Evolution Of Regional Economies:

Understanding the Evolution of Regional Economic Development and Tourism Efficiency in China Tsung Pao Wu, 2024-07-16 This insightful volume delves into the intricate relationship between economic growth and tourism effectiveness in China's diverse regions. With a focus on practical insights and accessible language, this book is essential reading for policymakers, economists, and tourism professionals seeking to understand the dynamics of regional development. By emphasizing China's unique experiences, the text offers valuable lessons applicable to regions worldwide. Engaging and concise, it navigates complex concepts with clarity, making it accessible to a global audience. Highlighting key trends and emerging theories, this work serves as a vital resource for anyone interested in the intersection of economic development and tourism efficiency.

Transitions in Regional Economic Development Ivan Turok, David Bailey, Jennifer Clark, Jun Du, Ugo Fratesi, Michael Fritsch, John Harrison, Tom Kemeny, Dieter Kogler, Arnoud Lagendijk, Tomasz Mickiewicz, Ernest Miguelez, Stefano Usai, Fiona Wishlade, 2018-10-18 At a time of extraordinary challenges confronting the world, this book analyses some of the profound changes occurring in the development of cities and regions. It discusses the uncertainties associated with the stalling of hyper globalization and asks whether this creates opportunities for resurgent regional economies driven by local capabilities, resource efficiencies, and domestic production. Theory and evidence on socio-economic and environmental transitions underway in many regions are brought together. Implications of the shifting balance of global power towards emerging economies in the East are explored, along with the consequences of urbanization in the global South for politics and democracy. Dilemmas surrounding migration are also discussed, including whether incomers displace local workers and depress wages, or bring benefits in the form of know-how, new technology, and investment. More integrative concepts of the region and theories of regional development are analysed, recognising the role of human capital, knowledge, innovation, finance, infrastructure, and institutions. This was originally published as a special issue of Regional Studies.

The Regional World Michael Storper, 1997-10-31 This pioneering volume proposes a compelling new theory of how regions have sustained their economic viability in the era of multinational corporations. Unlike traditional approaches which analyze economic systems in terms of their mechanics, inputs, outputs, prices, technology, etc., this work views them as systems for coordinating human actions and relationships. Reconceptualizing the role of learning, technology, and local institutions in development, Storper illuminates the key role of regional economies as building blocks of the increasingly connected world. A thought-provoking and timely work, The Regional World carries resounding implications for educators, students, and policymakers in economic geography, economic sociology, and international business. It is an essential primary or supplementary text for graduate-level courses on economic regional or industrial development and policy, and international business.

Regional Economic Development and History Marijn Molema, Sara Svensson, 2019-10-17 Regional Studies is inextricably intertwined with history. Cultural and institutional legacies inform choices between different policy options.

fields as diverse as business management industrial relations economic geography sociology and planning the regional scale has emerged as an organizing concept for interpretations of economic change This book is both a critique of the new regionalism and a return to the regional question including all of its concerns with equity and uneven development It will challenge researchers and students to consider the region as a central scale of action in the global economy and at the core of the book are case studies of two industries that rely on skilled innovative and flexible workers the optics and imaging industry and the film and television industry Combined with this is a discussion of the regions that constitute their production centers The authors intensive research on photonics and entertainment media firms both large and small leads them to question some basic assumptions behind the new regionalism and to develop an alternative framework for understanding regional economic development policy Finally there is a re examination of what the regional question means for the concept of the learning region This book draws on the rich contemporary literature on the region but also addresses theoretical questions that preceded the new regionalism It will contribute to teaching and research in a range of social science disciplines and this new paperback edition will also make the book more accessible to students and researchers in those disciplines those individuals who will influence the re structuring economies of the 21st century Contemporary South Africa and the Political Economy of Regional Development Methembe Mdlalose, Isaac Khambule, Nene Ernest

Khalema, 2025-02-21 South Africa's struggle in balancing its domestic needs while playing a dynamic developmental role in the African region and global context exposes a complex web of relations shaped by its geostrategic location on the continent and the world and the staggering legacies of colonialism and apartheid As such understanding the complexities of the global economy and of South Africa's place in it is of great importance This book builds upon an existing body of literature which has demonstrated that while the post apartheid South African state has recast its nation building goals with advances having been made notably in the area of a stellar post apartheid constitution policy directives and democratic political integration economic integration and policy implementation presents a projection of captured interests where big business concerns are entrenched in the post apartheid state's apparent neo liberal turn The main focus of the book is to contextualise issues relating to three main trends in global discourses on development which are significant for South Africa and indeed for the study of the political economy of regional development in the country from the prism of South Africa as a global capitalist state These trends include the impact of globalisation regionalisation and the marginalisation of South Africa and indeed the African continent in the global economy thus unpacking the possible role that South Africa might play in regional development This volume will be a valuable resource to academics researchers and students in the fields of regional studies economics and political theory as well as policymakers planners and local economic development practitioners Path Dependence and Regional Economic Renewal Arne Isaksen, Stig-Erik Jakobsen, 2018-12-07 This book investigates the mechanisms that may stimulate or hamper the renewal of the regional industry structure Recent years have witnessed a strong interest in and need for the modernization and upgrading of existing industries and the introduction of new industries Informed by the evolutionary perspective this book argues that innovations within existing industry paths and the creation of new industries are strongly rooted in the established economic practice Historically developed skills existing industrial structure and regional and extra regional networks form the basis for future regional growth This volume consists of 11 chapters studying different aspects of regional industrial path development illustrated with cases from Norway Sweden and Spain The book also look into the role of policy for regional economic renewal and argues that economic renewal is fostered by policies that incorporate both actor based and system based elements Such policy mix will provide a vital push towards renewal and new path development The chapters were originally published as a special issue in European Planning Studies

Regional Economic Development B. P. S. Bhadouria,1986 Regional Economies in a Globalising World John Osmond,2009 In this book economists and economic geographers working in contrasting regions reflect on new approaches to economic development in the context of globalisation What lessons can Wales learn The Impact of Global Industrial Manufacturing and the Development Strategy of New Energy and New Technologies under the Action of Carbon Reduction Wen-Tsao Pan,Keping Yu,Yiwen Zhang,Weilin Xiao,Chi Lau,Shan Shan,2024-01-26 In the context of the climate crisis governments reached a consensus on promoting enterprises and organizations to take relevant carbon reduction actions in the United Nations Climate Change Conference COP 26 held in Glasgow on November 1 2021 The topic of carbon reduction will continue to be discussed at the 27th Conference of the Parties COP27 of the United Nations Climate Change Conference in 2022 The international community expects all parties to truly implement their commitments to reduce emissions and take joint actions to effectively address the crises and challenges brought about by climate change Carbon dioxide will lead to the global average temperature warming year by year The use of coal oil and natural gas and the emission of exhaust gas are the main driving factors of global warming In addition the causes of global warming also include the reduction of plants due to deforestation Regional Economics Roberta Capello,2014-05-01 The book is a textbook in regional economics for undergraduate and graduate students A vast amount of theories and models have been developed since the official recognition of regional economics as a distinct branch of economics In particular this book focuses on logical and theoretical linkages between different theories and models both macro and microeconomic neoclassical and Keynesian The evolution of theoretical approaches in regional economics is dealt in the book through the evolution of the concept of space from physical space which characterizes location theory to uniform space typical of neoclassical and Keynesian approaches to diversified relational space embedded in local districts and milieu approaches as well as in the theory of learning regions to diversified stylised space as exemplified by the new economic geography and dynamic neoclassical approaches Local and Regional Development Andy Pike,Andrés Rodríguez-Pose,John Tomaney,2016-07-15 Actors and institutions in localities and regions across the world are seeking prosperity and well being amidst tumultuous and disruptive shifts and transitions generated by an increasingly globalised knowledge intensive capitalism global financial instability volatility and crisis concerns about economic social and ecological sustainability climate change and resource shortages new multi actor and multi level systems of government and governance and a re ordering of the international political economy state austerity and retrenchment and new and reformed approaches to intervention policy and institutions for local and regional development Local and Regional Development provides an accessible critical and integrated examination of local and regional development theory institutions and policy in this changing context Amidst its rising importance the book addresses the fundamental issues of what kind of local and regional development and for whom its purposes principles and values frameworks of understanding approaches and interventions and integrated approaches to local and regional development throughout the world The approach provides a theoretically informed critical analysis of contemporary local and regional development in an international and multi disciplinary context grounded in concrete empirical analysis from experiences in the global North and South It concludes by identifying what might constitute holistic inclusive progressive and sustainable local and regional development and reflecting upon its limits and political renewal
