Evolution Of Mind

Gary Hatfield, Holly Pittman

Evolution Of Mind:

The Evolution of Mind Denise D. Cummins, Colin Allen, 1998 Our understanding of the human mind has radically changed in recent years from the unified mind once envisioned by Rene Descartes over three hundred years ago to a new understanding of mind as a set of specialized cognitive components gradually accumulated in our evolutionary past As a result many scientists and philosophers now believe that our minds emerged out of the same type of evolutionary processes that have shaped our bodies In The Evolution of Mind outstanding figures on the cutting edge of evolutionary psychology follow clues provided by current neuroscientific evidence to illuminate many puzzling questions of human cognitive evolution With contributions from psychologists ethologists anthropologists and philosophers the book offers a broad range of approaches to explore the mysteries of the mind's evolution from investigating the biological functions of human cognition to drawing comparisons between human and animal cognitive abilities This interdisciplinary work presents a comparative and evolutionary perspective on a wide variety of topics including mental algorithms for reasoning about contingencies quantities social norms and the minds of others social play and communicative abilities thought and language and the role of Darwin's theory of natural selection in evolutionary psychology Written in a highly readable style The Evolution of Mind will appeal to a broad range of researchers and students and help set the agenda for the field for years to come

Evolution of Mind, Brain, and Culture Gary Hatfield, Holly Pittman, 2013-04-19 Evolution of Mind Brain and Culture draws together studies in archaeology anthropology psychology philosophy genetics neuroscience and environmental science to investigate the evolution of the human mind the brain and the human capacity for culture

Evolution in Mind Henry C. Plotkin, 1997 From the nature nurture question which has occupied philosophers and scientists for thousands of years to the most recent debates about how the mind is structured Plotkin looks at what it means to be human from an evolutionist's perspective

A Mind So Rare Merlin Donald, 2001 Donald psychology Queen's University Canada challenges the prevailing view that seeks to explain away human consciousness and presents a theory on the origins of the modern mind He describes the cultural and neuronal forces that power human modes of awareness and proposes that the human mind is a hybrid product of the interweaving of the brain with an invisible symbolic web of culture to form a distributed cognitive network Using evidence from brain and behavioral studies of humans and animals he explains how an expansion of consciousness transcends the limitations of the mammalian mind and elaborates the foundations of self evaluation and self reflection c Book News Inc

The Long Evolution of Brains and Minds Gerhard Roth,2013-06-03 The main topic of the book is a reconstruction of the evolution of nervous systems and brains as well as of mental cognitive abilities in short intelligence from simplest organisms to humans It investigates to which extent the two are correlated One central topic is the alleged uniqueness of the human brain and human intelligence and mind It is discussed which neural features make certain animals and humans intelligent and creative Is it absolute or relative brain size or the size of intelligence centers inside the brains the number of nerve cells inside the brain in total or in such intelligence centers decisive for the degree of intelligence of mind and eventually consciousness And which are the driving forces behind these processes Finally it is asked what all this means for the classical problem of mind brain relationship and for a naturalistic theory of mind

The Evolution of Mind Joseph McCabe,2016-06-15 In this fluently at times brilliantly written essay Mr McCabe seeks to solve the cosmic problem of the birth and development of mind It is usual he tells us to postulate two evolutionary series the material where all varieties of energy and matter arise out of the abysmal womb of ether and the mental which set in when the earth reached a certain stage of its development Is this dualism tenable When and in what form did consciousness first appear Can mind be brought into the cosmic unity by tracing its gradual emergence from the etheric matrix These are the questions which the present work essays to answer All living matter whether plant or animal shows when it has freedom of movement two properties which we may if we will term mental or psychical namely sensitiveness or irritability or responsiveness to stimulation and spontaneous or self initiated movement But sensitiveness is also a widespread attribute of inorganic matter and spontaneous movement always turns out on careful scrutiny to be a response to environmental stimuli Here therefore is no evidence of consciousness if we speak of mind at all we are stripping the word of the distinctive significance that it has in our own experience What we are looking for is proof of consciousness But what then the reader may ask is consciousness I make no attempt to define consciousness replies our author partly because it defines itself more clearly than words can do partly because all attempts to define it have proved abortive Nevertheless he knows very well what he is in search of The question to be answered is not can we find any actions in a lower animal which are consistent with a theory of consciousness but can we find any which are inconsistent with a purely neural action The question of consciousness does not arise till then What I am chiefly seeking to determine is whether a new reality or agency besides ether intervenes at some point in the earth s story The plain purpose I have in view is to see whether and when a new reality other than ether and its products or aspects enters into the tissue of our planetary life And so he works up the scale of organic evolution and reaches one negative conclusion after another There is no proof that consciousness had appeared before the Devonian period or has since developed in any of the modern representatives of Pre Devonian animals We have no clear or cogent indication of conscious states in the whole invertebrate world or in any type of animal that lived before the Permian revolution in the earth s history We have not found a single pre Tertiary animal whose activities cannot be explained without an assumption of consciousness The whole history so far is a history of the progress of mechanism The American Journal of Psychology Vol 22

The Evolution of Mind Joseph McCabe,1910 The Descent of Mind Michael C. Corballis,S. E. G. Lea,1999 To most people it seems obvious that there are major mental differences between ourselves and other species but there is considerable debate over exactly how special our minds are in what respects and which were the critical evolutionary events that have shaped us Some researchers claim language as a solely human even defining attribute while others claim that only humans are truly conscious These questions have been explored mainly by archaeologists and anthropologists until recently but this volume aims to show what psychologists have to say on the evolution of mind The book begins with a thorough overview of what is known of the non primate mind and its evolution Following this an international range of experts discuss in temporal sequence the human mind at various stages of evolution beginning with the pre hominids of 20 million years ago and ending with contemporary human behaviour Accessible to students and researchers alike in psychology anthropology evolution archaeology and ethology The Descent of Mind provides a range of provocative answers to the timeless question of what it means to be human

The Evolution of Man and His Mind Shobal Vail Clevenger,1903 From Bacteria to Bach and Back: The Evolution of Minds Daniel C. Dennett,2017-02-07 A supremely enjoyable intoxicating work Nature How did we come to have minds For centuries poets philosophers psychologists and physicists have wondered how the human mind developed its unrivaled abilities Disciples of Darwin have explained how natural selection produced plants but what about the human mind In From Bacteria to Bach and Back Daniel C Dennett builds on recent discoveries from biology and computer science to show step by step how a comprehending mind could in fact have arisen from a mindless process of natural selection A crucial shift occurred when humans developed the ability to share memes or ways of doing things not based in genetic instinct Competition among memes produced thinking tools powerful enough that our minds don t just perceive and react they create and comprehend An agenda setting book for a new generation of philosophers and scientists From Bacteria to Bach and Back will delight and entertain all those curious about how the mind works Evolution, Culture, and the Human Mind Mark Schaller, Ara Norenzayan, Steven J. Heine, Toshio Yamagishi, Tatsuya Kameda, 2011-03-17 Evolution Culture and the Human Mind is the first scholarly book to integrate evolutionary and cultural perspectives on human psychology The contributors include world renowned evolutionary cultural social and cognitive psychologists These chapters reveal many novel insights linking human evolution to both human cognition and human culture including the evolutionary origins of cross cultural differences Origins of the Modern Mind Merlin Donald, 1993-03-15 This bold and brilliant book asks the ultimate question of the life sciences How did the human mind acquire its incomparable power In seeking the answer Donald traces the evolution of human culture and cognition from primitive apes to A I presenting an enterprising and original theory of how the human mind evolved from its presymbolic form The Lopsided Ape Michael C. Corballis, 1993-06-10 How great is the evolutionary distance between humans and apes and what is it that creates that gulf Philosophers and scientists have debated the question for centuries but Michael Corballis finds the mystery revealed in our right hands For humans are the only primates who are predominantly right handed a sign of the specialization of the left hemisphere of the brain for language And that specialization he tells us makes a massive distance indeed as he describes what exactly it means to be the lopsided ape In The Lopsided Ape Corballis takes us on a fascinating tour of the origins and implications of the specialization of the two halves of the brain known as laterality in human evolution He begins by surveying current views of evolution ranging from the molecular level the role of viruses for instance in transporting genes between species to the tremendous implications of such physical changes as walking on two feet Walking upright freed our ancestors arms for such things as tool making and gesturing a critical part of early language Corballis argues that the evolution of the brain and language was intimately tied up with these changes The proliferation of objects made by early hominids in an increasingly artificial environment marked by social cooperation demanded greater flexibility in communication and even in thinking itself These evolutionary pressures spurred the development of laterality in the brain He goes on to look at the structure of language following the work of Noam Chomsky and others showing how grammar allows us to create an infinite variety of messages In examining communication between animals and attempts to teach apes and dolphins language he demonstrates that only humans have this unlimited ability for expression an ability that he traces back through hominid evolution After this engrossing account of what we know about evolution language and the human brain Corballis suggests that the left hemisphere has evolved a Generative Assembling Device a biological mechanism that allows us to manipulate open ended forms of representation and provides the basis for mathematics reasoning music art and play as well as language and manufacture It is this device he writes that truly sets us off from the apes Both a detailed account of human language and evolution and a convincing argument for a new view of the brain The Lopsided Ape provides fascinating insight into our origins and the nature of human thought itself Phreno-physiology James Stanley Grimes, 1893 The Lives of the Brain John S. Allen, 2010-02-15 Though we have other distinguishing characteristics bipedalism relative hairlessness etc the brain and the behavior it produces are what truly set us apart from the other apes and primates How this three pound organ composed of water fat and protein turned a mammal species into the dominant animal on earth is the story Allen tells

Picturing the Mind Simona Ginsburg, Eva Jablonka, 2022-02-01 Consciousness in all its possible human and nonhuman varieties explored through words and images What is consciousness and who or what is conscious humans nonhumans nonliving beings How did consciousness evolve Picturing the Mind pursues these questions through a series of vistas short engaging texts by Simona Ginsburg and Eva Jablonka accompanied by Anna Zeligowski's lively illustrations Taking an evolutionary perspective Ginsburg and Jablonka suggest that consciousness can take many forms and is found not only in humans but even in such animals as octopuses who seem to express emotions by changing color and bees who socialize with other bees They identify the possible evolutionary marker of the transition from nonconscious to conscious animals and they speculate intriguingly about aliens and artificial intelligence Each picture and text serves as a starting point for discussion The authors consider among other things what it's like to be a bat and then later what it's like to be a bat in virtual reality ask if the self is like a hole in a doughnut report that women children and nonwhite men were once thought by white men to be less richly conscious and explore what sets humans apart is it music toolmaking cooperative parenting blushing sentience symbolic language In Picturing the Mind questions suggest answers

The Biased Mind Jérôme Boutang, Michel De Lara, 2015-09-15 Using a wealth of anecdotes data from academic literature and original research this very accessible little book highlights how we all struggle to cope with the maelstrom of choices influences and experiences that come our way The authors have slogged through piles of dry research papers to provide many wonderful nuggets of information and surprising insights For example Why is an upside down red triangle such a powerful warning sign on the road What is the best kind of alibi What makes the number 7 so special Why is it better to whisper words of love into the left ear Will that recent marriage last Why is it that the French eat snails but not slugs The reader will discover the amazing tools and shortcuts that millennia of evolution have built into our brains And this knowledge is power Knowing more about how the human mind connects the dots helps us understand why decision making is so tricky With insights from evolutionary psychology we become better equipped to understand ourselves and others and to interact and communicate more effectively
