

Discover the major milestones and key adaptations that have shaped the course of human evolution. The following graphic illustrates how humans have emerged from 4 billion years of change.

- Gain of function/body part
- Loss of function/body part

Other hypotheses suggest humans may become taller, more lightly built, and less aggressive with smaller brains.

Origin And Evolution Of The Cell, The - Proceedings Of The Conference On The Origin And Evolution Of Prokaryotic And Eukaryotic Cells K Matsuno, Hyman Hartman, 1993-02-13 This volume examines the origin of eukaryotic cells both phylogenetically and morphogenetically The evolutionary relationship between prokaryotic and eukaryotic organizations is emphasized The difference of inferences from ribosomal RNA and protein phylogenetic trees suggests a new possibility of synthesizing an evolutionary origin of eukaryotic cells as integrating morphogenetic contributions

The Ecology and Evolution of Heliconius Butterflies Chris D. Jiggins, 2017-01-27 The Heliconius butterflies are one of the classic systems in evolutionary biology and have contributed hugely to our understanding of evolution over the last 150 years Their dramatic radiation and remarkable mimicry has fascinated biologists since the days of Bates Wallace and Darwin The Ecology and Evolution of Heliconius Butterflies is the first thorough and accessible treatment of the ecology genetics and behaviour of these butterflies exploring how they offer remarkable insights into tropical biodiversity The book starts by outlining some of the evolutionary questions that Heliconius research has helped to address then moves on to an overview of the butterflies themselves and their ecology and behaviour before focussing on wing pattern evolution and finally speciation Richly illustrated with 32 colour plates this book makes the extensive scientific literature on Heliconius butterflies accessible to a wide audience of professional ecologists evolutionary biologists entomologists and amateur collectors

Evolution's Destiny R J P Williams, Ros Rickaby, 2012-08-31 This book is written as an addition to Darwin's work and that of molecular biologists on evolution so as to include views of it from the point of view of chemistry rather than just from our knowledge of the biology and genes of organisms By concentrating on a wide range of chemical elements not just those in traditional organic compounds we show that there is a close relationship between the geological or environmental chemical changes from the formation of Earth and those of organisms from the time of their origin These are considerations which Darwin or other scientists could not have explored until very recent times since sufficient analytical data were not available They lead us to suggest that there is a combined geo and bio chemical evolution that of an ecosystem which has had a systematic chemical development In this development the arrival of new very similar species is shown to be by random Darwinian competitive selection processes such that a huge variety of species coexist with only minor differences in chemistry and advantages This is in agreement with previous studies On the large scale of evolution of very different organisms and over greater timescales by way of contrast we observe that groups of species have special different chemical features and function It is more difficult to understand how they evolved and therefore we examine their chemical development in detail Overall there is a cooperative evolution of a chemical system driven by capture of energy mainly from the sun and its degradation in which the chemistry of both the environment and organisms are facilitating intermediates We shall suggest that the overall drive of the whole joint system is to optimise the rate of this energy degradation Since the environmental changes are inorganic and relatively fast they move inevitably to equilibrium The living part of the system the organisms under the influence of this inevitable environmental change are forced to follow but as they are increasingly energised and their reactions are slow they move further away from equilibrium We are able to explore the ways in which this chemical system evolved recognising that as complexity of the chemistry of organisms increased they had to be formed from more and more compartments and to become part of a chemically cooperative overall activity They could not remain as isolated species Only in the last chapter do we attempt to make a connection between the changing chemistry of organisms with the coded molecules of each cell which have to exist to explain reproduction

God and the History of the Universe Jarvis Streeter, 2016-03-22

The popular belief that a scientific understanding of reality is incompatible with a Christian one is simply wrong Some Christian understandings of reality do conflict with some scientific understandings But a thoroughly rational Christian understanding of the origin and history of the universe will be informed by the best scientific theories and the facts founded on them This book weaves a narrative of the origin and history of the universe from the perspective of contemporary science with a Christian understanding of God and of God's role in the origin and history of the universe At the center of this integrated narrative is the view that God who is pure unbounded Love is Creator the zest for life in the universe comes from God and God is the source of Truth Beauty and Goodness in the universe God is amazed and delighted at what God and the world has created God is saddened by ways creatures have fallen short of pure unbounded Love Truth Beauty and Goodness and God's pure unbounded Love keeps on trying to persuade all creatures toward Truth Beauty and Goodness
