillo H Roosbelinda C rdenas Vivette Garc a Deister Verlan Valle Gaspar Neto Michael Kent Carlos L pez Beltr n Mar a Fernanda Olarte Sierra Eduardo Restrepo Mariana Rios Sandoval Ernesto Schwartz Mar n Ricardo Ventura Santos Peter Wade European Kinship in the Age of Biotechnology Jeanette Edwards, Carles Salazar, 2009 Interest in the study of kinship a key area of anthropological enquiry has recently reemerged Dubbed the new kinship this interest was stimulated by the new genetics and revived interest in kinship and family patterns This volume investigates the impact of biotechnology on contemporary understandings of kinship of family and belonging in a variety of European settings and reveals similarities and differences in how kinship is conceived What constitutes kinship for different publics How significant are biogenetic links What does family resemblance tell us Why is genetically modified food an issue Are genes and blood interchangeable It has been argued that the recent prominence of genetic science and genetic technologies has resulted in a geneticization of social life the ethnographic examples presented here do show shifts occurring in notions of nature and of what is natural But they also illustrate the complexity of contemporary kinship thinking in Europe and the continued interconnectedness of biological and sociological understandings of relatedness and the relationship between nature and nurture

Social Theory in the Twentieth Century and Beyond

Patrick Baert, Filipe Carreira da Silva, 2025-09-04 This revised edition of Patrick Baert s widely acclaimed Social Theory in the Twentieth Century now benefitting from the collaboration of Filipe Carreira da Silva has been brought right up to date with cutting edge developments in social theory today It offers an easy to read but provocative account of the development of social theory covering a range of key figures and classic schools of thought The authors bridge the gap between philosophy and social theory locating the theoretical views of individuals such as Michel Foucault Anthony Giddens and Jürgen Habermas within wider historical traditions The revised edition includes new material on French pragmatist sociology and cultural sociology and on contemporary social thinkers such as Zygmunt Bauman Ulrich Beck Manuel Castells Randall Collins Michael Mann Saskia Sassen and Theda Skocpol The authors conclude with a bold new pragmatist agenda for social theory and the social sciences Written in a lively style and avoiding jargon Social Theory in the Twentieth Century and Beyond is aimed at students who wish to gain an understanding of the main debates and dilemmas driving social theory Like its predecessor it will be a standard introduction to modern social theory for students in sociology politics and anthropology

A Simpler Life Talia Dan-Cohen, 2021-03-15 A Simpler Life approaches the developing field of synthetic biology by focusing on the experimental and institutional lives of practitioners in two labs at Princeton University It highlights the distance between hyped technoscience and the more plodding and entrenched aspects of academic research Talia Dan Cohen follows practitioners as they wrestle with experiments attempt to publish research findings and navigate the ins and outs of academic careers Dan Cohen foregrounds the practices and rationalities of these pursuits that give both researchers lives and synthetic life their distinctive contemporary forms Rather than draw attention to avowed methodology A Simpler Life investigates some of the more subtle and tectonic practices that bring knowledge doubt and technological intervention into new configurations In so doing the book sheds light on the more general conditions of contemporary academic technoscience
