by language learners for over 85 years Everyday Malay Thomas Oey, Wendy Hutton, 1994 Malaysia Virginia Hooker, Norani Othman, 2003 This collection of essays has been prepared as a tribute to Clive S Kessler Professor of Sociology at the University of New South Wales for over twenty years and a member of staff of the London School of Economics and Political Science University of London and the Barnard College Columbia University New York Written by colleagues and graduate students the essays are divided into three sections Islam Society and Politics They focus on Professor Kessler's analyses of Malaysia Each essay draws on aspects of his published research taking his insights as points of departure for new studies Professor Kessler's ideas and observations are thus extended complemented and updated in ways which emphasize the depth and extent of his influence on contemporary research on Malaysia The Malays Anthony Milner, 2011-03-25 Just who are the Malays This provocative study poses the question and considers how and why the answers have changed over time and from one region to another Anthony Milner develops a sustained argument about ethnicity and identity in an historical Malay context The Malays is a comprehensive examination of the origins and development of Malay identity ethnicity and consciousness over the past five centuries Covers the political economic and cultural development of the Malays Explores the Malay presence in Brunei Singapore Indonesia Thailand Cambodia Sri Lanka and South Africa as well as the modern Malay show state of Malaysia Offers diplomatic speculation about ways Malay ethnicity will develop and be challenged in the future Everyday Malay Conversations. Revised 2nd Ed , 1967 Modern Malay Literary Culture Maimunah Mohd. Tahir (Ungku.), 1987 This study underlines the importance of the literary context and places it on par with structural literary analysis It traces the sociopolitical changes in Malaysia from the days of British colonialism with its restrictive Malay educational policy and the role played by Malay teachers and journalists to the present period The Malay Dilemma Revisited M. Bakri Musa, 1999-08-24 The Malay Dilemma Revisited is a critical and balanced analysis of Malaysia's preferential race policy and its impact on the nation's delicate race dynamics and economy Unlike America's affirmative action Malaysia's version is far more aggressive and pervasive and has been remarkably successful in creating a sizable and stable Bumiputra indigenous group middle class The price tag is significant distortion of freemarket dynamics and consequent inefficiency Perversely the policy impairs rather than strengthens Bumiputras ability to compete In contrast to quotas and other set aside programs that are the hallmark of the current policy the writer presents an alternative strategy aimed primarily at enhancing Bumiputra competitiveness The proposed approach would not negatively impact the economy nor interfere with the freemarket Equally important it would not arouse resentment from other Malaysians The first objective would be to modernize the nation's archaic educational system to emphasize English mathematics the sciences and technical training Secondly the influences of religious and royal institutions must be curtailed and the rates of urbanization and population growth reduced The primary objective is in enhancing competitiveness not on meeting arbitrarily picked numerical goals and targets Everyday Malay Conversations. Revised , 1966 Embodied Entanglements: Gender, Identity, and the Corporeal in Asia Zawiszová, Halina, Strafella, Giorgio, Lavička, Martin, Ideas on the human body gender and identity lie at the core of many socio political issues and cultural trends in Asia today while also inspiring innovative research on artistic expression from Asia's past. By focusing on socio political as well as cultural issues from diverse geographical and historical contexts this book highlights complex links and interactions that bind these three interpretative axes. How do bodies become conduits for the expression and negotiation of gender and other identities? What do the lived experiences of women and LGBTQ people in Asia reveal about biopolitics, normative expectations and value systems in different societies? How does art reflect the representation and fashioning of gendered bodies and ambiguous identities? Cutting across the quotidian and the avant garde, activism and art, violence and pleasure as well as the intimate and the political, this book sheds new light on Asian cultures and societies spanning India, Indonesia, Japan, mainland China, Taiwan and Thailand, affirming thus the region's significance in broader debates on biopolitics, gender and human dignity.

Facilitating Emotional Change: Use of Single-Subject Research Design for Evidence-Based Practice Mohamad Hashim Othman, Syed Mohamad Syed Abdullah, Yasmin Othman Mydin, Counselling intervention is a strategy and technique introduced by the counsellors to help the clients to deal with various issues and to move toward the goal. Recently, emotional and feeling issues are often faced by clients regardless of age, status, culture or religion. Various strategies and techniques have been implemented in counselling sessions to help improve the clients' orientation to the environment and to help them move into action. However, there is a new interest in the professional counselling community requiring counsellors to provide evidence of the effectiveness of interventions to clients, families and administrators. Information on the effectiveness of the intervention allows the clients, families and administrators to continue treatment with confidence and trust in the treatment the clients receive from the counsellors. For this purpose, the single subject research design (SSRD) approach is widely used in evidence-based practice in counselling and conducting research. SSRD has been described as any research involving one subject or one group that is treated as a single entity. The essence of single subject design is using repeated measurements to understand an individual's variability to determine what are the effects of the treatment. The SSRD approach can assist counsellors in preparing evidence-based practice and scientifically conducted reports on the effectiveness of interventions and determining which treatment procedures result in the most effective and efficient emotional change. This book discusses various cases of emotional issues and techniques carried out by counsellors in counselling sessions Details on the implementation of counselling strategies and techniques for each case are discussed in each chapter of this book Therefore this book is suitable for reference by undergraduate and postgraduate students in counselling psychology nursing social work pharmacy and other areas in the helping professions

Reading the Global Sanjay Krishnan, 2007 The global is an instituted perspective not just an empirical process Adopted initially by the British in order to make sense of their polyglot territorial empire the global perspective served to make heterogeneous spaces and nonwhite subjects legible and in effect produced the regions it sought merely to describe The global was the dominant perspective from which the world was produced for representation and control It also set the terms within which subjectivity and history came to be imagined by colonizers and modern anticolonial nationalists In this book Sanjay Krishnan demonstrates how ideas of the global took root in eighteenth and nineteenth century descriptions of Southeast Asia Krishnan turns to the works of Adam Smith Thomas De Quincey Abdullah bin Abdul Kadir and Joseph Conrad four authors who discuss the Malay Archipelago during the rise and consolidation of the British Empire These works offer some of the most explicit and sophisticated discussions of the world as a single interconnected entity inducting their readers into comprehensive and objective descriptions of the world The perspective organizing these authors conception of the global the frame or code through which the world came into view is indebted to the material and discursive possibilities set in motion by European conquest The global therefore is not just a peculiar mode of thematization it is aligned to a conception of historical development unique to European colonial capitalism Krishnan troubles this dominant perspective Drawing on the poststructuralist and postcolonial approaches of Jacques Derrida Michel Foucault and Gayatri Chakravorty Spivak and challenging the recent historiography of empire and economic histories of globalization he elaborates a bold new approach to the humanities in the age of globalization Building Cultural Nationalism in Malaysia Timothy P. Daniels, 2005 This text contains an examination of processes of cultural citizenship in peninsular Malaysia In particular it focuses upon the diverse residents of the southwestern state of Melaka and their negotiations of belonging and incorporation in Malaysian society Following political independence and the formation of the Federation of Malaysia in 1957 Malaysian citizenship was extended to most members of these diverse social identities In this post colonial context Timothy P Daniels examines how public celebrations and representations religious festivals and patterns of social relations are connected to processes of inclusion and exclusion Historical Dictionary of Malaysia Ooi Keat Gin, 2017-12-18 Malaysia is one of the most intriguing countries in Asia in many respects It consists of several distinct areas not only geographically but ethnically as well along with Malays and related groups the country has a very large Indian and Chinese population The spoken languages obviously vary at home although Bahasa Malaysia is the official language and nearly everyone speaks English There is also a mixture of religions with Islam predominating among the Malays and others Hinduism and Sikhism among the Indians mainly Daoism and Confucianism among the Chinese but also some Christians as well as older indigenous beliefs in certain places This second edition of Historical Dictionary of Malaysia contains a chronology an introduction appendixes and an extensive bibliography The dictionary section has over 500 cross referenced entries on important personalities politics economy foreign relations religion and culture This book is an excellent resource for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about Malaysia Overcoming Passion for Race in Malaysia Cultural Studies David C.L. Lim, 2008-06-30 Overcoming Passion examines the passion for race in contemporary Malaysia Broadly the essays look at the disjunction between the falsity of race as a scientific category and the entrenched belief that race determines one's rightful identity They probe the ways in which individual minds and institutions of power fail or refuse to recognise and act in accordance with the knowledge that race exists only insofar as its existence is sustained by the believer's belief in it The contributors draw from a burgeoning but under examined archive of Malaysia related social texts ranging from media and technological discourse popular culture and literary production to historical writings produced originally in English Malay and Mandarin Chinese

Ethnicization and Identity Construction in Malaysia Frederik Holst, 2012 This book is the first monograph to provide an in depth and multifaceted study of the processes of ethnicization and identity construction in Malaysia from the colonial period until the present In his analysis the author takes multiple layers of ethnicization into account and shows how these have shaped Malaysia's socio political system and society in different ways Moving beyond a center focused top down oriented perception of identity politics this work highlights on the one hand the role and position of a multitude of actors from grassroots level to mainstream politics who contribute to the persistence of ethnicization in Malaysia in numerous ways On the other hand it also shows where and under which circumstances possibilities for transethnic cooperation arise A multi disciplinary approach substantiated by empirical data based on qualitative and quantitative methodologies provides a perspective that moves beyond stereotypical narrations of Malaysia as being constituted by mainly three separate homogenous groups At the same time this book gives a detailed and comprehensive account of political and historical developments and constitutes a rich resource for any Malaysia related research While the focus of this publication lies on Malaysia the concept of manifestations and implementations of ethnicization provides an analytical framework that can also be applied in the study of ethnicization and identity construction elsewhere in the region and beyond
