phenomenology from the psychologism of the philosophy of arithmetic Edmund Husserl remained concerned with the ways in which phenomenology held important implications for a radical reform of psychology throughout his intellectual career The author fleshes out what such a radical reform actually entails and proposes that it can only be accomplished by following the trail of the transcendental reduction described in Husserl's later works In order to appreciate the need for the transcendental even for psychology the book tracks Husserl's thinking on the nature of this relationship between phenomenology as a philosophy and psychology as a positive science as it evolved over time The text covers Husserl's definition of phenomenology as descriptive psychology in the Logical Investigations rejecting the hybrid form of phenomenological psychology described in the lectures by that name and ends with his proposal for a fundamental refashioning of psychology by situating it within the transcendental framework of The Crisis of European Sciences and Transcendental Phenomenology The Author argues for a re-grounding of psychology by virtue of a return to positivity after having performed the reduction to transcendental intersubjectivity What results is a phenomenological approach to a transcendently grounded psychology which while having returned to the life world no longer remains transcendently naïve A phenomenologically grounded psychology thus empowers researchers clinicians and clients alike to engage in social actions that move the world closer to achieving social justice for all This text appeals to students and researchers working in phenomenology and psychology

The Maternal Experience Margo Lowy,2020-11-29 The Maternal Experience explores the powerful and dynamic nature of maternal ambivalence and disrupts the conventional narrative of the mother s lived experience by arguing that encounters with feelings of hatred are both universal and have the capacity to stimulate and enrich her maternal love The book draws on the author s personal mothering experiences those of other women and examples from film to inspire new introspection about the everyday maternal experience Lowy takes a psychosocial approach to weave thinking from selected psychoanalytic and contemporary accounts together with personal stories to explore how maternal ambivalence operates and how mothering is sourced in psychic struggles between loving and hating feelings in an atmosphere that is rife with social and personal expectations and prohibitions By reworking the experience of maternal ambivalence the book secures an understanding of the mother's feelings of hatred as a catalyst for her love and allows these maligned and taboo emotions to be named and reframed into acceptable and transformative feelings Brought alive by examples from film and first hand experience this book is fascinating reading for academics and students of psychology maternal and women's studies and sociology as well as practitioners in the fields of psychology social work medicine and counselling
