

A close-up photograph of a young man and woman. The man, on the left, has dark, wavy hair and light blue eyes, looking directly at the camera with a serious expression. The woman, on the right, has long, wavy blonde hair and blue eyes, looking slightly away from the camera with a somber expression. They are both wearing casual clothing; the man in a grey t-shirt and the woman in a pinkish-brown sweater. The background is a soft, out-of-focus grey.

Ex-centric Writing Annalisa Pes, Susanna Zinato, 2014-10-16. The concern with identity and belonging with place displacement is a major feature of postcolonial literature and the theme of alienation cannot but be topical in the literatures of the countries that have experienced the cultural shock and bereavement and the physical and psychic trauma of colonial invasion. The purpose of this volume is to qualify the difference one is faced with when a postcolonial ex-centric text is addressed by collecting essays concerned with writers from Southern Africa the Caribbean Australia the Indian subcontinent and Asian diaspora's. While giving contextual specifics their due it shows how the theme of alienation when perceived through the anamorphic lens of madness is magnified and charged with an excruciatingly questioning and destabilizing power laying bare political as well as existential and moral urges. From the ex-centric broadly exilic position it is the ideology and practice of colonialism that demand to be rubricated as psychopathology. More broadly as these essays highlight in fiction the mad character's ex-centric vision is a continuous warning against the temptation to believe in those discourses that pass themselves off as reflecting the given natural order of things.

Evaluation of Novel Approaches to Software Engineering Leszek Maciaszek, César González-Pérez, Stefan Jablonski, 2010-10-06 Software engineering is understood as a broad term linking science traditional engineering art and management and is additionally conditioned by social and external factors conditioned to the point that brilliant engineering solutions based on strong science showing artistic creativity and skillfully managed can still fail for reasons beyond the control of the development team Modern software engineering needs a paradigm shift commensurate with a change of the computing paradigm from 1 Algorithms to interactions and from procedural to object oriented programming 2 Systems development to systems integration 3 Products to services Traditional software engineering struggles to address this paradigm shift to interactions integration and services It offers only incomplete and disconnected methods for building information systems with fragmentary ability to dynamically accommodate change and to grow gracefully The principal objective of contemporary software engineering should therefore be to try to redefine the entire discipline and offer a complete set of methods tools and techniques to address challenges ahead that will shape the information systems of the future
