Everyday Foods Jessie Wootten Harris, Elisabeth Van Devanter Lacey, 1927 Everyday Foods in War Time Mary Swartz Rose, 1918 Crafting Everyday Food Angela Ki Che Leung, Hallam Stevens, 2025-07-31 Focusing on East Asia from the nineteenth century to the present Crafting Everyday Food highlights the role of technology in transforming traditional foods into modern ones and in reinventing industrialized foods as heritage foods The seven expert researchers adopt a unique technological perspective to trace the transformation of traditional fermented foodstuffs typical of the region kimchi soy sauce k ji and tea and the appropriation of new foods of nonlocal origin such as beef and potato into Asian diets The essays discuss how modern technologies reconstructed traditional or authentic foods showing how global flows of commodities experts and consumers as well as the circulation of knowledge and practices shaped the East Asian foodscape Weaving together science and technology studies with historical studies the volume generates innovative approaches to thinking about technological change everyday life and the foodways of East Asia as a region Understanding how these technological evolutions have transformed food production and consumption provides new insights into the complex processes of industrialization and the roles of taste and heritage in East Asian modernity Each chapter takes up a unique food item with its own complex past and traces gradual and at times dramatic change allowing new relationships to emerge between the creators consumers and their surrounding world Truly multidisciplinary in approach Leung and Stevens bring together scholars and methods from a range of fields into a coherent transnational dialogue resulting in an innovative way to define East Asia without relying on geographic or linguistic boundaries The study of everyday foods consumed by ordinary people on a day to day basis provides a productive perspective for understanding East Asian cultures as sociotechnical systems pushing back the role of elite and special foods as privileged objects in the discipline of food studies Less Oil, More Taste: Wholesome Low Oil Recipe Book for Everyday Meal M K KHATRI, In today s fast paced world health and convenience often stand at odds with each other The food we eat is one of the most critical factors determining our overall well being yet the abundance of fried greasy options can easily derail our health goals This book Less Oil More Taste Wholesome Low Oil Recipe Book for Everyday Meal is here to redefine your culinary experience proving that delicious meals don t need to be drenched in oil to be satisfying and flavorful Cooking with less oil isn t just a dietary trend it s a lifestyle shift that contributes to long term health benefits Research consistently shows that excessive oil consumption is linked to heart disease obesity and other chronic conditions However reducing oil doesn t mean compromising on taste With the right techniques tools and recipes you can create meals that are not only nutritious but also deeply enjoyable This book caters to everyone from seasoned home chefs looking to experiment with healthier methods to beginners trying to make smarter choices in the kitchen Each chapter delves into specific aspects of low oil cooking from essential tools and ingredient tips to detailed recipes tailored to various dietary preferences You ll discover How to make your favorite meals healthier by

brings together original essays that explore the relationship between food and identity in everyday life in the Caribbean The Caribbean history of colonialism and migration has fostered a dynamic and diverse form of modernity which continues to transform with the impact of globalization and migration out of the Caribbean One of the founders of the anthropology of food Richard Wilk provides a preface to this exciting and interdisciplinary collection of essays offering insight into the real issues of food politics which contribute to the culinary cultures of the Caribbean Based on rich contemporary ethnographies the volume reveals the ways in which food carries symbolic meanings which are incorporated into the many different facets of identity experienced by people in the Caribbean Many of the chapters focus on the ways in which consumers align themselves with particular foods as a way of making claims about their identities Development and political and economic changes in the Caribbean bring new foods to the contemporary dinner table a phenomenon that may subsequently destabilize the foundations of culinary identities Food and Identity in the Caribbean reveals the ways in which some of the connections between food and identity persist against the odds whilst in other contexts new relationships between food and identity are forged
