Evolving Pacific Basin Strategies Dora Alves,1990 EVOLVING PACIFIC BASIN STRATEGIES - THE 1989 PACIFIC SYMPOSIUM. National Defense University Press,1990 Evolving Pacific Basin Strategies National Defense University,Dora Alves,2002-12-01 The importance of the Asia Pacific region is growing The region has the commodities and resources the modern world needs and its people have a demonstrated capacity to generate and accommodate to change Witness for example the economic miracles of South Korea and Taiwan or the rise of Asian creditor nations such as Japan which in this era of global financial interdependence will surely influence the newly industrializing countries The stability we all seek for this region depends on the maintenance of an open trading system and secure sea lines of communication Recently the pace of change in the Pacific has quickened influenced by economic diplomatic and military forces outside the region The Cambodia situation is unsettled and the future postures of India Japan and China continue to be matters for speculation Against a background of ethnic cultural and religious diversity in this vast area the clash of economic interests has become sharper Within the region fast growing economies and new weapon technologies have created more capable armed forces Though many Pacific governments desire the continued presence of the United States the passing of the baton to a new generation of Pacific leaders and the swelling tides of nationalism have complicated the traditional American role The United States and many of its Pacific friends are examining new sensitive Asia Pacific partnerships that further stability and development This anthology presents an array of evolving perspectives for the 1990s and beyond Pacific specialists policymakers and others taken with this dynamic region will find much to consider among these wide ranging essays J A Baldwin Vice Admiral United States Navy President National Defense University Evolving Pacific Basin Strategies Pacific Symposium (1989),1990 Evolving Pacific Basin Strategies Gordon Press Publishers,1995-07 The Chinese and Their Future Zhiling Lin,1994 Policy analysts and scholars in China Taiwan Hong Kong and the United States discuss the major issues arising in the aftermath of the explosive events in China in 1989 Contributors include Arthur Hummel the former U S ambassador to the People s Republic of China and Ding Mou Shih the representative of the Coordination Council for North American Affairs to the United States Books from National Defense University Press National Defense University Press, The U.S., Japan, and Asia Frances Scott,1993 Understanding the Evolving U.S. Role in Pacific Rim Security John Y. Schrader,James A. Winnefeld,1992 The Future of the US-Republic of Korea Military Relationship Kim Jung-Ik,2016-07-27 As the international security situation has changed after the collapse of the Soviet Union the book examines the implication of the new security environment to the security of South Korea and how the strategic and military relations with the United States will develop In the new era the lack of common interests has made the mutual defence sceptical This book suggests that South Korea should eventually develop a long term strategy with a goal of self reliance

Pacific Island Nations Luella Sue Christopher,1990 State ,1989 U.S. Strategic Alternatives in a Changing

Pacific Jonathan D. Pollack, James A. Winnefeld, 1990 This report summarizes a review of U S strategic planning issues in the Pacific basin The authors use an approach that emphasizes 1 preemptively defusing potential shocks that could upset what would otherwise be positive trends 2 maintaining regional stability thereby making it unnecessary for Japan China Korea or any other state to appreciably expand its military capabilities and to set off a destabilizing regional arms competition 3 increasing the efficiency with which the United States pursues presence and power projection roles 4 encouraging regional aspirations by reducing direct U S oversight of regional security and reducing troublesome forms of presence and 5 improving the coordination of the political economic and military dimensions of national security policy The authors conclude that the United States will continue to play a critical regional security role in the future albeit a changing one instead of containment the United States will focus more on maintaining its presence and stability in the region

Changing Pacific Forests John Dargavel, Richard P. Tucker, 1992 Changing Pacific Forests examines the forest related economy of the Pacific Basin including Japan Malaysia New Zealand China and the Philippines from a historical perspective Drawing on a 1991 conference sponsored by the Forest History Society and the International Union of Forestry Research Organizations held in Honolulu these papers address a range of topics related to the changing Pacific forests including the remnants of colonialism the emergence of the Third World people and resources caught in the middle of policy decisions land management national forests and subsistence use of the forest by indigenous peoples Essays also explore macroeconomic theories of international trade and the interests of the United States and the former Soviet Union in the economic health of the region Changing Pacific Forests will be of interest to scholars of the economy and environment of the Pacific Basin as well as of land management and the history of land use in general Contributors Charles S Backman Thomas R Cox John Dargavel Elizabeth Flint Lim Hin Fui G R Henning Kenneth E Jackson Hiroaki Kakizawa Nicholas K Menzies Andrew Price John F Richards Jr M M Roche I Gustin M Tantra Conrad Totman Richard P Tucker Thomas R Waggener

Authoritarian Populism in Malaysia A. Munro-Kua, 1996-11-13 Socio economic and political issues are dealt with selectively within a chronological historical framework covering the dramatic colonial impact of 1940 60 until the present day The state is examined from the point of view of social class as well as communalism to explain the dominance of the ruling coalition over the 37 years since independence The author argues that authoritarian populism is the concept that best fits the apparent paradox of an enduring regime via the ballot box and the extensive restrictions on the scope of democracy particularly through the repressive apparatus of detention without trial The underlying theme is a critique and explanation of Malaysia s human rights record

Shaping China's Future In World Affairs Robert G Sutter, 2019-06-26 This book considers Chinese foreign policy and China s future role in world affairs in the context of the country s recent past Robert Sutter shows that although it appears to be in U S interests for post Mao leaders to continue moving toward international norms a post Deng leadership backed by growing economic and military power and reflecting profound changes in China s economy and society could move in markedly different directions Most foreign powers appear willing to accommodate China avoiding actions that could prompt a sharp shift in Chinese foreign policy but Sutter argues that current U S policy intrudes on so many issues that are particularly sensitive for Beijing and for China s future that it represents perhaps the most critical variable determining how China will position itself in world affairs Concluding that there is no guarantee the United States will use this influence wisely Sutter examines the uncertainty and unpredictability of U S foreign policy in the post Cold War environment that work against the creation of an effective U S policy toward China
